MONDAY - - - MARCH 26, 1900

Goldwin Smith describes Queen Elizabeth as false and perfidious, heartless and selfish, capable at times of hateful cruelty, vain and indelicate, and a virago who "spat and swore and cuffed her would-be lovers when she was past middle age and the last traces of her youthful comeliness had fled." Yet she had remarkable arts of popularity when she chose to observe them and this marvelous bundle of contrarities, who could discuss theology like a doctor of divinity and swear like a pirate, could present on occasion all the grace of bearing and dignity of action that befits a throne. THE CHRONICLE has read somewhere a story that presents this last phase of her character in fine relief. A Frenchwoman, who was attached in some way to the royal household, was detected in a conspiracy that aimed at the assassination of the queen. The woman was arrested and ordered into the queen's presence. "Ungrateful wretch," said Elizabeth, "what should I do to a miscreant like you?" "Does your majesty," said the Frenchwoman, "speak to me as a judge or as a queen?" "I speak to you," said Elizabeth, "as a queen." "Then you should forgive me," was the answer. "But," said the queen, "if I forgive you what assurance can you give me that you will not renew your attempts against my life?" "Grace," responded the Frenchwoman, "that bath conditions, grace fettered by precautions, is not grace." This bold response, it is said, so pleased Elizabeth that she promptly ordered the woman's release from custody and ever after bound her to her person by the ties of gratitude and affection.

THE CHRONICLE is affected to tears through watching the Oregonian's tender caresses of Joe Simon. In the light of a well-remembered past, what can it mean? Isn't there a proverb about Herod and Pontius Pilate clinking glasses to each other when they had made up their minds to crucify somebody? Or is the Oregonian betraying Mr. Simon with a kiss that it may nail the little senator to the cross later on?

The Puerto Rico relief bill passed the senate Saturday by a vote of 135 to 87. The vote was on party lines except that a few Democrats and Independents voted with the Republicans. The bill was promptly signed by the president and took effect immediately. It turns over to the president for the use of Puerto Rico over $2,000,000 of customs receipts collected on Puerto Rican goods up to January 1st last, and such amounts as may hereafter accrue until otherwise provided by law. The passage of the bill is a generous act done to a needy and suffering people. It ought to convince the Puerto Ricans—and our American antis, too, if they were susceptible of conviction—that the United States has no imperialistic intentions towards her new dependencies and no notion of exploiting them for her benefit.

"The Democratic paper at The Dalles makes a prediction that the nominees of its political faith will serve Wasco county the next two years.' Any one who cares to test the value of the prophecy should watch the returns from Wasco county the morning of June 5th," says the Oregonian.

The Observer says: "Mr. Moody has succeeded in tabling all the oily schemes for leasing the public domain; and transferring it to gamblers; but no relaxation should follow on the part of the people. Watch the Salt Lake congress, next month, for some more funny business."

The Sumpter people call it "eruptive disease." Moro folks still cling to the earlier nomenclature, "Filipino itch."

Ordinary Failing Eyesight

Is by some regarded as alarming, by others, treated too carelessly. All eyes begin to fail at 40 years of age; some have trouble a year or two before that time—the majority not until after. From 36 to 45 is the time you should consult a competent optician in order to start right, otherwise several dangers confront you, among which is that terrible disease, glaucoma, which leads to total or partial blindness.

It is estimated that 90 per cent of all cases of glaucoma are due to the "putting off" the use of glasses after failure begins. Scientific examination free by Theodore H. Liebe, optician, next door east of First National Bank on Second street.

An Honest Medicine for La Grippe.

George W. Wait, of Gardner, Me., says: "I have had the worst cough, cold, chills and grip and have taken lots of trash of no account but profit to the vendor. Chamberlain's cough Remedy is the only thing that has done any good whatever. I have used one bottle of it and the chills, cold and grip have all left me. I congratulate the manufacturer of an honest medicine." For sale by Blakeley & Houghton.
