Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 50 Warren St., N. Y. The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

"A Family Affair"
At the Vogt tonight.

Miss Clara Nickelsen has accepted a position as stenographer at the scouring mill.

Professor Sandvig has postponed the opening dance of the coming season till Saturday night September 23d. 14 2t

At the clerk's office today Daniel Larkin, an Irish subject, and James Mac Gregor, a Britisher, were made citizens of the United States.

The case of Meade Hughes, which came up in the justice court last evening, on motion of the defense was postponed until 4 o'clock Wednesday, the 19th.

Miss Haven has received a large shipment of pattern hats and novelties from New York. They will be displayed at her opening, which will be held near the last of the month.

A lady was heard to remark yesterday, as she with difficulty drove through the streets of our city: "The Dalles certainly needs fair streets more than she needs a street fair."

Mr. David Gilman, father of J. W. Gilman, died at the Cornsack ranch, Wheeler county, on Saturday, Sept. 8, 1900, at the advanced age of 84 years. He was ill but three weeks.

One week from tomorrow The Dalles will be visited by two prominent divines. Rev. Ackerman, of the First Congregational church of Portland, and Rev. A. W. Powine, of the Pendleton Episcopalian church.

The CHRONICLE will be represented at the Portland carnival on its last day by the editor, Mr. Hugh Gourlay, who left on the early morning train to spend the day peering into the mysteries of the exhibition. He will return on tomorrow's noon train.

Tomorrow will be the first Sunday of the new conference year for the Methodist church, and Rev. U. F. Hawk having been returned to the pastorate of the church in this city, will conduct the usual services. At the morning service Miss Myrtle Michell will sing "A Dream of Paradise," accompanied by Prof. Birgfeld at the organ.

We understand that The Dalles is soon to have just what she has long needed—a sanitarium, to be built by the Drs. Ferguson on the lot adjoining their residence on the bluff, which will be a beautiful site. We trust the project will soon be carried into effect, as we are assured it will be.

The Macedonian cry from terror-stricken Galveston has resounded throughout the union and is finding a response in hundreds of cities and villages. The Pacific coast is among those who heed its call and yesterday $500 was sent from Portland, and tomorrow another $500 will be added, among which will be a donation collected by one of her citizens at The Dalles. Salem's mayor has also started a fund there.

The friends of Miss Sarah Henderson learn with deep regret that she has resigned her position as stenographer at Pease & Mays' and will leave the first of next week for her home near Hillsboro, where she will recuperate before accepting another position. Beside being an excellent stenographer, Miss Henderson will be sadly missed by the large number of friends whom she has made by her sunny disposition and lady-like manner.

Fruit men at The Dalles are not afraid to compete with any section when it comes to a show down, and although they claim to be carrying on a friendly rivalry with Hood River alone at the present, from the appearance of a bunch of grapes brought into the office by Andrew Urquhart this morning, we would suggest that California look well to its laurels. The bunch is of the Flaming Tokay variety and weighs three pounds. It is a beauty and in appearance is not deceitful, for the flavor is delicious.

The Roy Crawford company, which has afforded Dalles people so much pleasure during the past week, closes its engagement this evening with the comical play, "A Family Affair." This company came to the city, and, while playing at more reasonable prices, has given good performances each evening and should have been better appreciated. Most of the actors are good, and deserve more credit than they have received at the hands of our people. Tonight's play will be one which pleases everybody and no doubt will draw a good house.

Strange to say, we are informed by last night's Telegram that the fishermen on the lower Columbia have a "kick coming." Now, how tell. Is it possible? and all because the season didn't open early enough to suit them and a fish or two slipped through their "Fins" and reached the upper river. Truly this state of affairs is appalling, and the Fins, Dagoes, and what not, who invest the waters of the lower river should immediately take steps to teach the legislature of the state that in the beginning the Maker of the universe created the sea, the river and all that in them is and gave the fishermen of that section a rainion over the whole works. But, seriously speaking, and for the gratification of these same swine we will just assure them that although the season did start out encouragingly at the beginning and it looked as if upper Columbia fishermen might get at least a small of Astoria's fish; the past few days the run has been slackening up, and no doubt if the supply is sufficient for our needs before the season closes, another miracle of the loaves and fishes must take place.

'Tis strange how a position of honor, be it ever so small, will affect even the dumb brutes, as is seen in the case of our erstwhile nuisance, Comini's goat. Since returning from the Portland carnival, where he was clad in royal purple and attended our Elks' queen, the aforesaid goat has decided that measly chrysanthemums are too thin for him and has taken to peaches. Consequently a box of this choice fruit which was left in front of the express office last night will fail to reach its destination. Noticing the luscious fruit was protruding from the "air-holes" in the box, he put his sharp teeth to good use and hence the destruction. There's no doubt but this animal is a "peach."

