

Our Mid-Summer Sale

WILL SOON BE HERE in full force.—Just one month earlier than usual.

We started with an $8.95 Suit Sale, which now develops into a general clearance—a full-fledged bargain event. Not through any special effort on our part; not through unusual advertising. It seems as though each customer told a dozen others, and so the sale has grown to a Christmas crowd looking for July bargains. Rest assured there shall be no disappointment. The most pronounced bargain fiend shall be more than satisfied. It has come to us unsolicited, and we shall accept it with good grace.

Few custom tailors could surpass these suits, though they were to charge $12 or $15; doubtless $20 would please you better at the to-order stores.

Remember that it is not for profit this sale was started—a

A clip of ninety-six pounds of wool from the Condon neighborhood was sold today at eleven cents a pound.

At Goldendale yesterday evening the jury in the murder case of Geo. A. R. Ferris found him guilty of murder in the first degree.

A. M. Williams & Co. are doing the business in ladies' suits. There's a reason for this, however, which is easily explained: $25 suits for $13.85.

The firms of A. M. Williams & Co., Pease & Mays and Mays & Crowe beg to announce that they will make their regular monthly collections on the 6th proximo.

Have you noticed those 75c shirts in A. M. Williams & Co.'s window? Take out the price-ticket and you'd think they were worth twice that amount. They look it, sure.

The wife of J. S. Hannan, of Chenoweth creek, died Tuesday afternoon after giving birth to a still born child. She leaves a husband and six children to mourn her loss.

Miss Grace N. Smith, a very estimable young lady of this city, was united in marriage at the Church of the Redeemer, Pendleton, last evening to Mr. Dean Swift Tatom, a well-to-do merchant of that city.

Judge Bennett today bought himself a Roosevelt rough rider hat as a significant part of his equipment for his trip to Kansas City as a delegate to the democratic national convention. He expects to leave for Kansas City tomorrow.

For the Fourth of July the O. R. & N. Co. will sell tickets from The Dalles to all points on rail lines within two hundred and fifty miles of The Dalles at a rate of one and a third fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold on July 23, 3d and 4th. Tickets returning will be limited up to and including July 6, 1900. Under this arrangement the round trip rate for this occasion to Portland will be $3.50, as the one way rate from The Dalles to Portland will be reduced to $2.60 on July 1, 1900.

Pete Nickelsen has been promoted to the appointment of telegraph operator at Pendleton and will leave for his new field of labor in the near future. Pete is a very worthy young man, and will carry with him the best wishes of a host of Dalles friends.

Mrs. Driscoll, wife of the late Captain Driscoll, was a passenger on the mid-day train today for Portland. Mrs. Driscoll while here received a check for $2000 for insurance on the life of her husband, who was a member of The Dalles lodge of United Workmen, and who died on the 27th of last May.

The wheat is so tall in the Columbia precinct that the farmers have concluded to head it for hay instead of cutting it with a mower. At least that is what Harry Gilpin determined to do after cutting about fifty tons, which he made up his mind to feed to hogs because it had too much straw to the proportion of grain for horse feed.

Twenty five dollars a month on a farm, says a man who is posted, is a great deal better than $50 a month in a city store. As a general thing, at the end of nine months the former has $150 in cash, three pairs of overalls and a straw hat, while the latter has two suits of clothes, a pair of bicycle pants and $17 in the hole. Yet there are seventy-five applications for the latter job to one for the former.

The Eugene Guard says: "A line got left out in the 'make-up' of The Dalles Mountaineer the other day causing no little exasperation in the newspaper office, and elsewhere. A justice court report was made to read that the defendant and the complaining witness were both under the influence of liquor. As the latter is president of The Dalles Y. M. C. A., the subsequent exacerbation of feelings may be easily imagined."

A Dutch Flat rancher applied this week to Sheriff Kelly for an injunction against certain parties whom he accused of persistent and oft-repeated raids on his blackberry patch. The sheriff referred him to Ned Gates and Ned referred him to Attorney Jayne, who in turn referred him to Judge Bradshaw, who informed the rancher that the matter was outside his jurisdiction. The raiders turned out to be predaceous flocks of young grouse, which the rancher did not want to dispose of without the authority of law.

The storm last Saturday snapped off, as if it were a pipe stem, an old pine tree, 125 feet in height, on the farm of August Longren, of Eight Mile. The peculiarity about this tree is that it was the only pine tree in the neighborhood, and that it carried on one of its branches an ox yoke that had been hung there thirty-nine years ago by Bill Campbell, the original owner of the ranch. The yoke was used by Mr. Campbell while crossing the plains in 1861, and no one ever attempted to pull it down from the place where he had hung it.

The strawberry season is over in the Yakima valley, and those who were fortunate in having a good crop are counting their profits. William Lee, Jr., has completed the harvesting of one acre, from which he has taken an even 435 crates of marketable berries. These have been sold on the Tacoma and Spokane markets, with some local sales, at from $3 in the early season to $1.50 per crate later. The average market price has been equal to at least $1.50 per crate. Those who think there is not $600 an acre in strawberries in the Yakima valley have some basis here upon which to figure for results.

Most people like to get away from home for a short time during the summer and go where they can have a change of air, water and diet. Some go to the ocean beach and some to the mountains, but there are many others who feel that they cannot spare the time nor the means to go anywhere and so remain at home all through the hot days. There can be no excuse for anyone denying himself a short outing this year. The Y. M. C. A. excursion puts it within the reach of everybody to visit the ocean, get a good breath of fresh sea breeze and see sights which many have never seen before, and which will be remembered as long as they live. Among the interesting sights to be seen at Astoria on the Fourth, besides the U. S. man-of-war Philadelphia, will be a balloon ascension, expert trick bicycle riding, and boat races of all kinds, one being a young ladies' boat race. Gov. Geer will be present and review the parade.

The First Fruit.

THE DALLES, June 28, 1900.

EDITOR CHRONICLE:—It was announced a few days ago that Hood River now has two saloons, paying a license of $600 each. This money of course is paid into the city treasury of Hood River. Hood River has always enjoyed the proud distinction of being a strictly temperance town and having furnished the least amount of criminal business for the courts of any community of its size in the state. All this because she never had a saloon. In yesterday's issue you give a graphic description of the first, but inevitable fruit of Hood River's recent change of policy. Poor McGan was the first victim of the Hood River saloons. It is said that he had been drinking heavily at Hood River—the first statement of the kind ever spoken against fair Hood River. And this is the first blood stain on Hood River's fair reputation. True, this has not cost the taxpayers any heavy sum of money, but whatever cost was incurred in coroner's fees and burial expenses comes out of the general fund of the county treasury, while the license money goes into the city treasury of Hood River. And Hood River has taken her place in the common ranks of crime-breeding communities. Shame on Hood River.
