WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

"Held By the Enemy" At the Baldwin tonight. Many a true word is spoken when two women have a quarrel. Little boys' caps worth 60 & 60 cents are now 50 cents at Williams & Co's. As per the agreement entered into by the business men collections will not be made until Monday. The Shaw company attracted the usual large crowd today at their concert, which was duly appreciated by those who heard it. The ladies of the Congregational church are preparing a most excellent musical program for their concert, which will be given about the middle of this month. The Dufur dispatch is worthy of much praise for the "Washington Birthday Edition" as edited by the Dufur public schools, and printed in the Dispatch office at Dufur. A royalty of $27.50 is paid by Mr. Shaw every time he presents the play "Held by the Enemy," which is on the boards for tonight. On Monday evening next, Maier & Benton will raffle off the handsome range which is on display in their window. Holders of tickets are requested to be present. Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock an interesting game of baseball will be played at the fair grounds, between the small boys of the public school and their larger companions. Reserved seats can be had without extra charge for the matinee tomorrow. The box office will be open at 8:30 a. m. Rip Van Winkle the old favorite—it pleases the old as well as the young. Portland Lodge, No. 142, B. P. O. E., won in The Telegram's popular lodge contest by a plurality of 7772 votes. The Elks finished strong and the contest ended with 90,657 votes for that popular order. The streets are getting quite dry and a few more days of the present weather will put them in most elegant shape. The roads in the immediate vicinity of town, we are informed, are in fine shape for driving. The wool-scouring plant at The Dalles, according to a report from that town, is assured says the Telegram. Local capital soon came forward, when the matter had been discussed a little while. It will be a profitable industry, helpful to The Dalles and beneficial to scores of woolgrowers. Is Portland going to let all the interior towns get ahead of us and put us to shame? C. B. Durbin has two light Brahama roosters at the Umatilla House whose combined weight is twenty-one pounds. The larger bird was a prize-winner in Portland. They are thoroughbreds and will be taken to Mr. Durbin's farm near Antelope. Tomorrow evening about fifty members of Friendship lodge, No. 9, K. of P. will go to the Cascade Locks to witness the work in the second and third rank. The Regulator has been chartered and will leave here early in the evening, stopping at Hood River to take some twenty members of the order from that place. The anti-rodent crusade planned by the physicians of Astoria has been regarded by some in the nature of a joke, but there is nothing funny about it. Both Astoria and Portland may be visited by the bubonic plague—though Portland stands the better show to escape it—and the doctors are trying to make provisions to cope with it should it break out. The recent death of John R. Gould removed a Mexican war veteran who enjoyed the distinction of having published the first English newspaper on the Pacific Coast. In 1843 he enlisted in the United States navy and went with Commodore Stockton to California. The commodore desired to publish an English paper at Monterey. He appointed Rev. Walter Colton editor and Mr. Gould printer. For six months Mr. Gould set type for "The California" and worked off the papers on a hand press of antiquated pattern. Monday last Rev. Horn had the misfortune to lose his house and most of the contents by fire. Mr. Horn and wife were away from home at the time, and as they were returning saw their house, which is near Goldendale, in flames. The children who were near at hand saved a few things, but the majority of the household effects were destroyed. Mr. Horn has some property that cost him over $3000 that he is willing to dispose of for $1950, as he is badly in need of money at present. For any particulars you may inquire of Geo. A. Liebe, N. Wheelton, or address Rev. Horn at Goldendale. Hood River is to have a bank. Leslie Butler, of The Dalles, has been in Hood River at different times recently, looking over the ground, and has decided to cast his fortunes with Hood River and open a banking business. He has made arrangements with S. J. LaFrance for a building. Mr. LaFrance will erect a frame building on his lot adjoining his store, and the bank will be ready for business by the first of May. Mr. Butler desired a brick building, but the bricks could not be obtained in time. Mr. LaFrance will be ready at any time to build a brick adjoining the brick building of Blowers & Son for the use of the bank.—Hood River Glacier. Once more has the ladies' theory that gentlemen cannot enjoy themselves without the presence of the fair sex, has been disproved. At least the masculine sociability Wednesday evening at the home of C. W. Riddell settled that much vexed question. The evening was most pleasantly employed in playing games. Just before lunch the guests tried their luck at a novel guessing game. Mr. George Ruch took first prize. At eleven o'clock the guests sat down to the table and drew walnuts within which were quotations. Woe unto him who failed to guess the author for he was liberally daubed with lamp black and flour. After lunch was served all joined in singing college songs, and then took their departure homeward with dark but smiling faces. At a meeting of the Portland chamber of commerce yesterday, the matter of securing further improvements at the mouth of the Columbia river was brought up. It is desired to provide a new system of jetties to scour out the sand at the mouth of the river, until a depth of 40 feet at low tide is secured. For this purpose an appropriation of $253,000 will be required, and as there is to be no river and harbor appropriations this year it will be necessary to tack it on to the sundry civil bill. The needs of the great Oregon waterway will be communicated to the Oregon delegation in congress, where it will receive earnest attention, and an effort will be made to secure the co operation of the chambers of commerce of Astoria, Salem, The Dalles and perhaps Boise and Walla Walla.