

DALLE'S BOURBONISM ACTUALLY LEARNING SOMETHING.

There is still hope that the Wasco county democracy will come to its senses on the money question when the organ of Bryanism in this city has so far recovered from the free silver lunacy as to publish, with strong editorial endorsement, the following excerpt which we clip from a short but interesting letter that our esteemed contemporary says was written by "a Portland business man, now on a two years' tour of the globe, who is practical in all things and takes a practical view of what he sees." Writing from Mexico City, under date of May 15th, the correspondent of the Times-Mountaineer says:

"The circulating medium of this country is silver and bank bills, and what little of Mexican gold there is bears the same premium that is paid for U. S. coin, whether silver, gold or currency. But the intelligence of the financial heads of Mexican finance realize that these conditions cannot continue indefinitely, with the necessities of exchange with the financial world, with coin at such variance with the world's markets, they must eventually retract, and I add extracts from the Mexican Herald of this week, which says editorially: 'Here in Mexico the silver question has been solved by the simple process of getting accustomed to using dollars worth half, and often less than half their nominal value.' Again, 'It is not ideal money, it is not the object of anybody's fanatical worship, and when we calculate the cost of things in gold money we simply double the amount. We all heartily wish, in many cases, that we could avoid being on a silver basis and paying out on a gold basis. The government feels the burden, and so do the railways. Every year more gold is found here, more is extracted, and it is not improbable that early in the coming century we may have the gold standard.'"

"With expressions of this order from the ablest paper in the country, surrounded by the consequences of depreciated money, it should appeal to readers who aspire to maintain a standing for their country equal to the best the world recognizes."

The Albany Democrat tells of a Linn county man who recently visited Colonel Bryan at his "small farm in the suburbs of Lincoln, Nebraska," where he found the great man "with his pants in his boots at tending to his chickens, etc." That etc. is a most comprehensively pregnant abbreviation.

Anti-Everythings is the new name given the Bryanites by Senator Wolcott, and it fits them to a dot.

PERTINENT PRESS COMMENT.

The western states know how it is themselves. If there had been no expansion they would not now be represented on the American flag.—Salem Statesman.

The Alaska democrats are solid for Bryan. So, we believe, are the democrats of Hawaii and Porto Rico. The Filipinos are known to have a kindly feeling towards him, and he is popular in Guam and Tutulla. All that he lacks is a sufficiency of electoral votes in the United States of America.—Hartford Times.

Judge Townsend, of New York, has decided that Porto Rico is "a part of the United States as to foreign countries, but a foreign country as to the United States." Once more are we reminded of that touching bit of poetry concerning the tortuous trail of the serpent "which wriggled in and wriggled out, and left the people all in doubt, whether the snake that made the track was going east or coming back."—Omaha World Herald.

Says William J. Bryan: "If we hold what we had in 1896, and if we bring back the gold democrats, and if we gain large accessions from the republicans, the chances of victory for the democratic party ought to be good." That reminds a neighboring paragraph of a story: "Johnny," exclaimed the father to his stirring boy, "what are you running and jumping around the attic for?" "Catching mice, father," replied young hopeful. "How many have you caught?" "Well," said the son, "when I catch the one I am after and another I'll have two."—Salem Statesman.

Says the New York Sun: "Three weeks ago the Hon. John Brisben Walker solemnly implored Col. Bryan by letter to fling away silver. To make sure that the tools of a plutocratic despotism did not abstract the precious missile from the mails, Mr. Walker had it published in the papers. Where is the answer? What word of cheer has the Peerless sent to the Unique? Day after day Col. Bryan affirms and reaffirms his devotion to the heaven-born ratio. Day after day the Hon. John Brisben Walker paces moodily by the banks of the Hudson and sees reflected in the water his own visage growing pale and gaunt with baffled hope."

Robbed the Grave. A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised 'Electric Bitters'; and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c, guaranteed, at Blakeley & Houghton's drug store.
