WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

J. C. Baldwin has been confined to his home by sickness for the past few days.

A. M. Williams & Co. will sell $1.25 and $1.50 kid gloves at 69 cents next Thursday.

The annual election of officers will take place at Wasco lodge, A. F. & A. M., tonight.

The facts are, prices are selling our big line of holiday goods for us. Jacobsen Book & Music Co.

Kid gloves make useful Xmas gifts. $1.50 gloves only 69 cts. at A. M. Williams & Co.'s next Thursday.

Winter finds what summer conceals—a larger line of holiday goods than ever at the Jacobsen Book & Music Co.

It looks as if Christmas trees might be more numerous this year from the number which have been brought in today.

The latest postoffice heard from is that in the Wamic district called Smock. Had the o been an a, they might be charged with playing "postoffice."

For all kinds of the best home made candy call at the candy kitchen on the north side of Second street, between Court and Union. Retail and wholesale prices. 15-1w

The new weather man, whose name is now to be a "household word" and public property for newspaper comment, must be a "warm number," for he launches forth today with a prediction of "fair and warmer" when it never felt more like "colder and skating" than this afternoon.

Wong Quong, whose case has been mentioned in connection with the bank robbery here nine years ago, and who has been tried in Walla Walla for grand larceny, was found guilty of that charge on Saturday, so that he will at least suffer for a minor offense, whether Wasco county prosecutes or not.

We are much pleased to see that the High School alumni is making a move toward providing some sort of welcome for the university glee club, which will give an entertainment in the Baldwin on the night of the 28th. It will not only be a fitting compliment to the university boys, but a pleasure to our young people to meet them.

A happy crowd, chaperoned by Babe Mays, departed last Saturday for Hay Creek, where for two days they were royally entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sommerville and Mr. Edwards. It was a merry house party, and the delightful hospitality of the hosts and hostesses made every moment one of unalloyed pleasure. The party was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Bobt. Mays, Jr., Mrs. Maude Mitchell and son, Jack, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Lueddemann and son, Hillman, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Goodwin, Messrs. Sam Nottling and Max Lueddemann.—Antelope Herald.

This morning the marshal arrested Oakley Harkins, a young man charged with vagrancy, and in lieu of his $2 will spend the day in the city jail. Harkins is not a complete stranger here, having been a frequent visitor in former years, when his uncle was in business here. His is the old old story of opportunities neglected and lack of ambition until he is now a common tramp, a disgrace not only to himself, but to all connected with him.

On complaint of his step-father, J. H. Matthews, Carl Cutting was this morning committed to the charge of the state reform school at Salem, and will be taken down in the morning. Carl is a boy of about 14 years, who has proven himself a truant, untruthful, dishonest, incorrigible and vicious, so that his parents find they are unable to control him, and therefore deem it for his future benefit to place him where he will be subject to more strict surveillance.

Just as the first boat whistle tooted forth this morning the horses attached to the laundry delivery wagon came to the conclusion that they were tired of this washie washie all the time and would runny runny for a change, so they lit out up the road leading from the dock. They had, however, calculated without the beautiful muddy roads, and by the time they reached the top of the grade had expended enough steam to run two or three laundries and were ready to quit and "be good."

This afternoon M. T. Nolan received a telegram from Congressman M. A. Moody, dated Washington, December 18th, which says that Tongue has been appointed on the river and harbor committee, and also is chairman of the irrigation of lands. Mr. Moody is a member of the committee on public lands, also mines and mining and expenditures of interior department. Oregon is receiving liberal recognition, which is highly satisfactory to its members.

