

For President—WILLIAM M'KINLEY, Of Ohio.

For Vice-President—THEODORE ROOSEVELT, Of New York.

A BUSINESS PROPOSITION.

In rare moments the Hon. James Hamilton Lewis of Washington recognizes a fact. Speaking of the Pacific states, he says:

"The Philippine question is the most troublesome one with which the democrats have to deal on the coast. The people out there look upon it as a business proposition and it is hard to get them to listen to the doctrinal view of the democrats."

Commenting upon this scintillation of the Honorable Jim Ham, the New York Sun very appropriately says: "The trade with the east is a very interesting business proposition to the Pacific states. They have had practical proof already of the value of the Philippines to them. It is useless to chatter to them about an imaginary 'empire.' Bugaboos cannot frighten them into forgetting their own interests and surrendering a positive advantage the value of which will grow from year to year.

"Oregon has accepted the business proposition. California and Washington will do the same. The Philippines as a business proposition will not be rejected by a practical people.

"This instinct of business is supported by a deep and unconquerable sentiment, patriotism, the feeling that the integrity of American territory must be maintained and the prestige of the American flag must not be lessened. True Americanism and business sagacity are on the republican side in this campaign. Romantic gabble about 'empire' and 'greed' will be vain against irresistible fact and feeling."

July 4th, 1900, developed a new microbe, which now afflicts certain minds with a new disease—"Bryantitis," says the Globe Democrat. Fortunately, the remedy is a simple one, notwithstanding the conglomeration of elements in the affliction. A candidate who forced his own platform upon delegates who went into convention ostensibly as free agents, and who now stands upon the most grotesque mixture of "issues" ever presented to the people of the United States, can expect to be met in only one way at the polls. The remedy for "Bryantitis" is to vote for McKinley. It is idle to even consider a democratic ticket. The democratic party expired in 1896, when, instead of preserving a basis of organization by an exhibition of their voting strength, the great majority of democrats who stood for "sound money," good government and principles of democracy voted for McKinley instead of the ticket of their own creation, which represented their party faith. It is true that anxiety lest an immeasurable injury should befall the people led to their course. It was, nevertheless, a mistaken one, in that it left democrats without a party. Confronted as they now are, with even a greater danger than before, there is but one refuge—vote not at all or vote for McKinley.

It must have been a proud day for Ex-Senator Corbett the day he was sued for $100,000 for alienating a wife's affections. It furnished him with an overwhelming answer to those who had hitherto fought his candidacy on the ground that he was too old. The ex-senator now as much as says: "Gentlemen, if I am young enough to alienate the affections of a young and beautiful woman, I am young enough to be your senator."

S. A. Gurley, who has for some time conducted the Arlington Record with marked ability, has sold the paper to J. M. Johns, a former proprietor. It is rumored that the Record and Independent will be consolidated so that Arlington, as formerly, will have only one paper. Mr. Johns is an able, conscientious writer and THE CHRONICLE welcomes him back to the editorial field.
