Down to Business

IT'S ABOUT TIME that business and the weather struck a regular gait instead of a regular gale. So far this month the Earth seems to have been hobnobbing with Aquarius. The old song may be made to read—

"Oh, hand me down my cough drops
And umbrella right away,
For I'm to be Queen of the May, mother,
I'm to be Queen of the May."

Just received. Rough Rider suits, just the thing for boys. They are wear-resisting. Pease & Mays.

The ladies of the Episcopal guild are requested to meet at the residence of Mrs. Hugh Logan Wednesday afternoon.

The catch of salmon has been very light for nearly a week. Quite a number of the wheels have had to be elevated out of the water to escape destruction by drift wood.

M. Rand, the hot tomatoes man, has opened up a first-class lunch counter at the Umatilla House and will furnish lunches and meals at all hours from 8 p. m. till 5 a. m.

A certificate of nomination by petition was filed today by Harry Liebs as democratic candidate for the legislature for the 21st district, including Wasco, Crook, Klamath and Lake counties.

Have you seen those Rough Rider suits at Pease & Mays, made from the genuine kiki cloth, an exact fac simile of the suits worn by Roosevelt's Rough Riders, made in ages from 4 to 14; just the thing for the boys.

W. S. Meyers today moved his office furniture and library into the Masonic building from the office he built himself and has occupied for twenty-one years. The old office building has been rented to the restaurant folks next door.

Petitions in favor of eleven new county roads were presented before the last county court and acted upon favorably. This large number of petitions is the direct result of a steady if not rapid increase of settlement and population.

Two young bloods, who had spent Saturday night at a dance somewhere, loaded themselves with booze yesterday morning and were about to make a vicious cobble-stone attack on an acquaintance when the marshal arrested both and kept them in the calaboose till they had sobered up.

A young man named C. W. Davis, from Wasco county, who was en route to the Butte Creek sawmill with a view to procuring employment, fell through a manger hole in the Fossil livery barn on Wednesday night, and when an inventory of his injuries was taken it was found that one leg and his nose were broken. He was conveyed to the Mc Kenzie hotel, where Dr. Shaw did a good job of repairs on him, and he is now getting along nicely.—Fossil Journal.

The little girl stood on the street corner sobbing as if her heart would break. On the stone flagging were the bits of a broken pitcher. "There, there, little girl," said the benevolent man, don't cry, don't cry, little girl; 'never cry over spilt milk.' "But it isn't milk," sobbed the girl, "it's beer."

Oregon is second of all the states in the union now in the production of wool, although not second in number of sheep owned. Montana is first in wool and sheep, having clipped in 1899 over 22,000,000 pounds of wool and having over 3,000,000 sheep. Oregon's clip was more than 20,000,000.

There will be a big republican rally and public speaking at Antelope next Thursday, commencing at 11 o'clock a. m. Among the speakers will be Hon. J. N. Williamson, candidate for joint senator, and F. W. Wilson, of this city. The same speakers will be at Dufer on Saturday, the 19th instant.

Charles Hindman informs the Prineville Review man that he recently came across the mountains on the Santiam route. He encountered but little snow and it was not over four feet deep in any place. Crossing has now set in and the work on the west side is being pushed along. This is very early for crossing these mountains.

The youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Al Bettington, a girl of about five months, died yesterday and was buried this forenoon. The peculiarly distressing feature of this death is that only about a month has passed since the eldest child of this family, a fine boy, was laid in the grave. The bereaved parents have the deep sympathy of the people of this community.

Mrs. Otis Patterson left today for Heppner where she goes to attend the funeral of Mrs. C. A. Rhea, wife of the president of the first National bank of Heppner. Mrs. Rhea's death occurred yesterday morning and her funeral will take place tomorrow. The lady's maiden name was Adkins. She was a highly respected and beloved Oregon pioneer and had lived in and around Heppner for the past thirty years.

The Y. M. C. A. will hold their first business meeting in the council chambers tonight. It is of the first importance that all who have signed the roll of membership should be present. The meeting will settle the question of its permanent home, elect five directors, an advisory board of three members and appoint permanent committees. All who are interested in this work should be present tonight and help to give the association a good start.

