The Young Man Was Aroused at the Suggestion of Previous Engagements.
He told the shop assistant that he wanted to purchase something that would be a suitable present for a young lady, says "Tit-Bits."
The clerk brought out albums, books, gold pens and pencils and card cases, but nothing seemed to suit. As the last resort he showed the young man an engagement calendar—a beautiful little tablet on which to record the engagements for each day of the week.
"Quite the fad now," he explained, as he displayed the calendar. "All the young ladies feel the need of them, especially during the season."
"What is it?" asked the young man.
"An engagement calendar," replied the shop assistant. "She'll find it invaluable."
"You think she would like one?" asked the young man, with forced calmness.
"I'm sure she would, if she hasn't one already," said the assistant.
"Well, I want to say to you that she wouldn't," exclaimed the young man, losing control of his temper. "I know her and you don't, and I want you to understand, sir, that she has no use for any such calendar. She doesn't have to keep any record of her engagements. This is the only time that she has ever been engaged, and any man who says that she will ever be engaged to anyone else or that she has to put it down on a tablet to remember has got to fight. That's all there is to that."
He had left the shop before the assistant had sufficiently recovered from his surprise to explain.

NOTICE.

STATE OF OREGON.
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
Salem, Nov. 21, 1899.
In accordance with the provisions of an Act entitled "An Act Submitting to the Electors of the State of Oregon the general Election to be held on the first Monday in June, 1900, the pending Proposed Constitutional Amendments, approved February 18, 1899, I, T. T. Geer, Governor of the State of Oregon, do hereby cause the following proposed amendments to be printed in the official publication of the State of Oregon, as returned to by the Secretary of State, to be published for five consecutive weeks in THE DALLIES CHRONICLE, a newspaper published in the seventh Judicial District of the State of Oregon.
Done at the Capitol, at Salem, Oregon, this 21st day of November, A. D. 1899.
T. T. GEER, Governor.
By the Governor:
F. I. DUNBAR, Secretary of State.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION, NO. 4.
Be it resolved by the Senate, the House concurring: That the following amendment to the Constitution of the State of Oregon be and is hereby proposed:
That section 10 of Article XI of the Constitution of the State of Oregon be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:
SECTION 10. No county, city, town, school district or other municipal corporation shall be allowed to become indebted in any manner or for any purpose to an amount exceeding present existing indebtedness in the aggregate exceeding five per centum on the value of the taxable property therein to be ascertained by the last assessment for State and county taxes previous to the incurrence of such indebtedness.
Adopted by the Senate January 30, 1893.
C. W. FULTON, President of the Senate.

HOW TO HAVE A PICNIC.

Those Who Follow This Advice Will Be Sure to Enjoy the Occasion.
Before many weeks we will wake up some fine morning to find out that the leaves on the trees have begun to bluish with pride just before their fall and that summer has gone. Then we will hear from all sides: "Oh, why didn't I do this or that? I intended to all summer—but didn't get around to it, and now it is too late!" says the Detroit Free Press.
One of the things to be deplored will be that more time was not spent in the open air—at the parks, on the river and at near-by country places. It is so easy to set out the summer doing nothing. But it is a bad habit, for when winter comes again it seems like an old story and isn't half so welcome as if the summer had been spent in complete change. This is genuine old-fashioned picnic season, and the picnic ought not to be despised. Nothing is so delightfully unconventional; and relaxation, of course, is the basis of rest.
But it is a great mistake to think that a picnic is not a success unless the entire party is roused out of bed at sunrise and the lunch big enough to feed a regiment. Quantity there must be, of course, for everybody expects to eat too much, but more than anything else, have the lunch a dainty one. One doesn't mind a grasshopper or two in the lemonade or a family remonch of ants on the cake—but if the sandwiches are thick and the cake is dry and other things are in the same black list not even a picnic appetite will be satisfied.

POOR PAY OF MODELS.

A Calling That Is Full of Hardship and Makes But Small Return.
The amount of stuff that is written, and presumably read, about models nowadays leads one to suppose that the life of those men and women is very pleasant and delectable. Like most figures of "realistic" fiction, says the Philadelphia Press, this one is not quite real. One of the few good models of Philadelphia said the other day: "For class work I get four dollars a week and work as many hours a day, going on the stand at 8:45 and posing until 12:45, with a rest of ten minutes in every 60. The 'head' model has to do just as much posing of the body as any other, and gets less money. However, it's one of the few lines of business where women do better than men. The latter don't seem to have the required bodily endurance. Put yourself in the most comfortable position and try to remain so, unmoved, for five minutes, and you'll understand something of what I have to go through for ten times that long without a break. For that reason most models prefer to pose for male classes. Men always have more consideration. A woman painter will make you stand till her own hand is tired with the brush. Yet in the studio of the most considerate one must undergo torture. There is a lot of pity given to factory girls, of which a little might be extended to us, for the fact is that there is no business in which a woman can engage where she will suffer so much fatigue and get so little remuneration as that of an artist's model."
