WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Remember the dance tonight at the adwin.

The Observer says Moro is at last leared of—Philippino itch.

The Pioneer says Day Bros. expect to commence work on their saw mill at Cascade Locks in the near future.

We learn from A. W. Mohr that the Albany will come back here Monday with a load of rails for the portage.

Two dollars reward will be paid by Mrs. Hugh Fraser for the recovery of a dark grey canary bird that escaped from its cage on the 27th.

W. W. Hoyle, a carpenter and builder of this city, has filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States court in Portland. His liabilities amount to $2918.50 and his assets to $425.

State Superintendent Ackerman arrived here on the noon passenger and his afternoon accompanied Professor C. L. Gilbert to Dufur to take part in the graduating exercises at that place tonight.

Mr. J. F. Ferguson, of Hood River, was in town last night attending a meeting of the local Odd Fellows. He was accompanied by Mrs. Ferguson and both returned home on the Dalles City this morning.

Father Bronsgeest was a passenger on the Dalles City this morning for Cascade Locks, where he will hold services tomorrow. Services at The Dalles Catholic church will be conducted by Rev. Father Muller, S. O. B.

J. C. Meins has been notified by the commissioner of pensions that Jacob C. Bias, of company M, Second Oregon Infantry, (Spanish war) has been allowed a pension of $6 per month, to date from March 13, 1899.

The cook of the steamer Iralda got on a "high lonesome" last night and in consequence spent the night in the calaboose. He was fined $2 this morning which, with an empty exchequer, he promised to pay and was released.

J. A. Hunt, who opened a furniture store here a month ago, is packing up with the intention of leaving in a few days. He intends for the present to take his family to Hood River and may go into business there after a couple of months rest.

The Oregon Historical Society is making an effort to have the old pioneer trail across the mountains marked by a series of permanent monuments. The governor of Idaho has been asked to cooperate and he has signified his willingness to do so.

The Dalles Commission House will keep fresh milk at all times on hand and deliver it anywhere in the city at the following prices: One quart, $2 per month; three pints, $3; two quarts, $4; three quarts $5.50; cream 20 cents per pint. Fresh butter every day. 18s 1m

The new postage stamp books have been placed on sale at the postoffice. The books are of a convenient size for carrying in the vest pocket, and are in three sizes, carrying twelve, twenty-four and forty-eight two-cent stamps. Leaves of translucent paper prevent the stamps from sticking together. One cent is added to the amount of stamps.

Brother Ireland, of the Sherman County Observer, has a warm spot in his heart for the Oregon hen. He records a strong remonstrance against the weather clerk for sending the late cold spell and says: "It isn't treating hens right to send this chill when they have so much work to do." We infer that the brother's rations of hen fruit have been cut off. Hence, possibly, these tears.

The ladies of the Good Intent Society who pledged themselves to raise a certain amount of money for the church debt, announce that they are ready to make their report, and will do so at a social to be given at the Methodist church Tuesday evening, to which all are invited. An admission fee of 10 cents will be charged, those having subscribed being admitted free. A program has been prepared and lunch will be served. 28 2t

Willard Taylor, of Dufur, known in The Dalles as Saturday Taylor because he comes to town every Saturday with butter and other farm products, was in town today, as usual, for the eleven hundred and ninety-fifth time, missing just one Saturday in twenty-three years. In all these twenty-three years there was only one Saturday when the weather was so bad that he could not make the round trip of 30 miles. This, Mr. Taylor thinks, could be said of few countries in the world.

Captain Johnston took the Albany to Portland this afternoon, after having accomplished the work for which she was chartered, namely, testing the navigability of Three-Mile rapids. The Albany or some other boat will be brought here in the near future to transfer the construction material for the portage road from here to the present terminus at the big eddy. Captain Johnston will return here Monday on the Dalles City and take charge of the Reliance, which expects to make her first trip to Portland on Tuesday.

The libel suit of Jacob E. Jacobsen et al. vs. The Dalles, Portland & Astoria Navigation Company was dismissed in the United States circuit court at Portland yesterday. Jacobsen had sued the company for $10,000 for the death by drowning of his step-son, who was in a skiff that came into collision with the Sarah Dixon, then in commission by the D. P. & A. N. Company. The skiff was apparently racing with the Sarah Dixon and attempted to cross her bow when she was run down and capsized. It was believed the men on board were under the influence of liquor. The accident happened some three years ago.

Captain Johnston took the Albany to the big eddy today with 1200 railroad ties aboard. The trip was accomplished with ease. The captain says there is no more danger or difficulty in crossing Three-Mile rapids at the present stage of water, or at a lower stage, than there is in climbing the rapids of the Cascades. At a higher stage of water the trip would be difficult or perhaps impossible. A relatively small expenditure of money used in blasting out a rock on the Oregonian side of the current would make the rapids navigable at any stage of water. The captain could easily have taken up 2000 ties had he not desired to make assurance of success doubly sure.

The young men of the Students' Literary Club have finally organized themselves into a Y. M. C. A., adopted a constitution and elected officers. The officers are T. Brownhill, president; H. Northrup, vice-president; Clyde Riddell, recording secretary, and Rev. U. F. Hawk, treasurer. The committee on membership report that already about sixty members have signed the roll, with the prospect of a probable increase to one hundred and fifty. The young men will hold a meeting in the Congregational church tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, with Will Cross as leader. An interesting program is promised and a profitable time is expected. All persons, young or old, male or female, interested in this work are cordially invited to attend.

Complaint is made at this office by residents of the bluff of some boys that have been in the habit of setting fire to their neighbors' barns so often that patience toward them has ceased to be a virtue. Last summer they set fire to Mrs. Hart's barn and it was burned to the ground. Last Monday they set fire to C. H. Brown's new barn but fortunately the fire was discovered before it had made much headway. Some time before they set fire to Charley Adams' barn and it too happily was discovered in time. These young firebugs are a terror to the neighborhood and one complainant warns them that no future offense will go unpunished. If their natural guardians will not take care of them the law will be invoked to do so.

When the late Bill Nye was editor of a newspaper in Laramie he had his office over a livery stable. The directions at the lower entrance read: "Twist the gray mule's tail and take the elevator." And now comes J. Nat Hadsen, a latter-day humorist, of the Granite Boulder, tells the La Grande Journal, who is triumphing smilingly over the difficulties of getting out a pioneer newspaper, with the following announcement: "Our friends should note that the front entrance to Dittmar's barn is the front and only entrance to the Boulder office in the rear. Speak to the horses and they will not kick you—except the gray mare next to our door; she is a holy terror, if she gets scared, and we won't be responsible for any damages."

Notice of Estray.

I have taken up as an estray a dark brown mare, aged about seven years, about fifteen hands high and weighing about 1000 pounds; branded quarter circle 6 on left stifle. The animal came to my feed yard in The Dalles about two weeks ago and could not be kept away. The owner can have her by proving property and paying charges of feed and advertising; other wise I shall proceed with her according to law.
