For Justice of the Peace of The Dalles—Timothy Brownhill.

Did not the Simon-Corbett crowd dictate the nominations for the legislative ticket in the three senatorial and two representative districts to which Wasco county is attached? asks the Times-Mountaineer. THE CHRONICLE answered this question before it was asked. The "Simon crowd" had nothing to do, directly or indirectly, with the nomination of any man on the republican ticket in the districts named. The "Simon crowd" did not attempt to dictate these nominations and would not have been permitted if they had. The nominees of these districts had no favors to ask of the "Simon crowd" and received none. They will go to the legislative assembly absolutely unpledged. And this is precisely as it should be. But if otherwise, what then? Are the voters of the district to jump out of the Simon-Corbett frying pan into the democratic, populist, socialist stew? We trow not. A burned child dreads the fire. We have been there before.

Well, admitting that THE CHRONICLE erred—and it really did it honestly, although perhaps the democrats won't believe it—in the location of the democratic headquarters, would not the old sign, with the legend about the "second-hand furniture" and "clearance sale" be just the thing to place over the real headquarters? Honor bright, now, is not the democratic platform a job lot of old planks stolen from all the forces of unrest, from populism, socialism, copperheadism, Debsism, greenbackism and anarchy? And won't the "clearance" of this homogenous agglomeration be the correct thing for every self-respecting and patriotic American to do June 4th?

Multnomah county is satisfied with Mr. Moody, says the Telegram. Eastern Oregon, his own section, whose people know him so well, can rely upon his fidelity to them. Therefore, every citizen, whether republican, democrat or populist, has a practical and important interest in having Mr. Moody stay where he is. If those opposed to Mr. Moody politically think that political considerations outweigh the material advantages to be derived to this state from having him in congress, it is their privilege to act upon that view.

There are others, no doubt, who will consider these advantages paramount, and vote to that effect, which will be the part of wisdom.

The treasury department has ordered a special agent to proceed to the Pacific coast to investigate the matter of the large influx of Japanese coolies to this country within the last few months. The question is still troubling the immigration officials. Until two or three months ago the immigration of Japanese to the United States was small. It has increased so as to excite suspicion that the men are coming here as contract laborers. The treasury has also requested the state department to ask American consuls to investigate the matter and make reports.

The Massachusetts republican platform says plainly that the greedy and oppressive trusts that enhance the cost of the necessities of life "must be sternly dealt with." The other kind of combinations, those that are for lawful purposes and work no injury to the public, are to be let alone. That, says the democratic New York Times, is the plain, honest truth about the trusts, and it will make its impression on the voter, unless Mr. Bryan's friends can find something better and more convincing to say.

Some democrats seem to have forgotten that in the two democratic platforms made at Charleston and Baltimore in 1899 was this plank: "Resolved, that the democratic party is in favor of the acquisition of the Island of Cuba, on such terms as will be honorable to ourselves and just to Spain, at the earliest practicable moment."

Henry Watterson calls "the hopeless state of prosperity" the surest republican state this year. That is an advance on the democrats out this way who claim the prosperity and good times came by chance, and that the republicans were simply lucky in getting around about the same time.

It is still a moot question in Oregon politics whether the democrats have swallowed the populist party or the populists have swallowed the democratic party.
