WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Installation of Masonic officers tonight.

Secure your seats for the Glee Club concert tomorrow night at Blakeley & Houghton's drug store.

The condition of Mr. A. MacAdam today is not encouraging. A nurse has been secured and he is receiving the best of care.

The school children are all hoping that by the time they have to again climb up the Court street walk leading to the school buildings, that portion of the journey on the bluff will be made easier by a few new sidewalks.

The employees of the Regulator took Santa Claus on a passenger Christmas day and in the pilot house he deposited a fine revolving chair, which they asked him to leave for Captain Alden with their compliments. It is a very nice one and greatly appreciated by the captain.

Strange as it may seem, Mrs. Grater, the lady who was injured in the runaway yesterday morning, and also the little child are getting along nicely and Dr. Geisendorfer says he fears no bad results. Mr. Grater, who saw the accident, says he expected nothing less than to find their lifeless remains on the railroad track when he saw the horses head that way.

The funeral of the late J. C. Baldwin was held yesterday afternoon at the family residence on Tenth street. The services, which were short, were conducted by Rev. D. V. Poling, and a choir composed of Mesdames Huntington, Wilson and Taylor and C. J. Crandall and Rev. Poling sang "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Lead Kindly Light." The pall bearers were Messrs. Rach, Marden, Liebe, Brooks, Mays and French. Interment was made in Odd Fellows cemetery.

Still the smallpox reports are conflicting and different people who arrive from Moro tell as many different stories. Some say the town is full of smallpox; others that there is no smallpox, nothing but chickenpox. Others that the town is quarantined, and still others that it is not. In the meantime Dalles people are awakening to their danger and getting vaccinated. It occurs to us that the true state of affairs should be determined and precaution taken. If it is not smallpox, then it is something equally as bad and should be treated accordingly.

Just after the new engine had been tested this afternoon the fire bell sounded an alarm and a fire in McNerny's brick building was discovered to be burning. It was soon put out with no particular damage done except that which resulted from a runaway which took place at the same time. C. A. Borders' horse objected to the chemical engine claiming all the attention, and lit out for water, dragging the cart behind him. He ran into a young man on Second street and over a Jap on First, but fortunately did not injure them. Finally he made a dead stop at the undertaker's on Fourth street, little the worse for wear.

The Masonic Lodge at Hood River had a good friend in the late Alfred Trieman, who died at that place on the 21st of this month leaving no relatives. In his will, which has just been admitted to probate, he bequeathes to Hood River lodge, No. 105, all the remainder of his property after the few debts which he left are paid and also his funeral expenses. The estate is valued at $6,000. The only proviso made is that a lot be purchased and a two-story building be erected thereon, the upper story to be used as lodge room and the lower rented out. The remainder of said estate, including rents and profit of lower story, is to be appropriated to the interest of the order. A. S. Blowers, W. M. Yates and E. E. Savage were appointed executors and also trustees in behalf of the lodge.

Some of the fire boys held there heads pretty high this afternoon as they passed the CHRONICLE office escorting the new "comical" engine to the beach, where Mr. Long, of Portland, made the test to determine whether or not it would be satisfactory. A "play" fire was made of dry goods boxes, etc., and when the blaze was at a good height the engine got in its work, and proved to the large crowd which watched proceedings that it could "stop a fire." It is painted a fiery red and cuts quite a figure. One great advantage of the chemical engine is that in case of a fire the immense amount of damage which always results to property and goods from water is entirely overcome, the chemicals only playing on the fire and not interfering with surrounding goods. This is the principal reason why the reduction in insurance was secured.

Young Koltzman, who was held on a charge of forgery, arrived in the city last night from Gresham, accompanied by his father, and this morning appeared for a hearing in Justice Bayard's court. District Attorney Jayne at once moved for a dismissal on the ground that Koltzman was not the right man. The hearing had been put off until the prosecuting witness, H. Kuck, arrived. For some time it has been suspected that McGonagle, who was arrested in Sherman county for a like offense, was the guilty party. Yesterday Mr. Kuck made a trip to Sherman county to identify the man and found the suspicion was correct. McGonagle escaped from the Crook county jail, where he was confined for a like offense, and appeared next in Sherman county. He worked at Olde' at the same time Koltzman was employed there, when he forged the check in favor of Koltzman, which he passed on Kuck. He is a young man of Koltzman's age, and about his build.

The Poor Remembered.

If the work of the Salvation Army were limited to that which is accomplished every year when Christmas rolls around and the needy, who would otherwise be forgotten, are searched out and made happy by useful gifts as well as toys for the little ones, even then would their labors be productive of much good. While most of our citizens are ready to contribute to the needy at such a time, it is always a question how to reach the deserving poor and to bestow their gifts advisedly. The Salvation Army officers, who devote their lives to this work, canvas the highways and the byways and leave not a stone unturned until all are discovered and remembered at the Christmas tide.

