WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

A diamond ring was raffled last night at the Umatilla House and won by J. Saraby.

Teachers' examination in full blast today with six male and nineteen female applicants.

Have you noticed A. M. Williams & Co.'s east show window? Every man in town should see it.

Two loads of hogs from Island City, Yallowa county, were fed at the stock yards today on their way to Troutdale.

Mr. Wm. Michell, who has been quite ill for over a week, was able to walk to his office yesterday for the first time.

A late London dispatch says the war office proposes to land at Cape Town before the end of May, 20,000 horses from New Orleans, Buenos Ayres and Australian ports.

The senate last Monday, by a vote of 10 to 16 rejected an amendment to the Indian appropriation bill providing for sectarian schools. The amendment was offered by Jones of Arkansas.

The Easter entertainment and sale to be given by the ladies of St. Paul's Guild will be held on Thursday of Easter week at the Baldwin opera house. The entertainment is in good hands and will be of a high order.

W. D. Saumons, head waiter at the Umatilla House, will leave here on the 1st of May to become a member of the E. E. Eva and Earl French Company, who are playing "Too Much Johnson" in the Northwest circuit.

Hundreds of miles of ballasted or clean gravelled track for the Northern Pacific's North Coast Limited to run over, when it starts, on April 29th. The absence of dust will make that observation car a thing of beauty and a joy forever.

Dr. Emmens, the noted chemist, lately claimed to have made a discovery whereby he can make gold from silver, says an exchange. That's nothing, friend, Mr. Bryan's coming to Roseburg reminds us that he has been doing that right along for the past three or four years.—Plandueler.

The Tacoma News says that since the admission of Washington as a state, scarcely ten years ago, over fifty murders have been committed in Pierce county, in which Tacoma is situated, and only two of the murderers, now under sentence of death, have been convicted of murder in the first degree.

The four men who robbed the brewery till yesterday, were brought before Recorder Gates today and committed to the county jail. They will be tried tomorrow under the charge of larceny from a dwelling. They gave their names as Pat Conway, J. C. Hawthorne, Henry Lowe and Mike O'Brien.

Every man has good use for a suit case. Just the thing to take along on short trips, as it is large enough to hold a change of clothes, etc., and not large enough to be found inconvenient. Those on exhibition in A. M. Williams & Co.'s east window are just right and they are free to suit customers.

A. B. McMillen, a former resident of The Dalles who worked a printer in the Times-Mountaineer office before the birth of THE CHRONICLE, is in the city from Auburn, Wash., looking for a location to open a first class shoe store. Mr. McMillen has already rented a dwelling and will move his family here in a few days.

L. Connell, O. C. Grey, W. J. Schmidt, Ad. Lowery and Fred Merritt of Crook county are at the European House. They arrived in town yesterday, having brought with them as far as Ketchum's place on 5-Mile 128 head of beef cattle. The cattle were turned out to pasture till a purchaser is found.

At the Prohibitionist state convention held in Portland yesterday, C. J. Bright, of Wasco, was nominated for supreme judge; Leslie Butler, now of Hood River, was nominated for congressman from the second congressional district; F. R. Spaulding, of Hood River, was nominated for one of the presidential electors and Dayton Taylor, of The Dalles, was nominated as a delegate to the national Prohibitionist convention.

Every British reader should know the origin of the sobriquet "Tommy Atkins." Tommy Atkins was the name of a sentry who, when the Europeans in Lucknow were flying for the residency from the mutineers, refused to leave his post, and so perished. After that it became the fashion to speak of a conspicuously heroic soldier in the fights with the rebels as "a regular Tommy Atkins."—London News.

A block of granite from the Raymond, California, quarries, weighing 6500 pounds, was taken to the Odd Fellows' cemetery yesterday by Louis Comini to form the base of a sarcophagus monument to be placed over the remains of the late Mark Vanbibber, who was drowned in the Columbia river, near Crater's point a few years ago. The monument will be of red granite, from Red Beach, Maine, and will be the largest sarcophagus monument in the cemetery.

Sheepmen can now leave their flocks for a day at a time and no harm will come to them, says the Lakeview Examiner. W. K. Barry's bend was without a herder for six days, and wandered away from their grazing ground, and there was no perceptible loss. This is a good argument in favor of the non-repeal of the coyote bounty law, as so many of these animals have been destroyed that the bounty money to be paid hereafter will not amount to much, and at the same time the work of extermination will go merrily on.

In launching the steamer Reliance last Wednesday morning she stuck in about five feet of water and her shoe was badly twisted. Yesterday morning the boat was hauled out on the ways, where the damage will be repaired as rapidly as possible. She will be ready for her trial trip tomorrow, and will probably go on the run about the latter part of the week or the first of next. Messrs. Allaway, Glenn, McInerney and Crowe will leave on this afternoon's train for Portland to make arrangements for the trial trip.

A royal revel with Old Mumus is promised theater-goers of this city when the bright and breezy play of "Have You Seen Smith," which has created a furor wherever seen, will appear here. As a mirth-producer "Have You Seen Smith" is pronounced an enormous success. From the rise of the curtain to the final fall of the same the interest never flags, the humor never loses its piquant flavor, and the entire piece goes ripping merrily on to an uproarously funny termination. Incidental to the action of the play, a perfect plethora of catchy specialties are introduced.