The oil factory on Tongue point, which manufacturers a superior grade of refined fish oil from the heads, tails and entrails of the salmon, is working night and day, says the Astorian. The launch Rowena is in the service of the factory and delivers the fish offal from all the canneries along the river. It is stated by parties in a position to know that the refined oil from this factory commands not only ready sale but at a good figure. It is probable the capacity of the factory will be enlarged.

The young people of the Methodist church are making arrangements for a musical entertainment to be given in the church next Friday evening. A fine program is promised, and some of the best musical talent in the city has been engaged. A special feature of the evening will be musical selections played on glasses by Archie McCully. The full program will be published later.

Judge Bennett closed a week's campaign in Lake county by speaking at Paisley Saturday night. The judge will doubtless explain to the wool men out that way how it was that they only got six cents for their wool under the last democratic administration and have got good grounds for expecting three times six cents for the present clip. The judge's railroad plank will fool nobody out in Lake county.

Cardinal Sebastian Martinelli, apostolic delegate to the United States, will arrive here from the East tomorrow on the 12:35 passenger. He will be met by a committee of prominent churchmen from Portland, consisting of Rev. C. J. O'Reilly, J. F. O'Shea, Mark O'Neil, Hon. J. M. Gearing, Henry E. McGinn, R. M. Dooly and Fred Dresser. The Reliance will hold over till 1 o'clock p. m. and take the party to Portland.

Senator Teller's resolution is the least offensive expression of sympathy yet offered in behalf of the Boers; but it should not pass, says the Spokesman-Review. We shall do well in these matters to heed the good old injunction, "mind your own business." That, indeed, is the essence of the Monroe doctrine. Our business is with the American continent and the commerce of the Pacific, and we are in no wise concerned with the political affairs of South Africa. Pro-Boer resolutions would do us no good, and they could not help the Boers.

An anti-cigarette league has been formed at Washington to combat the sale of cigarettes to minors. Willis Brown, of Chicago, founder of the league, advances some startling statements as the result of a two-weeks investigation. In one public school in the national capital, located in the most fashionable section, he found, he says, that out of 27 boys and 10 girls in the eighth grade, 21 boys and six girls were smokers. In the fifth grade, composed mainly of children from 8 to 10 years of age, out of 33 pupils, nine boys and three girls were cigarette smokers.

Professor J. C. Merriam, of the University of California, and H. W. Furlong, a student in that institution, arrived here yesterday and are sitting themselves out for a three-months search for fossils in the region of the John Day. Judge Davis, of this city, will accompany them, and there will be six persons in the party when they all get together. They need seven horses for the trip and are trying to procure them here. They want a moderately heavy span of draft horses and five head of good saddle horses. Parties having a surplus in this line might find a customer by calling on Professor Merriam or Mr. Furlong at the Umatilla House.

After Timothy Brownhill had passed a successful examination last week at Pendleton for admission to the bar, Judge Moore examined certain credentials of the applicant which testified in particular to Mr. Brownhill's "truthfulness and honesty." The judge scanned the credentials with a merry twinkle in his eye and then assuming a look of severity said: "Young man, truthfulness and honesty are not generally considered the qualities that commend an applicant for admission to the bar." But Tim got his certificate, just the same.

The Columbia river had reached 31 feet above low water at this place this morning. The Regulator will today transfer her freight and passengers at the locks to the Dalles City, as she is not able to climb the rapids below the locks at the present stage of water. The Reliance and Dalles City can make the trip at any stage when it is possible to get through the locks. The daily river bulletin says the Columbia and Snake rivers will continue to rise slowly for several days. Till the Regulator is able to resume her through trips she will leave here at 7 a. m.

J. H. Jackson was recently appointed by the authorities to collect the poll tax in the Dalles precincts, and it will be readily believed that delinquents are not at present particularly anxious to be on speaking acquaintance with him. The other day a clerk in one of the stores who had not paid his poll was busy erecting a big stack of bottled goods in one of the show windows when Jackson hovered in sight on the sidewalk outside. Supposing the collector was after him, the clerk made a dash for the back of the store, and in the hurry upset the stack of bottles, breaking enough of them to have paid his poll twice over. If there is any moral in this story it is that it does not always pay to run away from the poll tax man.
