

Our Mid-Summer Sale

WILL SOON BE HERE in full force.—Just one month earlier than usual.

We started with an $8.95 Suit Sale, which now develops into a general clearance—a full-fledged bargain event. Not through any special effort on our part; not through unusual advertising. It seems as though each customer told a dozen others, and so the sale has grown to a Christmas crowd looking for July bargains. Rest assured there shall be no disappointment. The most pronounced bargain fiend shall be more than satisfied. It has come to us unsolicited, and we shall accept it with good grace.

$8.95

Few custom tailors could surpass these suits, though they were to charge $12 or $15; doubtless $20 would please you better at the to-order stores.

Remember that it is not for profit this sale was started—a

The rate of three cents a mile goes into effect on the O. R. & N. Great Northern and Northern Pacific next Sunday.

The Moro correspondent of the Shaniko Leader says wheat buyers are offering to contract for wheat at fifty cents a bushel in Sherman county.

The recent rains have done much for the second installment of the Hood River strawberry crop, and shipments are made daily to Butte, Mont.

The Shaniko Leader says J. N. Burgess, of Antelope valley, is going to start a big creamery. He has placed an order for 50,000 feet of lumber for the necessary buildings.

Shanikoans have organized a school board with A. C. Sanford, N. M. Lane and F. H. Bruner as directors and Dr. Ray Logan as clerk. They will start a three months' subscription school as soon as they can find a suitable teacher.

THE CHRONICLE is indebted to the courtesy of Homer D. Angell for the June number of the "University of Oregon." The number contains the valedictory of Mr. Angell, who was editor-in-chief during the past school year. The very handsome cover design is the work of Miss Dacie Alloway.

The Ashland Tidings says a party of railroad surveyors from The Dalles have arrived at Silver Lake, Lake county, and are pushing on to Lakeview. They say the road will soon be built and that the O. R. & N. is back of the movement.

For the Fourth of July the O. R. & N. Co. will sell tickets from The Dalles to all points on rail lines within two hundred and fifty miles of The Dalles at a rate of one and a third fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold on July 23, 34 and 4th. Tickets returning will be limited up to and including July 6, 1900. Under this arrangement the round trip rate for this occasion to Portland will be $3.50, as the one way rate from The Dalles to Portland will be reduced to $2.60 on July 1, 1900.

A disastrous hail storm struck the Prineville country last Saturday, destroying the entire crops of half a dozen or more of the settlers west of town. Some of the hailstones measured over six inches in circumference. The Journal says that in some instances the destruction of crops was as "complete as if a fire had raged over the farms, even potatoes and onions in the ground being destroyed." At one house the hailstones perforated in several places a galvanized iron tub that had been placed bottom side up.

No railway mail was delivered here from 12:30 p. m. yesterday till 10 a. m. this morning, when a large quantity arrived on the No. 3 passenger that was over five hours late. The mail from the west that should have been left off here at 4:45 this morning appears to have been carried to Grants for transfer, and hence did not get back here till 10 o'clock. Why the Dalles mail should be carried past here to Grants and become subject to delayed west-bound trains is what we would like to find out.

On his travels last week Sam McDonald found a bee aviary in a queer location, and the bees were at work in full possession, doing well, tells the Sherman County Observer. It is in a flue in John Battles' house, near Celilo. When they were first discovered an effort was made to smoke them out, but the bees choked up the flue and smoked the family out. Mr. Battles then gave them ample room to carry on their sweet operations, and Sam anticipates a day when the Moro Farmers' Market will have an abundance of unadulterated honey.

C. D. Moore, of White Salmon, has discovered a plan to get early strawberry sets, says the Glacier. He takes the first runners that start from new plants and sets them in the ground, same as grape cuttings. In three weeks, it will be ready to set out. He will commence next week to set out 25,500 plants he has secured this way.

S. C. Zeigler, of White Salmon, tells the Glacier that from a strawberry patch of three acres he shipped this year 520 crates of first-class berries, besides what he used for his own household. A more remarkable statement than the above is Mr. Zeigler's return on tomatoes last year. From less than half an acre of ground he raised and shipped to the W. B. Glafke Co., of Portland, 1000 crates of tomatoes, and 75 to Seattle, besides selling at least 50 crates at home. He realized from this half acre $461 clear. This land, his neighbors said, when he moved upon his place, would not grow white beans. It was a barren, sandy hill-side. He has the same ground in tomatoes this year, and he thinks his plants promise better than last year.

We publish in this issue an Albany, Oregon, telegram that will be of interest, unless THE CHRONICLE is misinformed, to some 200 people in this city who, about three weeks ago, yielded to the seductive story of a smooth young fellow, calling himself H. Bennett, and paid seventy-five cents each in advance as a year's subscription to the Cosmopolitan or Munsey's magazine. There is little to add to the Albany story. The fellow played his game here with marked success, working, as elsewhere, among the business people and eliciting the sympathy of some of our leading business men as well as a host of clerks. We have one of the receipts before us. It is numbered 4825 and is signed in an excellent business hand "H. Bennett." It is believed "Bennett" worked the sidewalk for not less than $150 to $200.

To Be Seen on the Excursion.

For the information of intending purchasers of tickets for the Y. M. C. A. excursion, we would say that the steamers will land at their regular landings for passengers and any Y. M. C. A. excursion ticket will be accepted on the boat by the purser and exchanged for a regular ticket. Arrangements have also been made whereby persons intending to go to Portland, only, can get a Y. M. C. A. excursion ticket for $2, and make a saving of $1.50 on the O. R. & N. rate. It is the intention to run to Portland in as short a time as possible, so as to allow a few hours of sight-seeing in that city before leaving for Astoria. Remember on this trip you will see some of the world's most famous scenery. At Astoria you will see a genuine balloon ascension and parachute drop of one thousand feet, the world's famous bicycle riders, tight wire performances, boat races and aquatic sports of various kinds, the cruiser Philadelphia and the training ship Adams, the life-saving service and their drill in the surf, a regiment of artillery from Fort Stevens, a company of marines and marine band from the Philadelphia, a corps of cadets and their maneuvers, May-pole dancing, the annual regatta, yacht carnival, finest of music, the biggest of big parades, reviewed by Oregon's farmer governor and his beautiful bride. And last but not least will be the sunrise Fourth of July salute as given by the guns at Fort Stevens and on the Philadelphia.

Can you afford to miss so much for so small a sum as $2.50? Remember this is a chance of a lifetime. Tickets are on sale at the Registrar office and all the drug stores in the city. Be sure you call for a Y. M. C. A. excursion ticket either to Portland or Astoria. Price to Portland, $2 for round trip.

The Portland wheat market is lower in sympathy with other markets. This sympathy is not asserting itself to the limit, for it is still possible to secure quotations of 58 and 59 cents for Walla Walla, a decline of only about a cent,
