Last night at the rehearsal, Rev. D. V. Poling was presented with a beautiful baton, by those who will take part in the entertainment to be given by the Congregational church.

County Commissioner N. C. Evans received a telegram yesterday that his mother, who resides at West Liberty, Iowa, was very low and not expected to live. Mr. Evans left immediately for that point.

A telephone message was received today stating that the Japs employed on the Columbia Southern Ry., according to that line to Shaliko, had gone on a strike. Further particulars could not be learned.

Marshal Hughes has a number of men working on the extension of Federal street. He is having all the rocks taken out and they are being placed in the road leading from the Joles corner to the top of the hill. After the road is thoroughly filled it will be covered with gravel, and when finished will be one of the best streets in the city.

At the entertainment to be given by the Congregational church will be one of the best musical programs that has been rendered in our city for some time. Those who enjoy good music should not fail to attend.

John Little, a prominent sheepman of Antelope, has purchased 2300 head of sheep from Ewen McLennan, paying four dollars per head for the same. They are on the way to The Dalles now, and with others will be shipped East.

It's shoes this time: All our spring styles are here. Many were waiting and have supplied themselves with a pair. Remember our prices are the same as last year—no advance—this is why the people buy so readily. New York Cash Store.

Not much business came before the county court during the term and it is expected that everything will be completed by tomorrow evening. Today the court is busily engaged in adding the bills contracted during the past two months.

We are surely having more than our share of rain this season. However, so far it has not been a detriment, but if some of it could be kept at the disposal of the farmer and used during the dry season it would be appreciated a great deal more.

Sheep are beginning to move some in the southern part of the county. Robt. Mays "Jr.," who arrived in town today, states that he has sold a band of 1400 two-year-old weathers and that J. Duff McAndie had sold some 2200. Both these bands are to be delivered after shearing.

County Physician McKay and City Physician Wheeler, of Portland, yesterday vaccinated about 130 of the pupils of the Woodstock school, who are believed to have been exposed to the case of smallpox that was discovered there Sunday.

Yesterday morning the prunegrowers convention met in Portland and preliminary steps were taken for forming a permanent organization. Much interest was manifested as the attendance was large and there was a representative from every section of Oregon and from some parts of Washington.

Old Joaquin Miller, "the poet of the Sierras," was in Virginia City a short time ago, says the Eugene Guard, for the first time in about forty years. While on the Comstock he wandered into the Enterprise printing office and asked "if Dan De Quille or Mark Twain was in." Mark Twain quit the paper in 1863 and Dan has been dead several years.

A case of what is supposed to be bubonic plague, though the exact nature of the disease is uncertain, has been discovered in Chinatown at San Francisco. The patient, who is a Chinese residing on Dupont street, was immediately isolated and the whole of Chinatown has been placed under strict quarantine regulations. No fear is apprehended of the spread of the disease.

County Commissioner A. B. Willard, of Tekoa, reports that smallpox is prevalent in the vicinity of Tekoa and Farmington, and on the Coeur d'Alene Indian reservation, east of these places. There are between twenty-five and thirty cases in and about Tekoa, and two severe cases near Farmington. On the Indian reservation, between forty and fifty Indians are suffering from the disease.

The Hook and Ladder Co. held a very enthusiastic meeting last night in the city hall. There was a large attendance and much interest was taken in the proceedings. The one year term for fire police having expired, J. S. Schenck, the retiring officer, was re-elected to serve the three year term. In the matter of fines it was decided that all would be imposed and none remitted except such as are exempted.

Vic Sampson, who has been working on the portage road across the river for the past few months, is in town today and states that it will be but a short time until the contract that Winters & Chapman, the contractors, have, will be fulfilled. He says the contract calls for nine miles of road east of the big eddy, and as that amount of work is nearly finished it will be but a short time until they will move their force of men away.

Sumpter has been called a great many names: "The Cripple Creek of Oregon," "The Johannesburg of America," "The Klondike at Home," and other high-sounding titles have been applied to this little Bonanza land for 1900. There is one name, however, which late events have made most fitting. The recent rich strike in the property of the Co-operative Gold Mining Company has given cause for calling Sumpter the "Butte of the Pacific Slope."