The educational facilities of a city are never complete until within its midst is an institution of learning wherein young ladies from a distance may find home comforts and watchful care while pursuing their studies. This need is fully supplied in The Dalles by St. Mary's Academy, which starts out on this year's work with very promising prospects. While almost every one of last year's pupils have returned, a large number of new ones have entered, both from the city and abroad. The increase in the musical department is particularly noticeable. During the recent vacation the building underwent repairs, which add greatly to its facilities in every way. Among other improvements stone elate blackboards have been placed in each recitation room, greatly facilitating the work. The Sisters feel much encouraged at the outlook for this year.

No doubt many of his friends in this city were not aware of the death of a former prominent citizen of The Dalles in Spokane last week. We refer to the late D. M. McLeod, who was buried on Wednesday of last week at that place. About three years ago Mr. McLeod developed symptoms of consumption, and later upon the arrival of Dr. Sutherland he began a treatment for the disease, but too late, for while his life was prolonged for perhaps two years, yet he could not be saved. During most of his illness, however, he was able to attend to his real estate business, and was confined to his home during his last illness but four days. Mr. McLeod left The Dalles in 1889, having been a very popular resident of this city for years and a member of the firm of Moody & McLeod. He was also a leading worker in the Congregational church and superintendent of the Sunday school.

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Promising Outlook for This Year—The Enrollment of Pupils.

With yesterday the first week of the public school work for this year closed under the most favorable condition and promising prospects of any previous year, and with an enrollment of 650 pupils. No doubt each succeeding week during the ensuing term will add many new names to the present enrollment, and under the management of such efficient professors and teachers our schools will excel, if possible, their former records for educational proficiency.

Perhaps no former school year in its history has witnessed so many changes in the corps of teachers, one of the number—Miss Ella Cooper—so far overstepping the usual order of things as to leave the beaten path and join the matrimonial ranks. Their places have, however, been filled with as competent substitutes and the work will not be retarded thereby.

The course of study in the High school has been changed materially, thus strengthening its efficiency, and requiring more time to complete the course. While a number who expected to finish this year have decided to remain during the two years, arrangements have been made whereby others who desire to graduate this year will be given as complete a course and even more satisfactory than would have been acquired under former conditions. Two of last year's graduates have entered and taken the new course.

The assignment of teachers, with the number enrolled, is as follows:

EAST HILL SCHOOL.
Miss Cheadle—1B, 2E, 2A; enrollment 42.
Miss Roberts—3A, 4B, 5B; enrollment 27.
Total, 69.

Miss Elton—2B, 2A; enrollment, 45.

Total, 174.

ACADEMY PARK.
Miss Cooper—1B, 1A; enrollment, 42.
Miss Flinn—2B, 3B; enrollment, 47.
Mrs. Roche—4B, 4A; enrollment, 34.
Miss Ball—5B, 5A; enrollment, 41.
Total, 164.

HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING.
Mrs. Baldwin, Miss L. Rintoul, Miss T. Rintoul, Miss Michell; 6B, 6A, 7B, 7A, 8B, 8A.
Total, 195.

HIGH SCHOOL.

Total enrollment of schools, 680.

SCHOOL NOTES.
Miss Martha Wheelton, of the class of '99, has been engaged to teach the Center Ridge school in district No. 33, and will assume her duties on the 24th.
Miss Elsie Ball, one of the most successful of our public school teachers will take up the normal course at Monmouth this year, and left the city yesterday for that place. During her absence her sister, Miss Alice Ball, has assumed her duties in the 5th grade.

While the Dalles High school has every reason for taking pride in the energy displayed by her graduates as they take up their chosen duties, the course pursued by the class of 1900 would seem to be particularly worthy of commendation. Although young in years to assume the active duties of life, feeling that such a course was necessary, they have, almost without an exception, bravely started out to practice what most of the modern graduating essays preach and to fill the places which are ever open to those who seek them. Most of the young ladies have taken charge of schools in the surrounding districts, while the young men are engaged in various kinds of business. Thus are they attesting their faith in the truth of their motto, "Honor waits at labor's gate."

The Sick.

After an illness of three months, Mrs. H. W. French is now able to be about the house, and take very short drives through the city.

Miss Elizabeth Schooling, who has suffered for the past two months from a serious stomach trouble, is now permitted to sit up for a short time each day.

Mrs. Forwood, who after a serious illness of inflammation of the stomach, was taken to Hood River to recuperate, is said to be improving as rapidly as could be expected.

Richard Bray, an employe of Pease & Mays' grocery department, has been confined to his bed for the past week with a bad case of tonsillitis, and it will be a week at least before he can resume his duties.

Much anxiety has been felt for some weeks past regarding the condition of Mrs. Henry Steers, who is very ill of heart trouble and other complications of a serious nature. Her suffering today is increased by an attack of neuralgia of the head. However, no fatal results are anticipated.

The two scarlet fever cases on the bluff, one in a family by the name of Johnson, and the young son of C. F. Curtis, Dr. Rinehart informs us are getting along nicely. The former case was very light, but the latter was much more serious and difficult to cope with. No danger of further cases is apprehended.