—Astoria Daily News. The young woman at the St. Charles hotel who says her name is Miss Louise David has not always gone by that name says the Oregonian. A short time ago, when she came down the river by the O. R. & N., stopping at Walla Walla, Wallula, Pasco and Arlington, she said her name was Hilda Hobson, and that she was a cousin of Lieutenant Hobson, of the United States navy. Her leg was not broken then, and she required the use of no crutches in walking. She also stated she had been in the Philippines, and had received four gunshot wounds in her arm. Her arm was in bandages then. She easily imposed on the people of the inland towns, who contributed liberally to her support. Several of the railroad men looked at her yesterday and said that the Louise David at the St. Charles hotel and the Hilda Hobson who came down the O. R. & N. road were identical. She is still at the St. Charles. CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher Notice. Mike Welch, veterinary surgeon, will visit The Dalles Tuesday, March 6th, and will remain a few days only. Parties wishing his services can find him at Ward & Robertson's stable. 2-2-1d

"THE BRAND OF CAIN." A Clever Play Well Portrayed—The Audience Delighted. The seating capacity of the Baldwin theater is hardly large enough to accommodate the immense crowds that attend the Shaw company's performances. Last night all available seats were taken and many were compelled to stand. "The Brand of Cain" as produced by this excellent company was all that could be desired. The scenery and effects used are carried by the company and contribute very much to the success of the rendition. The scenes in "The Brand of Cain" are laid in Spain and England. The play has equal proportions of comedy, romance and tragedy, portraying strong sentiment throughout. Mr. Shaw, in the roles of John Doe and James Leighton, appeared to fine advantage. He was given a difficult task in interpreting two characters of opposite natures, but he made the change from one role to the other with such skill that he won universal praise from the audience for his clever work. Every member of the company is worthy of praise for their excellent acting and character portrayal. Mrs. Shaw was an ideal maid, and, as Nora Logan, covered herself with honors. She was clever, vivacious, and did not overdo the part, but was so pleasing that many were the encores she received. Miss Carter, as "Juana," the Spanish inn keeper's daughter, and Miss Kelton, as "Phyllis Leighton," were highly successful. H. W. Gilbert was excellent as "Jeffrey Gordon," while Al H. Hallett was an excellent "Larkins." L. J. Plummer, as Sir William Courtney, was immense. A. J. Watson, playing the villain, "Robert Burleigh," along with the companion villain's part of Mr. Shaw as "John Doe," demonstrated very completely his versatility. The entire performance was worthy of praise, and one that was taking with the audience. Miss Jennie Kelton very ably entertained the audience between the first and second acts with a song and dance specialty. The music as usual was above the ordinary, and the xylophone solo was so pleasing that several solos were necessary to appease the audience. Tonight this popular company will produce "Held by the Enemy." More Woolen Mills Needed. Portland is trying to secure new industries within her gates. She advocated a wool-scouring mill and made a hard fight for it but The Dalles offered the best inducements, so "to the victor belongs the spoils." Now Portland is agitating the advisability of securing a woolen mill which would be a fine thing for the city on the Willamette. It would be well for Dalles people to bear in mind that in conjunction with a scouring mill, a woolen mill would be of great value at this place. An editorial in the Telegram relative to the matter says: "The Albany woolen mills are running night and day, and can't keep up with orders. Much the same condition exists in other woolen mills of the state. The demand for Oregon-made woolen fabrics far exceeds the supply. What possible reason can there be, then, for any long delay in establishing a woolen mill at Portland?" And we say why not establish it at The Dalles? Assessment Extension Completed. County Clerk A. M. Kelsey completed the extension of taxes on the assessment roll of Wasco county for the year 1899, today and turned it over to Sheriff Kelly for collection. Following is the amount of the several taxes as charged to the sheriff: Number of polls at $1 each... $ 910 00 Amt. of city tax (The Dalles and Dufur)..... 5702 71 Amt. special school tax (23 dist) 10456 05 Amt. county, state, school, etc. 72328 85 Total amt of taxes..... $95397 61 The sheriff will send out notices to taxpayers immediately. Taxes become delinquent April 1st. Dissolution of Partnership. The business heretofore existing under the firm name of Lane Bros. is this day dissolved by mutual consent. L. L. Lane will conduct the business at the old stand, and collect all accounts and pay all bills of the firm. All parties knowing themselves indebted to the firm are requested to settle as soon as possible. The Dalles, Or., March 1, 1900. L. L. LANE, N. M. LANE. In-law The New Sewer System. It will be some time yet before actual work of putting in Walla Walla's new sewer system begins, but why wait so long to insure with the Law, Union & Crown Fire Insurance Co., as that may be too late.
