FOR AN OPEN RIVER.

In an address to "the people of the Columbia river basin," the Portland chamber of commerce urges immediate and united effort to secure an open river to the sea. It advocates the immediate construction by the government of a portage road around the obstructions at Celilo and The Dalles, for temporary relief, and the ultimate construction of a canal and locks.

With the portage road, steamboats could gather the products along the Columbia and the Snake rivers and carry them to the upper end of a short portage. There the cargoes could be transferred to cars, and from the cars delivered to other steamers at the lower end of the road. Thence, by means of the existing canal and locks at the Cascades, there is open navigation to the sea. After the completion of the proposed canal and locks at Celilo, steamboats could run without interruption from Lewiston to the sea.

To this end, the Portland chamber of commerce "urges upon every citizen of the Columbia river basin to interest himself in the effort by using all his influence to bear on the commercial bodies in his section, on the state senators and representatives from the various districts in the country whose future prosperity is involved, and, at all times and everywhere, to earnestly assist in the effort to cause the making of a new survey for a canal and locks, and the immediate construction of a portage railway, necessary in transporting materials and labor for the canal construction; which, though built for that purpose, shall be open and free to the public for transportation purposes until a canal and locks shall be completed and duly thrown open for the public service."

It is the belief of the chamber of commerce that the result of these improvements would be to "control the freight rates of nearly the whole country. If this splendid region is to be developed to its fullest extent, cheap transportation must be established along the line of least resistance—the Columbia river."

REPUBLICANISM FORTY YEARS AGO.

Last Tuesday, the 29th ult., a meeting was held in Bloomington, Illinois, to commemorate the convention that met in that town forty-four years ago to organize the republican party in that state. Abraham Lincoln was one of the delegates and made a wonderful and characteristic speech. In the fierce light of the present democratic contention that the constitution, of its own force, follows the flag, it is interesting to note what the founders of the republican party thought of that doctrine forty-four years ago. The convention in part

"Resolved, That we hold, in accordance with the opinions and practices of all the great statesmen of all parties for the first sixty years of the administration of the government, that, under the constitution, congress possesses full power to prohibit slavery in the territories; and that, whilst we will maintain all the constitutional rights of the South, justice, humanity, the principles of freedom as expressed in our declaration of independence and our national constitution and the purity and perpetuity of our government require that power should be exerted to prevent the extension of slavery into the territories heretofore free."

Bradstreet reports that failures in the month of April were not only fewer than in any corresponding month for a number of years, but were 13 per cent smaller than March, and were in fact lighter than those of any month recorded since September last year, when embarrassments and liabilities were the smallest reported in any single month for the last seven years past. This is in line with the general opinion that business reached its most prosperous condition since 1892-3 in the autumn of last year, but is not in line with the belief in some quarters that business is so very much less prosperous now. This latter view is occasioned by the fact that prices have declined somewhat and is undoubtedly erroneous. Prices were much too high last year as all conservative people believed. They are now seeking more nominal levels. As a consequence business in general is undoubtedly better for it, and there is hardly any question but that the volume is as great, probably much greater than it was last year at this time.

Now that the election is over the next thing on the program is the Fourth of July, and The Dalles, with its customary exchange of hospitality, will depopulate itself on that day and celebrate with its friends and neighbors in the surrounding country.

A Practical Demonstration.

A fact proven by actual demonstration is more satisfactory than any theoretical proposition. Realizing this, and knowing that they have a proposition which they can guarantee, the Oregon Sanitary Closet Company, of The Dalles, Or., have constructed one of their sanitary closets and put the same into actual operation. The closet is now located in the rear of Chas. Burchett's bicycle repair store on Second, between Federal and Laughlin streets, The Dalles, and the public are cordially invited to call and inspect the same. This company is now prepared to fill orders promptly. Parties desiring this system will be furnished full information upon application to or correspondence with D. S. Dufur, The Dalles, Or. m31-1wd3tw

A Good Cough Medicine.

It speaks well for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy when druggists use it in their own families in preference to any other. "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for the past five years with complete satisfaction to myself and customers," says Druggist J. Goldsmith, Van Etten, N. Y. "I have always used it in my own family both for ordinary coughs and colds and for the cough following la grippe, and find it very efficacious." For sale by Blakeley & Houghton.

A Sprained Ankle Quickly Cured.

"At one time I suffered from a severe sprain of the ankle," says Geo. E. Cary, editor of the Guide, Washington, Va. "After using several well recommended medicines without success, I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and am pleased to say that relief came as soon as I began its use and a complete cure speedily followed." Sold by Blakeley & Houghton.

Small in size and great in results are DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills that cleanse the liver and bowels. They do not gripe.

Columbia Southern Warehouse.

At Shaniko the Columbia Southern Railway Co. controls 80x100 feet of the Shaniko warehouse building, to be used as a freight warehouse, through which they will receive and forward freight in the usual manner. The impression that all business must be done through forwarding houses is an erroneous one and we take this means of dispelling it. Freight received and held twenty-four hours will be turned over to a forwarding house subject to the order of the consignee. The rate on wool in sacks or in bales from Shaniko to The Dalles is 25 cents per 100 pounds.

For rates or other information call on or address C. E. LYTLE, G. F. & P. A., or GEO. F. ROSS, Agent, Shaniko, Or.

Starvation never yet cured dyspepsia. Persons with indigestion are already half starved. They need plenty of wholesome food.
