The Reliance makes daily trips to St. Martin's springs, and each day a number of health-seekers are brought to this favorite resort, which is becoming more popular as the benefits of the healing properties of the springs are apparent.

We are informed that our soldier boys of Company D left Salem about 10 o'clock this morning. No doubt they will arrive on one of the night trains. Camp Geer will probably be deserted by tonight, as it was the intention to break camp by noon.

Huntington now boasts a neat little weekly paper known as the News, and published every Saturday by the News Publishing Co. James J. Flynn, a nephew of the Misses Flynn of this city, is city editor and reporter, and is to be congratulated on the newsy little sheet which he is furnishing Huntington people.

One thing is certain, and that is if Dalles people appreciate their beautiful lawns, which add so much to the appearance of the city, they will begin a tirade on the dandelions, which are over-running the lawns and bids fair to finally destroy them completely. Nothing but continued work in that direction will extricate them.

Again are our friends, the Democrats, doomed to disappointment, and the big rally which was announced for tonight, will not take place. Judge Bennett had been appointed to speak and to secure other talent from Portland; but on account of the illness of his children, he was unable to leave Seaside and therefore could not attend to the matter.

Pendleton has never been noted for its dissipation; but has always been considered a model town and an example for its neighbors. Strange to say, however, it now develops that Pendleton has "snakes." Thursday when one of its citizens was walking along the street he saw a big rattler coiled up on the sidewalk sunning himself. He lost no time in killing the creature, which measured three feet and had rattles on to throw at the birds.

Conductors and brakemen on the O. R. & N. line are glad of a chance made by the superintendent whereby they are required no more to lay over for twenty-four hours at Umatilla. The present running of the crews takes them to Stokes, seven miles beyond Umatilla towards Portland, and they double back to Portland. This gives them twenty-four hours longer at Portland. Spokane trainmen go to Stokes and double back.

The Great Northern and Northern Pacific had adopted a rule that no package weighing more than 250 pounds will be accepted or checked as personal baggage. The O. R. & N., and other western roads have adopted the rule, which is being strictly enforced. Eastern lines have been in the habit of checking trunks and packages without regard to weight and collecting for the excess, but this rule will hereafter be abolished, especially for baggage destined to be handled by the western roads.

Thursday Mr. and Mrs. H. Ramsey of Mayville, passed through The Dalles on their way to Albany to visit their daughter, Mrs. Hardman, who lives six miles from that city. Reaching Albany, they procured a livery team to take them out, which on the way became unmanageable and ran away. Both of the old people jumped from the back, and received injuries from which Mrs. Ramsey died at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and it is thought that Mr. Ramsey will not live. They were pioneers of the state.

Speaking of the projected railroad from this city into Lake county, a dispatch from Lakeview says: "The surveying party which visited this city recently was dispatched from Portland in a hurry and came out over the proposed route from The Dalles to Lakeview in ten days. The topographical survey, while only temporary, is quite significant, from the fact that no detail was overlooked. The line is practically located. Leaving The Dalles, it will follow the Deschutes river until it reaches a large belt of white and yellow pine northwest of Silver Lake, at which place the line will come into Lake county. From Silver Lake the route follows a succession of fertile valleys. The O. R. & N., and Oregon Short Line are interested in the extension of this line, and will, no doubt, urge its early completion."

The fire in Sherman county's wheat belt, which we mentioned last Monday, proved more serious than was at first reported. It caught in David Fulton's

DIED SUDDENLY

James Gray, of Victor, Dies of Heart Disease at Eight Mile.

Yesterday afternoon, about 1 o'clock, James Gray, whose home is on Juniper Flat, near Victor, started out from this city with a new $3000 threshing outfit, bound for Dufur, where he had a great deal of threshing to do. Reaching Eight Mile about 5, and finding Mrs. Huott unable to prepare supper for them, they secured a meal about a mile half beyond, and returning made their bed out near the barn. Mr. Gray was apparently well when they went to bed at 8:30, save a slight pain in his breast, which they thought little of.

About 4 o'clock this morning Mr. Payne, whom he slept with, got up and Gray asked him for a drink, when he was handed a cup of water. He again spoke of the pain in his chest, but as he often had slight pains of that sort, little heed was given it. The man returned to bed, and about 5 o'clock arose, when he found Gray was lying there dead. In a short time the coroner was sent for, and an undertaker went out there and held an inquest.

James Gray is a man about 65 years of age, and leaves a wife and five or six children on their place near Victor. He was well known throughout the country, having lived in that vicinity for thirty years or more.

The remains will be buried at his home.

The inquest resulted in the following verdict:

We, the jury impaneled by W. H. Butts, coroner of Wasco county, Oregon, to inquire into the cause of the death of the body now before us, after hearing the evidence produced before us find the following facts:

That the name of the deceased was James Gray, residence Juniper Flat, Wasco county, Oregon, and that he came to his death on or about the hour of 4 o'clock a. m., July 14th, 1900, at Eight mile, county of Wasco, and state of Oregon.

That the said James Gray then and there being, was by his employer found dead in his bed and said death was caused by heart failure brought about by natural causes, of which trouble he has been subject for a long period of time.

Dated at Eight Mile, Wasco county, Oregon, this the 14th day of July, 1900.