Senator Beveridge has been out in the Philippines islands, and, among other interesting incidents of his stay there, tells the following: "One morning I dismounted at an outpost occupied by Kansas troops, and, unslinging my glasses, proceeded to inspect the Philippines, who were plainly visible from that point. A young Kansas boy approached and said: 'Senator, if you stand there long you'll get hit—shot out of you.' 'Why, can they shoot so far?' 'Yes, and farther, too; the air was full of holes here not an hour ago.'" The senator hastily retired, leaving the Kansas boys in possession of the perforated air.

He was not disorderly but simply stupidly drunk. All he asked was to be let alone and sleep on the floor of the saloon and at short, waking intervals stagger up to the bar, get another drink and go back to his lair again. He started out yesterday morning with $30 in his pocket—started out to prove that he was as willing, unreasoning hog—and succeeded. His poor little wife, not long out of her teens, had begged him to come home, but in vain. Then she appealed to the marshal and the officer put him in the lock-up at 3:30 this afternoon till he would sleep off his debauch. He had $5.30 left but he had demonstrated that he was a hog.

The proper place for a postage stamp on mail matter is the upper right-hand corner of the address side, says Edwin C. Madden, third assistant postmaster-general. This facilitates cancellation and distribution, and insures prompt and proper treatment throughout the service. Stamps placed elsewhere are liable to be overlooked, and the matter mistreated as unpaid, or otherwise, and perhaps delayed in dispatch; therefore, unless impracticable, stamps should be affixed on the "face" of all mail matter. Postmasters should advise patrons that the department does not hold postal officials responsible for delay in dispatch or wrong treatment resulting from the improper placing of postage stamps.

Sour Dough Hotel.

The curious thing about the letter is the letter-head on which it is written, says the Telegram, speaking of a letter written to a Portland man by a former fellow-townman Dawson City, Alaska. It bears the stamp of the "Sour Dough Hotel," 1333 Iceicle avenue. According to the letter-head it is the best house north of Mexico; first-class in every particular. Every known fluid, water excepted, for sale at the bar. Private entrance for ladies by ladder in the rear. Rates, one ounce per day. (Indians and niggers charged double.) Special rates to ministers and the gambling "perfers." Following are the house rules: "Guests will be provided with breakfast and dinner, but must rustle their own lunch.

"Spiked boots must be removed at night.
"Dogs not allowed in the bunks.
"Candles and hot water charged extra.
"Towels changed weekly.
"Craps, chuck-luck, stud horse po' er and black jack games run by the management.
"Dogs bought and sold."
The following cheerful information is printed in red ink: "Insect powder for sale at the bar."

Astoria City Fathers Please Copy.

The following rat story, whose author is vouched for by the East Oregonian, is respectfully commended to the attention of the municipal authorities of Astoria, who are now wrestling with the problem of rat extermination:

"Rats became quite a pest at our house," said a Pendleton paterfamilias to an East Oregonian reporter, "and one day an old lady told us that if we would write a letter to the rats and place it under the sidewalk, asking the rats please to leave and telling them where they should go, the rats all would leave at once. This I did, and, sure enough, the rats left and we have had not one around the place since the letter was placed under the sidewalk."

PUERTO RICAN BILL PASSED.

So Says a Late Telegram Sent by Representative Moody.

WASHINGTON, April 11, 1900.

EDITOR DALLIES CHRONICLE:

The house passed the Puerto Rican bill today by eight majority, nine Republicans voting against it and three Democrats voting for it. I confidently expect the public will ultimately approve the wisdom of the measure.

MALCOLM A. MOODY.

Shanghaied Mayor Vincent.

When the overland passenger train rolled into the O. R. & N. station this morning, a big crowd of Pendleton and Umatilla county delegates and politicians were assembled, many bound for Portland to attend the state conventions and others merely having gone to the station to see the politicians off and impart wise counsel as to the action in the state conventions. Among those who did not intend to go was Dr. F. W. Vincent, mayor of Pendleton, chairman of the Republican county committee, and late chairman of the Republican county convention. The doctor had lots of business which kept him from deciding to go to Portland, and he so informed the others.

Without saying anything about it, Senator Taylor and Judge Fee put up a job on the mayor, and, just before the train pulled out, the doctor was seized by half a dozen, rushed on board the Pullman, jammed down into a seat and, so it is said, sat on by numerous men until the train had attained too great speed to permit him to jump off.

The shanghaied mayor is now on the overland, flying toward Portland. It is intimated by some of his friends that he will bring an action for exemplary damages and for the expenses incurred while in Portland.—East Oregonian.

Wagons and Buggies from the Factory

I. R. A. Gilley, representing the Spaulding Manufacturing Co., of Grinnell, Ohio, is at the East End with a carload of forty-five hacks and buggies which he and a force of men will try and dispose of in the country tributary to The Dalles. The machines are direct from the factory, and as Mr. Gilley and his co-laborers are simply the salaried employees of the company, each conveyance will be sold without the intervention of a half dozen middlemen, each of whom must have a dividend from the price the purchaser has to pay.

These men have been operating over much of the Willamette valley, the Big Bend country in Washington, around Walla Walla, North Yakima, the Grande Ronde valley, Pendleton and other places in Washington and Oregon. They sell direct to the purchaser. Each machine is built of the best material and by the best mechanics money can be procured and is sold subject to any

Did you ever hear how Mr. ———, of ——— street came to buy a wheel for his wife? Well, he came home one evening, and saw her sitting on the belustrade of the porch, as shown in the picture. He made up his mind then and there that she would look just too sweet for anything on a bicycle. And she does. But the kind of bicycle has a good deal to do with looking sweet. So if you want to look sweet, buy your wheel (as did Mr. ———) of the agent for