Many such gathered at the Baldwin last night, and with them a large number of friends, so that the hall was well filled. A long program was well rendered and at the close presents were distributed from two very handsome trees. Not a person left the hall without receiving some recognition; even if it were but some candy or nuts.

The army worked untiringly in their labor of love and deserve much credit, having received their reward in the smiling faces and hearts made happy thereby.

Card of Thanks.

On behalf of our comrades we wish to thank the many friends, who, by their gifts made it possible for us to bring cheer and comfort to so many hearts of men, women and children this Christmas tide.

From the gift of the rich man down to that of the widow, who said, "I have given my little for the children's sake, and I know will be blessed by The Christ who has taken count of them all."

Yours to love others,
CAPT. TOM R. HUBBISH
LEUT. FRANK M. JASPER.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT.

What We May Expect Tomorrow Night At the Baldwin.

College boys sing with a vim and dash which characterizes no other institution. The opportunity to spend an evening with college boys should never be missed. They will infuse you with new life and energy and the feeling that an evening was never better spent. Oregon should keep in touch with her university. No better opportunity was ever offered to do this than will be given to The Dalles people Thursday evening.

In speaking of the concert at Eugene the Eugene Register says:

"To say that the audience was well pleased with the Glee Club concert last evening would be putting it mild. Their harmony is well nigh perfect. They possess in superior measure that faculty known as team work. Nor are they lacking in their specialties.

"Prof. Glen is beyond question one of the finest baritone singers on the coast, and his songs never fail an encore. Arthur Frazer at the piano is unexcelled. Having graduated under the careful tutelage of Prof. W. Gifford Nash, he possesses a power to interpret music seldom found in one of his age. Eaton in his monologues is a wonder. Last night his audience would laugh with abandon, while the tears which just before filled their eyes were still coursing down their cheeks.

"When Eaton and Frazer came out in their 'Travesty on Ingomar the Barbarian,' the audience put on its broadest smile which was on the crescendo as the play lengthened until at its close they were almost beside themselves with merriment. Not a number was sighted. The boys received encore after encore which were always responded to in such a manner as to bring down the house.

"An audience never left an entertainment better pleased, and the universal sentiment was that the state owed them its heartiest support."

The audience tomorrow night will have even more than the concert to entertain them. During the last year the "Rooters" club has been an important factor in the creation of college enthusiasm. A number of its members are home from the holidays. E. N. Blythe, of Hood River, the U. of O. yell leader, will be up, and assisted by the boys here will give the audience a sample of college yells they have not heard since their college days.

There are many morals to be learned in an evening spent with the U. of O. Glee Club. There is an especial one, viz: Attend our own state university if you wish to further your education.

A COMMENDABLE MOVE.

Pacific Coast People Called Upon to Aid the Family of Major Gen. Lawton.

Of the many calls which have come to the people of the Pacific coast recently, surely none will have more weight or awaken a greater degree of interest than that which is made in behalf of the family of one who has given his life for his country and whom the people of the United States honored and loved.

The movements which have been going on to raise funds for erecting monuments in honor of our dead heroes are commendable; but deeds of love in behalf of the dear ones left behind are to us far more to be encouraged, and could the dead speak would no doubt call forth their approbation and blessing on those whose appreciation of valorous deeds is thus expressed. The letter reads thusly:

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 23, 1899.

EDITOR CHRONICLE:
The Adjutant General of the army has appointed me, as the representative of the war department, to receive contributions from the people of the Pacific coast for the benefit of the widow and children of the late Major General Henry W. Lawton, killed in action before San Mateo, Philippine islands, December 20, 1898, and I respectfully solicit your assistance in making the donations from the coast a generous one.

The history of General Lawton's splendid military career is too well known to require recounting here. His life has been one devoted to the military service, and he fell in battle while defending his country's flag.

His widow and four children will be left in straightened circumstances unless the mortgage covering his orange grove at Redlands, California, be liquidated.

I am confident that the patriotic and grateful people of the Pacific coast will respond generously to this most worthy object, and that enough money will be raised, not only to pay the mortgage, but to leave a substantial margin in addition for the use of the family.

Remittances should be sent to the undersigned at Army Headquarters, San Francisco, which will be acknowledged by letter and through the columns of the newspapers. The Nevada Bank, of San Francisco, has been designated as the depository for the fund.

Very Respectfully,
WM. R. SHAFER,
Major General, U. S. Volunteers.
