HAVE MUCH TO ANSWER FOR

When it comes to a final settlement of the Philippine insurrection those Americans who have given it encouragement will have much to answer to their own conscience, if not otherwise, says the Salom Statesman. One of the features in the latter days of the rebellion's dissolution is the collection of the archives of the non-descript government of the Filipinos. A newspaper correspondent reports that in these archives have been found damaging letters which the insurgents received from Americans, all of which General Otis is forwarding to the war department. What the department will do with them nobody knows. It may be that nothing more serious will happen to their writers than being held up to the contempt of their fellow citizens for their disloyalty to the government, and for the comfort which they gave to the enemy. Undoubtedly this correspondence and the unwise utterances at home of such anti-expansionists as Senator Hoar, Atkinson and Bryan prolonged the insurrection far beyond the limitations which would have been otherwise placed upon it. False hopes were raised in the minds of Aguinaldo and his followers through them, which encouraged them to persevere in their resistance to American authority.

Now it is practically all over. The insurrection is at an end. The Filipino government has been destroyed. Most of those who were active in it, except Aguinaldo, have either been killed or surrendered. Aguinaldo's forces are scattered and he is himself a fugitive in disguise, shifting from place to place to avoid capture by our troops. The American forces have been divided into small squads to facilitate the pursuit of the scattered bands of insurgents who now maintain themselves solely by robbery. All of the insurgent arsenals, war munitions and food supplies have fallen into our hands and now the Filipinos are surrendering their rifles. A thousand of the latter were given up the other day to Captain McCalla of the Newark at Claveria and Pantelona. When their arms are all gathered in, the capacity of the Filipinos for further mischief will have gone. The news which we receive daily from Manila has degenerated into a formal record of minor encounters with small bands of fugitives. It cannot be anything else, for there is now no organized body of armed Filipinos anywhere in the archipelago.

It is a great privilege to make some one happy during the holidays that come but once a year. People should open their hearts at least once in the year, unbending themselves so as to feel the great pulse beat of the world.

It is as well a privilege to remember one's immediate friends in a manner that shall bind the ties that are too apt to be easily loosened anyway. The Christmas season is one which should enlarge the hearts of mankind and make man better. Anything which has a tendency to take away the selfishness from a man's nature is a good thing for the world. This ought to do it if anything will. If a man keeps his purse strings entirely tied this season of giving, he must be hopelessly lost. The spirit engendered now should go with one during the entire year that follows, radiating the life and casting its influence daily, not disappearing like the rainbow.—Albany Democrat.

Bring in Your Offerings.

Reader, what will you do to help brighten the homes of at least twenty-five families in this city? If you have not given your offering of money, eatables, clothing, books, toys, pictures, cards, etc.; if not called for, please leave them at the Salvation Army barracks, not later than 10 a. m. Saturday, Dec. 23d. Then come yourself and enjoy the entertainment.

Wishing you all much of God's blessing, and a merry Christmas; believe us to be your humble servants in the interest of those for whom Christ was born and crucified.

Notice to Taxpayers.

A warrant for the collection of all delinquent taxes due Wasco county having been placed in my hands, I am compelled to force collection of the same; therefore I make this last call. The county court has extended the time as long as is possible. The list will be published this week of all property on which taxes have not been paid, after which costs will be added.

BOOKMAKING IN AMERICA.

New York Issues More Books Than All the Rest of the Country Combined.

On an average 14,000,000 books are printed in Germany every year, and 6,000,000 of these, it is computed, are exported to other countries. Leipzig has been for many years the recognized book city of Germany. No other European city, not a capital, occupies a position equally prominent, notwithstanding the fact that the total consumption of paper in Germany for book-making is materially less than in Great Britain at present. In the United States and Canada there is no recognized book city, though recently Toronto has asserted its right to be accepted as the Leipzig of Canada. Nearly $2,000,000 is said to be invested in that city and its neighborhood in papermaking, printing and bookbinding trades. Large as these figures may be for Canada, they do not seem to be of very much account when brought into comparison with statistics of some American cities, especially New York, Philadelphia and Chicago. Chicago has now $25,000,000 invested in book and paper publishing, and in some lines may be said to have almost a monopoly, particularly in printing railroad time tables, railroad maps and in some branches of commercial printing. Philadelphia has a large retail book trade, especially in cheap editions of the standard works which are sent to the south and west. Two other American cities having a large business in book-making, though in different branches of trade, are Boston and St. Louis. The books published in Boston are for the most part either expensive standard works or those having permanent value for reference, whereas the books published in St. Louis include a considerable number in the German language. Washington as the capital city is the seat of the government printing house, the publications of which are both extensive and continuous, and more than 3,000 persons, a majority of them in the government service, are employed in bookmaking and bookbinding in that city despite the fact that in proportion to its population no city of the country has a smaller number of newspapers, and usually the number of papers issued in a city is a guide to the volume of book-making done in it. New York exceeds all other American cities (Canada included) in the volume of its bookmaking and bookbinding trade, and the publishers of this city now issue more books yearly than are published in all the rest of the country combined. There are 40 leading publishing concerns, and others of less importance. In another particular also, New York can securely assert its right to be regarded as the Leipzig of America, for it is the city into which are imported and from which are exported the greatest number of books.
