Senator Simon will vote against the Puerto Rican tariff bill principally because he thinks the overwhelming sentiment of the people of his state is in accord with him in this determination. He warns his Republican colleagues that the passage of the bill will cost the party a great many votes. This may all be very true, but the senator's reasons for deserting his party are those of the mere politician. Oregon had a senator once who dared to brave public opinion and vote as his judgment and conscience dictated. Time justified his action and today there is no more honored name in Oregon history than that of J. N. Dolph. It had representatives that kept their ear to the ground as Senator Simon does, and voted according to what they believed to be the "overwhelming sentiment" of the people. Time condemned their action and the party repudiated them. Mr. Simon mistakes the Oregonian for "the overwhelming sentiment of the people." He has his reward in that paper's present approval; but the mistake may cost him his head later on.

"The Republican party is assailing and the Democrats are defending the constitution and the supreme court," says Perry Belmont, the New York Democratic Plutocrat. But he adds with fine force: "Those who have themselves attacked the supreme court, standing on the Chicago platform, are disqualified from leading in such an issue." But the Republicans stand toward the constitution where they always stood. If they claim the right of congress to legislate for our new possessions and that congress is limited in this right only by the prohibitions of the constitution, they claim only what was claimed and acted upon by Jefferson, Monroe, Jackson, Polk, Pierce, Lincoln and Seward. If that is "assailing the constitution," the Democrats have led in the assault from Jefferson to Pierce, and the constitution is assailed today and has been assailed in every territory that has ever come under the flag.

There is little comfort for Democrats in the municipal election returns of last Monday. While the party made some gains in a few cities, notably in Michigan, in Ohio, the home of McKinley and Mark Hanna, the Republicans made gains almost everywhere, electing in some places officers where they had never elected one before.

Senator Simon says the overwhelming sentiment of his people compels him to vote against the Puerto Rican tariff bill. Malcolm A. Moody voted for the bill. Since then Republican conventions have been held in ten counties out of sixteen in his district, and if from these one single vote will go to the congressional convention against Mr. Moody there is not a man in Oregon knows it. The senator had better put his ear to the ground again.

"Shrewd Senator Simon," "Good Politician," "Accurate Gauger of Public Sentiment," "Exactly Correct, Mr. Simon." These are a few of the endearing epithets that the Me Too Telegram applies to the Oregon senator for deserting his party. Their cooing tenderness melts us to tears.

The Telegram wants to know who is to supply the Democrats with sufficient sense to enable them to win next fall. Couldn't the Telegram do it? It has been trying hard enough.

Did you ever hear how Mr. — of — street came to buy a wheel for his wife? Well, he came home one evening, and saw her sitting on the balustrade of the porch, as shown in the picture. He made up his mind then and there that she would look just too sweet for anything on a bicycle. And she does. But the kind of bicycle has a good deal to do with looking sweet. So if you want to look sweet, buy your wheel (as did Mr. —) of the agent for
