FARMERS AND LABORERS TRUSTS

The decision rendered in the United States circuit court at Chicago, declaring the "anti monopoly" act of Illinois unconstitutional, appears to rest on solid grounds, says the New York Evening Post. That act, which was passed in 1893, declared in terms that its provisions did not extend to agricultural products or livestock in the hands of the producer or raiser. In other words, it assumed that monopoly was wrong in the case of some goods and some persons, and right in the case of others. It seems pretty clear that such an act is properly described, as Judge Kohlsaat says, as both class and special legislation, and therefore in contravention of both the state and federal constitutions. It was speciously urged that the exception might be held void, and the remainder of the act constitutional. To this it was replied that such a decision by the courts would make the act binding on the very classes which the legislature had deliberately excluded. That would be judicial legislation of the most flagrant character. The truth is gradually emerging that, if anti-monopoly laws are to stand the constitutional tests, they must apply to farmers and to laborers as well as other classes—a truth which makes the task of the legislator a very heavy one. No class in the community is more disposed to form combinations for industrial purposes than the farmers, and these combinations are frequently necessary for their protection against extremes in prices. Many of the laborers are also firmly convinced that combination is necessary for their prosperity, and yet the combinations which they form savour of monopoly. On the whole it seems that if there are to be anti-monopoly laws they must be impartial and universal—a requirement which would silence a large part of the outcry for such legislation.

WHY IT IS SO.

The "Railroad Gazette" reports that, according to estimates and facts, already at hand, it appears that during the year ending December 31st more than 4,500 miles of new railroad have been built in the United States. There have been no figures like these since before the free trade blight fell upon the country through the election of Grover Cleveland to the presidency in 1892. During the free trade period the average number of miles of new railroad built per year did not reach half this amount. Free trade is as preventive of the further development of the country and of a greater opening up of its resources as it is destructive to business already established. Every one of those 4,500 and more miles of new railroad was built in response to the demands of some new industry, or to the increased demands for transportation facilities made by those industries already in existence, and to which new life was given by the enactment of the Dingley law. Altogether, as the Gazette puts it, "the exhibit is a remarkable evidence of the widespread prosperity that has at last overtaken the country."

WINTER TRIPS.

For winter residence or winter outing ideal conditions will be found on every hand in California. Prolonged early rainfall has this season given to the semi-tropical vegetation wonderful impetus; the floral offerings are more than usually generous and the crop of southern fruits bountiful and excellent. Old ocean possesses new charms at Santa Barbara, Santa Monica, Long Beach, Coronado and the enchanted isle of the sea, Catalina—where fishing, boating, rambling, riding, hunting and loafing may be enjoyed as nowhere else. Quiet little spots, snug and warm, offer themselves at Montecito, Nordhoff, Pasadena, Echo Mountain, San Jacinto, Fall Brook and Palm Springs.

For renewing health and vigor, here abound many hot springs, of widely varying constituents and demonstrated merits; the dry, antiseptic, tonic air of the desert may be enjoyed at Banning, Indio, Yuma; and, even farther on, at Phoenix, Tucson, El Paso, exists conditions equally well indicated for weak throats and lungs.

Many think nothing in nature more attractive than the shimmering olive orchards of Santa Barbara and San Diego; others prefer the stately walnuts of Ventura and Los Nietos, or the lemons of Fernando; but for glorious fruit and graceful tree commend us to the golden orange, first, last and always, and it exists in greatest perfection at Covina, Riverside, Redlands and Highlands. Equally interesting is the scientific and tempting fashion in which the sorting and packing of the orange is here accomplished.

The faithful were exhorted to see Mecca and shuffle off; but wiser generations will see California of the south and prolong life.
