A NOTABLE SPEECH.

Senator Beveridge has made his speech and it was just what was expected of him. He is a man who realizes, better than most young men elected to high office do, that "there is a time to speak and a time to keep silent." Senator Beveridge kept silent until the proper occasion presented itself to speak, and then he had something of importance to say, and said it. Senator Beveridge visited the Philippines last summer, and remained there several weeks. He has studied the Philippine problem on the ground, among the natives, with our troops, and in the harbors and on the up-lands. He is an intelligent, practical, progressive, patriotic young American, but old enough and with experience enough to form a good judgment. Hence it is of value to the American people. He wants the United States congress to declare, positively and unequivocally, in the plainest, simplest, clearest language possible, that our government is resolved to keep and govern those islands. His reasons he sets forth impressively and luminously in his speech. They are reasons that will appeal strongly to Americans, and should be productive of good results.—Telegram.

PEACE HATH HER VICTORIES

The president and his secretary of state deserve the congratulations and thanks of the country for their success in keeping the doors of China open to the commerce of the world without indulging in any threats or becoming involved in the partitioning of China, says the Astorian. This is a victory of peace that means very much for our commerce, and when it comes to be understood will be regarded as one of the best works of the present administration.

The successful issue of diplomacy correspondence is a sufficient answer to those who have been fearful that because our administration did not bluster and bellow our commerce would be seriously injured by the facility and rapidity with which European nations have been carving China. Some think it might have been better for us to have joined in the division of China, but with the Philippines on our hands we will have enough to do to civilize the Filipinos and prepare the people for the enjoyment of our government.

We might have sent war-ships to China, and joining with Great Britain, have declared that we would not permit Europe to despoil that country, but that would perhaps have involved us in embarrassing difficulties with the other nations of Europe and have caused us more anxiety and trouble than was worth while. Instead of doing any of these things, the administration, through the efficient secretary of state, has quietly negotiated with the great powers of Europe, and with that rising Asiatic power, Japan, and secured the consent of Great Britain, Russia, Germany, France and Japan to the continuation of the open door policy in China.

All the details of the agreements by which the doors of China are to be open to the commerce of the world have not been perfected, but the spirit of the answers from the great powers is such as to make it certain that no difficulty will be found in coming to a most satisfactory arrangement. Thus the United States in the most peaceful fashion possible has secured the basis for an arrangement that promises to be of the greatest benefit to the commerce of the world. It will place all nations on an equality in competing for the commerce of China, a field in which the United States has become increasingly active to the profit of our exporters and manufacturers.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 50 Warren St., N. Y. The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.
