

Do You Cough?

"I guess I used to be like everybody else. When I caught cold, I just let it alone, thinking it would cure itself in a few days; of course the coughing and spitting of mucus sometimes lasted several weeks, but after a while the trouble would subside. I always noticed, however, that each cold was worse than the one before. My throat seemed to get weaker, and the least change in the weather started the coughing again. The last cold was the most severe of all. I was really frightened. Cough drops and home treatment did no good. A friend told me about Acker's English Remedy. I got a bottle, and you never saw the like of the way it acted. Before the bottle was gone I was well. My throat felt as strong and well as could be. Since then I have had no more trouble. I think Acker's English Remedy so strengthens the delicate lining of the throat that it easily resists the changes in temperature, and builds up the constitution as well."

A Difficult Problem.

It is among the most difficult problems of natural science for one to become expert in several lines. J. E. Adeox & Co., by their combination, have overcome this difficulty in a practical manner. J. E. Adeox is an expert watch-maker and is good on jewelry, optical work and engraving, while Theo. H. Lische is an expert optician and is good on watch repairing, jewelry work and engraving. Their price is as low as consistent with good workmanship. They are prepared to do all work in their several lines, on short notice. Work sent by mail or express will receive prompt attention. Sign "Big Red Watch."

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Overy of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised 'Electric Bitters'; and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c, guaranteed, at Blakeley & Houghton's drug store.

"COMPRESSED AIR, SIR?"

That is the question the Chicago Barber Now Fires at His Customers.

"Compressed air, sir?" This is the latest question which the talkative Chicago barber fires at his customers when he has them at his mercy, wrapped in tonsorial mantles, undergoing the professional mysteries of the up-to-date tonsorial palace, says a Chicago exchange.

"Compressed air, sir?" With the delicate touch of a connoisseur the artist runs his fingers through the shorn locks of his helpless victim, and the latter, bracing himself for any experiment short of decapitation, grants an assent and awaits the ordeal. Then the barber grabs a coil of rubber tubing which hangs at the side of his dressing case, and turns the nozzle upon the non-combatant in the chair.

"This is it!" There is a hissing sound of escaping air and a playing of wind at a feeble rate in the customer's hair. The barber wields the small tube much after the manner of the skilled gardener who turns the irrigating hose on the lawn in summer, covering all the surface uniformly. After a hair-cut this new compressed air device takes the place of a brush and broom in clearing the head of the short clippings. After the shavvy compressed air is administered to dry the face. After a shampoo it performs the part of a rapid and ideal dryer for the hair and scalp. It may also be employed to spray the patient with delicate perfumes by attaching an atomizer with its bulb of fragrant odors. It is said to pay for itself in the saving it accomplishes with bay rum and perfume alone.

A douche of compressed air in the face after a shave is said to produce a delightfully refreshing sensation, particularly in warm weather. It is growing in popularity with the patrons of the barber shops wherever it has been introduced. Thus far, in this city, compressed air has been made an adjunct of only three or four tonsorial establishments.

A Big Map.

At the Paris exposition the city of New York will make an exhibit calculated to enlighten as well as to interest those who visit it. It is to be a great relief map of New York, 50 feet square, prepared under the direction of the city engineer. It is expected to cost $10,000. The new library building on Fifth avenue, Gen. Grant's tomb, and the statue of Liberty will be shown, as will sectional models of some of the greatest structures and "skyscrapers" in the city, together with models of the best sailing and steam yachts. The commission also hopes to secure models of a typical ferryboat, a fireboat, and the best river steamers.—Youth's Companion.

American Doctors in Germany.

Taken Literally.

It was only playfully that she referred to her husband as "a regular heathen," but it is always well to label such remarks when made in the presence of children.

The little one who overheard this remark trotted away to Sunday school immediately thereafter, and in some way the subject of attendance at church came up in the class that day.

"My papa doesn't go," volunteered the little one.

"No?" returned the teacher inquiringly.

"Oh, no. He's a heathen, you know."—Chicago Post.