Passenger train No. 1 won't do to bank on, and is perhaps the most fickle number in the bunch. If you want it to be late, it's early; if you want it to be on time, it's off. So say two of our prominent citizens who intended to take it Saturday but instead got taken in. They hustled into the Umatilla House a short time after it ought to be due, asked no questions but proceeded to wait for No. 1. They chatted about, and to a person up a tree it looked as if the better looking of the two was intending to visit schools in the neighboring district, while the younger and more stylish was about to make a record of proceedings in another section of the county. If the clerk (at the hotel) had any suspicion of the state of affairs he was cute enough to keep mum. Finally about the bewitching hour of 6:30, one of them informed Mr. Fish that they were to be present at lodge exercises at Hood River that evening. Being asked what train they would take, he replied "No. 1." With that peculiar twinkle in his eye, Judd said, "You'll have to wait till tomorrow then. No. 1 left several hours ago." The door wasn't opened very wide, but they managed to get out, and next time will ask the old, old question, "How about No. 1?"

Labor of Love.

In many vocations in life a cut in salary, although by no means appreciated, is not necessarily hazardous to the unfortunate employe; but 'tis not often that he who is engaged in the highest of all callings receives such a princely salary that he can well survive the slightest deduction, and yet the cut is made in spite of consequences. Such a case is that which was called to the attention of the Congregational society in this city in a letter written by Cephas Clapp to Mrs. E. M. Wilson and read at last night's service, in which he relates how the Missionary Society reduced the yearly salary of a minister stationed at Hubbard $50, in the hope that the three charges to which he preached the gospel would make up the deficit. Such, however, was not the case and it is quite impossible for the pastor to support his large family.

The sympathy of this society was at once elicited upon receipt of the letter and offerings made yesterday as follows: Evening service, $8; Sunday school, $7; Junior Endeavor, $5.

The ladies, however, were foremost in the labor of love, and at an afternoon party Wednesday at the home of Mrs. John Sommerville raised $11 toward the fund. The method employed was a novel one, each lady being called upon to contribute according to her height, a nickel per foot, and a penny for each additional inch. The tallest proved to be five feet ten and a half inches, and the shortest under five feet. Beside having the satisfaction of work well done, a very enjoyable afternoon was spent.

Santa Claus' First Visit.

Old Santa Claus must have thought that well begun was half done when he stopped at Pease & Mays' store as he began his visit to our city, judging from the good work he did in the grocery department and the number of things he deposited there that fairly make your mouth water. Then he arranged them in such a tempting manner, first forming all sorts of devices out of the canned goods and then decorating them with evergreen wreaths. The dried fruits he encased in glass cases and put them where everyone could see them, placing all manner of baskets in close proximity so he could fill them quickly Christmas eve. He knew that Christmas wouldn't be Christmas without good groceries, and also that they'd be more tempting when bought at such a neat looking store. Nobody wants even those tempting cocoanuts, bananas and other dainties, much less every-day necessities, unless they come from a clean store.

But Santa's a sly old fox, and some girl has been whispering in his ear that she likes to be remembered, but that a sweet remembrance is really what she wants, and so he arranged a regular bower of evergreens and placed inside just such candy as would make any girl answer "yes"—if she were asked to accept some, and no doubt many of our fair maidens will have reason to be grateful to Pease & Mays for introducing such sweets. But the little ones were not forgotten and there is plenty of candy to fill their stockings with, which is not quite so rich nor expensive. In fact, if he hadn't visited another store, he has left plenty of good things right there to make Christmas a merry one for all.

A Frightful Idaho Wreck.

Friday evening about 7 o'clock an extra freight, carrying a load of rails for the extension of the Northern Pacific in Idaho, near Lewiston, started down a grade about seven miles east of Kendrick, at a terrific rate, the rails of the track being covered with ice and snow. The breaks refused to hold and the conductor cut loose the cabooses from the rest of the train, bringing it to a standstill. A mile and a half east of Kendrick four cars were dinged and the track torn up for a distance of a quarter of a mile. There were then fifteen cars and the two engines running at increased speed toward Kendrick. When the flying train struck the east switch of the Kendrick mill track at the east end of the yard the entire train was dinged. Every car and both engines were completely wrecked and thrown to the edge of the river. The track at that point was torn up for 200 yards.

Engineers Arthur E. Bain and John A. Ogden, Fireman Earl Bradshaw and Brakeman A. Badge, all of Spokane, were killed outright, and Fireman J. E. Peterman fatally wounded.