A meeting of the Board of Health, of Astoria, was held Tuesday to consider what steps should be taken to guard the city against the possible epidemic of the plague. After considerable discussion the board decided, in view of the advice given in the matter by the physicians of the city, that the most urgent thing to be done was to destroy the rats, and a recommendation will be made to the council that a bounty of 2 cents per head be paid for every rat killed.

Four hundred and fifty horses, purchased in Oregon and Washington by the government for the United States cavalry in the Philippines, were transported from Vancouver Barracks yesterday to Portland and put aboard the transport Lennox, bound for Manila. This is the second large shipment of cavalry animals from this point to go to Manila by this transport. A number of hostlers, drivers and blacksmiths will also go.

Allie Filmore, aged 25 years, is missing, with several hundred dollars in his pockets, says the Oregonian. He took the boat Regulator at The Dalles, February 28, and was in the company of L. B. Smith and Fred Vunk, two friends from Centerville, Wash. The last time these men saw him was near the Cascade Locks. Missing him, they came to Portland and made investigations here, but without obtaining any clew. They then returned to The Dalles but he was not there either. They fear foul play owing to the amount of money on his person.

The following named pupils have completed the eighth grade final examination at the Barrett school house, in Hood River valley. Japan is now turning her attention to the Pacific Coast for her salmon supply. M. Gada, of Yokohama, who represents several of the largest fish importers of Japan, has arrived at Seattle from the Orient. His mission is to purchase between 300,000 and 400,000 salmon for export to his country. In an interview with a Seattle reporter he said that fish have been growing scarce in Japan for the past four or five years. Prior to a year ago the Japanese secured their supply of salmon off Siberia. Then the Russians passed a law which practically expels them from the salmon waters, and that supply is thus cut off, and they must now look to the United States for their supply. The demand for salmon in the far East will greatly increase should the same conditions prevail for any length of time.

We hope that the bubonic plague will not find a lodgement in this country, and feel sure that it will not if the officers of the marine-hospital service can prevent it, says the New York Medical Journal. There certainly is no imminent danger of it doing so, but that is no reason for being blind to or denying its possibility. The maxim "In time of peace prepare for war" is as applicable to sanitary as to military operations, and when a pestilence reigns in one part of the globe the people of the rest of the world should put themselves in a state of defense against it by every means that an intelligent foresight can provide. We have an immense coast line and other borders, and it is pretty certain that all immigrants to the United States do not come through ports of entry. In the case of the Chinese this is somewhat notorious. Some infected Oriental may thus find entrance to the country and transmit the disease to others of his race. Were this all, the pest might be stamped out by isolation and quarantine; but, where human beings contract it, the ubiquitous rats and mice also become affected with it, and they can never be isolated nor quarantined. They tend to spread the pestilence further and further.

LOCATION FOR SCOURING MILL

Laud Purchased and Building to be Erected Immediately—Other Enterprises.

The scouring mill proposition, which has been before our citizens for the past few weeks, is to soon be a reality. Mr. J. M. Russell has decided to build the plant on the Sherar property which is situated directly back of the building occupied by the First National Bank.

This property is 100x120 feet and is located adjoining the railroad track which will make it very convenient. The old brick building on the corner will be repaired and used for an office and a storage warehouse. On the adjoining property will be built a two story corrugated iron building which will contain all the machinery and other apparatus necessary for the successful operation of the plant. Work is to be commenced at once and the building will be completed as soon as possible. Our citizens should be congratulated in securing such an enterprise, for when capital is interested in such a proposition as this, it is bound to lead to other enterprises. It is a fact that a soap factory and a woolen mill are adjuncts to a scouring mill and all are advantageous, one to the other.

Before another season comes, means should be taken to secure these manufacturing, and it is more than likely something will be done regarding the matter. At present, however, we are more than pleased with the securing of the scouring mill and will be satisfied to abide our time and await further developments.
