MONDAY - - - JULY 30, 1900

For President—
WILLIAM M'KINLEY,
of Ohio.

For Vice-President—
THEODORE ROOSEVELT,
of New York.

The democrats love to holler booh says the Salem Statesman. They always have a great scare on. The country is always going to the dogs. Somebody is robbing the U. S. treasury. Somebody wants to wear a crown. England is always either corrupting our statesmen or building forts up in British America to blow us all into the Gulf of Mexico. When a man gets to be a thorough democrat he has to get up twice every night to tremble. Then he goes back to bed and sees visions and dreams dreams about men on horseback, carrying swords and wearing crowns. In Grant's administration they always pictured him in their newspapers as thirsting to wear a crown. Grant was the same horrid monster McKinley is, he wanted to found an empire, he wanted to be an emperor. Now what do they say of Grant? They don't say he was a monster any more than they say Lincoln was a baboon, as they did when he was president. Their talk about imperialism is all booh. They know it, but they don't fool anybody but themselves and they are inclined that way naturally.

The Prineville Review thinks the cause for the existence of the Antelope Republican appears in its leading editorial in its last issue. The question of "Stockman County" is advocated and it is suggested that the lines be drawn the same as they were before. It further says that both Crook and Wasco counties should be willing. The Review is glad that its neighbor on the north has made known his intention. That paper will resist with all its might the formation of a county as proposed in the last legislature, and it is satisfied that a majority of the taxpayers in that portion of Crook county sought to be cut off will petition against the change.

The death of King Humbert, of Italy, at the hands of an anarchist, removes from this sphere of action a man who was an honor to the human race. He was one of the best men that ever lived. Anarchy itself could not suggest a reason for his murder except its insane and un-reasoning hatred of everything that is good. The society that plotted his death and the man who executed it have no more rights in civilized society than a pack of coyotes. No punishment can ever fitly avenge this base and cowardly murder.

A Chinese peddler at Spokane is said to have cut off his queue to convince skeptical persons that he was not a Boxer. Here a Chinaman does not cut off his queue but he announces his sentiment in a scintillation of all the picturesque cuss words known to the Anglo-Saxon vocabulary.

An exchange very fittingly remarks that it does not matter whether imperialism or 16 to 1 is paramount so long as Mr. Bryan is paramount.

PERTINENT PRESS COMMENT.

In the last analysis there appears to be very little difference between the Boxers of Pekin and those of St. Louis. If there be any advantage it is on the side of the Celestial thug, who fights in the open instead of planting dynamite bombs and then running away.—Chicago Chronicle.

The Washington Post notes that Cape Nome has reached that point where the grave diggers are making more money than the gold diggers.

The New York World (dem.) asks if we are to have a more distinctively American financial system, why not also an American yardstick, an American gallon, or an American pound weight—especially when selling the Tammany trust's ice?

WOMEN and Women Only, especially mothers, are most competent to appreciate the purity, sweetness, and delicacy of CUTICURA SOAP and to discover new uses for it daily. Its remarkable emollient, cleansing, and purifying properties, derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure and purest of emollients, warrant its use in preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scalp, hands, and hair, and in the form of baths and solutions for annoying irritations, itchings, inflammations, and chafings, too free or offensive perspiration, and also in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, as well as many sanative, antiseptic purposes, which will readily suggest themselves. All that has been said of CUTICURA SOAP may also be said of CUTICURA Ointment which should be used after the SOAP in the severer cases, to hasten the cure.
