The Times-Mountaineer is opposed to the Simon-Corbett ring. So is THE CHRONICLE. THE CHRONICLE hates the ring because it is a bad lot. The Times-Mountaineer fights it for the Democratic capital it expects to make out of it. THE CHRONICLE warns its contemporary that there is no Democratic capital to be had from that source. Whatever infamy there was in the legislative hold-up, which our contemporary so very justly condemns, the Democrats were in it to the neck. If the Times Mountaineer wants the Democratic participation in this infamy stirred up, all right. But if not, let it keep silence in all the languages it commands. One thing only we mention at this time. The Republicans of this legislative and senatorial district had the grace to leave every man at home who was connected with the hold-up in 1897. The Democrats have added insult to injury by renominating a man for the lower house who was in the front rank of the infamous lot, who was bought twice and then had not the manliness to stay bought, and who did other things, under the nurturing care of the Populist Jonathan Bourne, meanwhile, that we dare not defile this paper by putting them in print. No; the Times Mountaineer had better drop the hold-up business right here and now.

No reflection is intended upon any sheriff that Wasco county ever had, when it is mentioned as a matter of common belief that the business of the sheriff's office was never in better hands than in those of Robert Kelly, the present incumbent, who has been nominated to succeed himself. The books of the office are kept as they ought to be kept, and as they never were kept under any other administration. The taxes are collected up closer than they ever were before, and the result in this respect alone is a saving to the county of much of the expense of the office. Moreover, the sheriff is never absent from his post of duty, while the business outside the office is always attended to faithfully and punctually. And lastly, and as a fitting compliment of any public servant, Wasco county never had a more genial or more obliging sheriff than Robert Kelly, or one that would do more to please and oblige any one who has business to do in the office. For these reasons alone the people of Wasco county want no change in the sheriff's office and will vote for none.

This is going to be an awful hard year for the fellow who's a Democrat in Spokane, says the Chronicle of that city. He can't hurrah for the soldiers on Decoration day—that's militarism; he can't help hoist the flag on the Fourth of July—that's imperialism; he can't tell his friends to come West and take up land on the Colville reservation—that's expansion; he can't welcome the nation's president to this city—that's McKinleyism; he can't cheer for the queen of the industrial exposition—that's the pomp of monarchy; he can't even get in with the rest of us and brag about the wonderful way Spokane is gaining in population, and wealth, and beauty, and industry—that's prosperity. And when the election returns come in—well, he can go away out behind the barn and cry.

Cyclone Davis says: "We are going to burst the hills in twain and give the silver and gold to the people." Won't that be nice! says an exchange. "Burst the hills in twain!" But that would be work, and the idea is to avoid labor. All of these bills of gold and silver—or, excuse us, silver and gold—will have to be stamped by the government or it would not be a medium of exchange. When all would roll in silver and gold, none need work and if any get too hungry they can eat silver and gold. 'Tis a beautiful dream with the practical part left for the wakening moments in the morning.

No man will be allowed to vote at the Democratic primaries over in Washington unless he pledges himself to support Bryan for the presidency. This is a species of despotism, not to say imperialism, that has no parallel in the history of the party of "Emperor William."

Everything tended to disaster during the last Democratic administration, and since then everything has moved in the direction of prosperity. If this is "mere coincidence," vote for the coincidence, says the Times-Democrat.
