WINSLOW IN WASHINGTON.

"The Hon. Erving Winslow, secretary of the New England branch of the Anti-Imperial League, has gone to Washington again to find and to impress congress," announces the New York Sun. The Sun goes on to describe: "It may be remembered by collectors that this eccentric old boy descended upon Washington last winter for the purpose of laboring with congress. 'Where is congress?' asked the good old man as he hired a herdic; and the facetious driver answered: 'Why, at the Congressional Hotel, sure.' To the Congressional Hotel, then, was the Hon. Erving Winslow whittled with all his convolutions rolling rapidly. He actually expected to find most of the members of the congress there, and is said to have been greatly comforted by the sight of one or two in the bar-room. Forthwith he conferred with them.

"Mr. Winslow conferred with senators. He went home happy, telling everybody that the peace treaty was beaten. He is now going to prevent expansion, but we advise him to keep away from members of the Fifty-fifth congress who are also in the Fifty-sixth. They will be sure to ask him what became of those ten million signatures to the anti-expansion petitions that he promised to have before Dec. 25, 1898. We also advise him to keep away from members of the police. They will be inclined to run him in as a crank if they have read his Thanksgiving message to or curse of Mr. McKinley.

"Mr. Winslow will not fail to confer with his brethren of the Washington Anti-Imperial League. There are as many as five of them, we believe; and they spend most of their time in writing letters to Gen. Sambo Bowles' Springfield Republican. And while Mr. Winslow is in Washington he ought to communicate with a fellow Tagalogout, Gen. Morrison I. Swift of Los Angeles, Cal., secretary of the Filipino Liberation Society, which consists entirely of Gen. Morrison I. Swift.

"Mr. Winslow must know Gen. Swift, who was eminent in Boston a few years ago and blew the tramp trumpet horrendously. It was Gen. Swift who started to lead a force of the foes of work from Boston to Washington, where they were to join Gen. Jake Coxe's gazaboo grenadiers. Gen. Coxe is making money and rides in palace cars instead of on shanks' mare and Gen. Swift is still unreconciled and looking for trouble. He should be summoned to Washington to meet Mr. Winslow. The Massachusetts anti-imperialists ought to be glad of the chance to bring the two thinkers together.

"Gen. Swift is more radical and more forcible than the Massachusetts men. While they are squalling, he has actually issued a proclamation, 'emancipating' the Filipinos. From such a leader Mr. Winslow could learn much. The Hon. Winslow Warren, of Massachusetts and some other Tagal fanciers want a new party. We do ourselves a pleasure in nominating as their candidate for president, Gen. Morrison I. Swift, of California; for vice president, the Hon. Erving Winslow, of Massachusetts. Platform: Down with McKinley the usurper! Up with Aguinaldo, the heroic defender of liberty!"

A BRAVE GIRL.

She Did Not Lose Her Presence of Mind When Attacked by an Alligator.

Some days ago a little girl, a daughter of Mrs. Fields, living on Lake Gibson, near Lakeland, Fla., jumped off the wharf on the lake to take a swim. She is an expert swimmer, but had hardly touched the water before she was seized by the leg, between the knee and ankle, by an alligator. She was pulled under the water by the saurian, but managed to break away and started hastily toward the shore, only a few yards distant. The gator again came to the attack, this time seizing her in the fleshy part of the side, between the ribs and hip. The little one was plucky, however, and managed to again break away from the cruel jaws, this time reaching the shore, the gator following until she was on dry land; then he disappeared from view. The little girl never lost her presence of mind, which probably was the reason of her escaping alive. She gives a graphic description of the dangerous encounter, and has two very ugly wounds to vouch for her story. She says she could not see the entire length of the beast, but from what she could see would judge it to have been only about five feet long—a small gator to attack a person. The girl is 14 years of age.

A Terrible Possibility.

Old Gen. Abercrombie, "who never tasted water," was once asked why it was that he had such a natural dislike for water. "I'll tell you of an incident that'll help explain it," was the frank old soldier's reply. "A good many years ago I was crossing the great continental divide. It was colder than Greenland. In one of my saddle pockets I had a jug of whisky and in the other a jug of water. Well, it was so cold that the jug of water froze up and busted. Supposing it had been inside of me!"