BLIND!

What a horrible sensation you experienced when you looked upon that unfortunate man and realized his deplorable condition. Ever thought of yourself—thought that by your persistent carelessness you might some day have the same affliction?

Unless by accident blindness always comes one way—by neglect. Eyes become weak; you strain them; they become weaker; you continue your carelessness. At last it is too late, your case is hopeless—no help—no cure. Come in today. We'll examine and tell you just what is needed, FREE. Then, if you like, we'll supply you.

Mr. J. Sheer, Sedalia, Mo., saved his child's life by One Minute Cough Cure. Doctors had given her up to die with croup. It's an infallible cure for coughs, colds, grippe, pneumonias, bronchitis and throat and lung troubles. Relieves at once.

Clarke & Falk's flavoring extracts are the best. Ask your grocer for them.

PEOPLE YOU ALL KNOW.

W. M. Barnett, of Wasco, is in town today.

John Miedler, of Wasco, was in the city yesterday.

J. J. Miller is a business visitor in town from Des Chutes.

L. E. Crowe was a passenger for Portland yesterday afternoon.

Miss Dollie Mosier was a visitor in the city from Mosier yesterday.

F. N. Crofton came over from his place near Centerville yesterday.

Levi Clarke was up from Hood River yesterday visiting his children here.

Mr. and Mrs. S. French returned home Saturday, after a short visit in Portland.

Fred Snipes, who has spent some months in Sumpter, is in the city visiting his parents.

Mrs. R. B. Sinnott is in Salem and will remain until after Christmas visiting her mother, Mrs. Gertrude Lowndate.

Mrs. G. C. Blakeley, who spent the greater part of last week with her parents in Portland, returned home Saturday night.

H. F. Temple, of the Dufur Dispatch, was registered at the Umatilla yesterday. If he remained over today his friends of the fraternity are not aware of the fact.

P. E. Michell came up on the boat Saturday from Stevenson and will remain over until tomorrow. He reports things at that little berg lively, particularly at the mills near there.

F. W. Wilson and J. V. O'Leary, made a business trip into the Grass Valley country last week, returning yesterday. Like all other travelers they reported roads; but had no complaint to make regarding the prospect for stock wintering well.

Dr. H. A. Littlefield, brother of Mrs. W. L. Bradshaw, arrived in the city from Portland Saturday. Dr. Littlefield has just returned from Manila, where he went with the Oregon volunteers over eighteen months ago. He has been assistant surgeon of the regular army in charge of the hospital at Cavite. During the past five months his duties have kept him right along the firing line and the experiences he relates of hardships endured are anything but inviting to even the bravest, among whom the doctor has figured prominently.

Of Interest to the Alumni.

A meeting of the High school alumni will be held at the residence of Geo. Ruch, on the corner of Fourth and Court streets, this evening at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of arranging to receive the glee club of the state university on Thursday, Dec. 28th. By order of GEO. RUCH, Jr., President.

The Modern Mother

How Are Your Eyes?

Don't overlook the fact that W. E. Garretson is the only graduated refractionist in the city. Any one who has imperfect vision can be properly corrected with lenses that will overcome all defects. No charge for examination.

Turkey shoot.

A turkey shoot will take place on the beach on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, 23d, 24th and 25th of this month, beginning at 11 o'clock and continuing during the afternoon.

HARTH & MASON.

A SURE CURE FOR COUGH.

Twenty-five Years' Constant Use Without a Failure.

The first indication of croup is hoarseness, and in a child subject to that disease it may be taken as a sure sign of the approach of an attack. Following this hoarseness is a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is used in many thousands of homes in this broad land and never disappoints the anxious mothers. We have yet to learn of a single instance in which it has not proved effectual. No other preparation can show such a record—twenty-five years' constant use without a failure. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton.

A Thousand Tongues

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1125 Howard st., Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure—"It soon removed the pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the universe." So will every one who tries
