

Asthma's Clutch

The sufferer from Asthma is constantly wheezing, gasping, hacking and clearing the throat. When a storm approaches, when there is a cloud of dust, when a room is being swept, or when there is a bad odor, breathing becomes most difficult. Often it seems as though someone was clutching the sufferer by the throat with a terrible grasp. The choking sensation is almost unbearable. The trouble sometimes lasts only a few minutes and again lingers on for many days. There is only one safe thing to do, and that is take Acker's English Remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles. Just what this medicine accomplishes is shown by the following letter from Mr. N. H. Andrews, a prominent resident of Springfield, Ohio, who writes:—

"W. H. Hooker & Co., New York: Gentlemen,—It affords me great pleasure to assure you that I have received both immediate and permanent relief from throat, bronchial and asthmatic troubles by using Acker's English Remedy, taken strictly according to directions. It is a blessing to humanity!"

Sold at 50c. per bottle, throughout the United States and Canada; and in England, at 1s. 2d. a bottle. If you are not satisfied after buying, return the bottle to your druggist and get your money back. We authorize the above guarantee.

THE MAN WITH A JAW.

By the weight of theories, he steps upon the stars and glances at the crowd. A smile of self-approval in his face, and on his back the burden of Democracy. Who made him dead to argument and sense? A thing that reasons not and never learns? Persistent most when mostly in the wrong? Who loosened and set free this nimble jaw? Who gave perpetual motion to this tongue? Whose hands set up the wheels within this brain?

Is this the man the Populists made and gave to be the ruler over this fair land? To sit in the White House and fight the festive better, when he faint would lose the treasury of our Uncle Sam?

Is this the dream he dreamed, who won for us the precious boon of national liberty? Of all the quacks who advertise their wares And lure the simple rustic to invest, There is no smoother character than this. What gulfs between him and our Washington!

Sieve of Populist follies, what to him An expanding commerce, the muscle of the mill, The perplexities of railroads short and long, The trackman's happy laugh, as he deftly drops A handful of gold in his ample jaw, The farmer's smile of self-approval At his expanding home market?

Through this sad shape the office-seekers look And dream of days to come when the poor voter, Humbled, betrayed and eternally done up, Shall open unto them the public purse.

O Fusionists and free silver cranks of every stripe: O Anarchy and Algeid, and sixteen to One: O Teller, Jones and Charley Towne, and all The thame tribe who preach unsound finance, What excuses will you make unto this man? How answer his burning question in that hour When all the polls have closed and nimble clerks Have counted up the ballots, and all who run May read in letters large this fatal legend, "Lincoln's boy orator has got it in the neck!"

Magnitude of the Task.

London, March 27.—Spencer Wilkinson, in the Morning Post today, warns the public against blinding themselves to the magnitude of the task which has yet to be performed in South Africa. He then refers to the fact that an immense distance has to be traversed, and points out that only the smaller portion of the Free State has yet been touched by the British advance.

"It is quite possible," he says, "that the Boers may be able to prolong the campaign for several months, and the British advance, though it must have a crushing effect, can be carried on only by the persistent exertions of those in the field and of those at home. Another task which does not appear to grow easier on nearer acquaintance is the settlement of the districts disturbed by rebellion. The pacification of these must be difficult, owing to their vast extent. Little can be done until Sir Alfred Milner is authorized to announce the government's decision as to how rebels should be treated and how loyal colonists are to be compensated for losses. There should be, of course, no policy of revenge, nor will the government forget that its first duty to itself is to vindicate its authority. The sooner these decisions are announced, the sooner will the trouble diminish."

Winston Churchill, in a dispatch this morning from Cape Town, urges a generous and forgiving policy towards the rebels instead of yielding to the demands of the loyalists for severe treatment. He says: "The Dutch traitor is less black than the renegade British-born burgher, but both are the result of our own mistakes and of crimes in Africa in former years. Unless actually caught fighting, rebels should be treated with the utmost leniency and generosity."

Ordinary Failing Eyesight

Is by some regarded as alarming, by others, treated too carelessly. All eyes begin to fail at 40 years of age; some have trouble a year or two before that time—the majority not until after. From 36 to 45 is the time you should consult a competent optician in order to start right, otherwise several dangers confront you, among which is that terrible disease, glaucoma, which leads to total or partial blindness.

It is estimated that 90 per cent of all cases of glaucoma are due to the "putting off" the use of glasses after failure begins. Scientific examination free by Theodore H. Liebe, optician, next door east of First National Bank on Second street.

Dissolution of Partnership.
