Rev. G. M. Irwin, ex-state superintendent of public instruction, is now located at Juneau, Alaska, where he is pastor of the First Methodist church.

Hon. H. W. Craven, a prominent Seattle attorney, opened the republican campaign in Klickitat county by a speech at Goldendale, Saturday night.

Thomas Brown, who lives on the old Ruffler place on the Mosier road west of town, left at this office this morning two Gloria Mundi apples that weighed 20 ounces each. One measured 14 inches in circumference. They were both wind-falls, having been blown off the trees in the storm of a week ago, and were immature.

A company of Goldendale prospectors who own several mining claims on the Little Klickitat, about nine miles down stream from Goldendale, have bonded their claims for $35,000. Work on the claims will be prosecuted vigorously in the near future. Careful tests have shown that the mines will pay handsomely.

The ladies of St. Paul's Guild have decided on the date for the concert to be given by Ella Iark Klein, for the benefit of the building fund of the church, and fixed Monday next, September 24th. It will be given in the Baldwin opera house and Mrs. Klein will be assisted by Mr. William Birgfeld and other local talent.

"When Brigham H. Roberts of Utah was passing through the Garden of Gethsemane, so to speak, last winter," said Chas. S. Vorhees in a speech made at Spokane the other night, "a lady was asked at the national capital if she believed him guilty of bigamy. 'Guilty of bigamy,' she asked, 'guilty of bigamy!' why he is guilty of trigonometry."

The democrats of Klickitat county last Saturday nominated the following ticket: Representative, I. C. Darland; sheriff, John Nimela; treasurer, Thomas Turner; clerk, John Smith; auditor, John H. Bratton; attorney, H. Dustin; assessor, Wm. E. Cahill; school superintendent, Miss Beulah Norris; surveyor,

A. R. Collins; commissioner second district, Elmer Hinshaw; commissioner third district, L. Coleman.

Representative M. A. Moody has received a personal invitation to attend the celebration of the opening of the locks on the Yamhill river, near McMinnville, on the 28th and 29th inst. The secretary of the executive committee expresses the wish that an excursion be arranged from The Dalles to McMinnville, and that a good-sized delegation go from this place. At the request of the secretary Mr. Moody will bring the matter before the Commercial club.

Mrs. Ada Taylor was examined yesterday at Hood River by Dr. M. F. Shaw and adjudged insane. From the commitment papers we learn that she is a native of Missouri aged 21 years; that she has been subject to attacks of insanity since she was 19 years old; and that her first attack dates from the birth of a baby three years ago. She talks unreasonably about her dead child and about imaginary enemies, and is at times violent and destructive. She was taken to Salem today.

A very pleasant surprise party was given last Wednesday afternoon by Miss Krauss in honor of her mother, Mrs. George Krause. The porch, parlor and dining room were beautifully decorated by the choicest of flowers, and a delightful afternoon was spent in varied amusements and brought to a close by an elegant repast. Those present were: Mrs. P. Hopkins, Mrs. George Bunn, Mrs. George Graham, Mrs. Schwabe, Mrs. J. Fredericksen, Mrs. L. A. Turner, Mrs. H. H. Campbell, Mrs. George Krause, Miss H. Schwabe, Miss B. Bunn, Miss L. Turner, Miss B. Campbell, Misses M. and F. Bunn, Miss H. Krause, Mr. D. Simonson and Mr. H. Campbell.

Judge Blakeley and Commissioner Harriman went to Hood River yesterday where they met Commissioner Evans and, in response to complaints, viewed a piece of county road that had been changed by the O. R. & N. Co. in their work of improving their road bed. The court concluded that no damage had been done to the public through the change. They also inspected what is known as the Rand-Coburg road, where Mr. Rand wants that part of the road that goes through his place closed, and the part that goes through the Coburg place left open, and Mr. Coburg wants the changes in exactly opposite directions. The court concluded that the brethren would have to settle the difficulty between themselves before it felt justified in taking any action.

A fire occurred in the east show window of C. F. Stephens' dry goods store about 6 o'clock Saturday night that, happily, was soon extinguished. It caught from an electric lamp that accidentally came in contact with a curtain in the back part of the window. It was first seen by a boy on the outside who gave the alarm and Mr. Stephens in a few minutes had it under control. The window was dressed with ladies' cloaks and fur collarettes, which were damaged to the amount of about $125. The property was fully insured. The super-heating of the lamp that caused the fire, by the flames outside, softened the glass and the vacuum inside drew in the glass till a dent was formed large enough to lay one's thumb in. The lamp was otherwise uninjured and is doing service in Mr. Wheelton's office.

The Dalles street fair committee is making satisfactory progress in arranging for the fair. Two members of the committee in a little while this forenoon secured promises of exhibits from thirteen of the business houses of the city. The committee's reception was such that they feel justified in believing that this number will be nearly doubled, and in any event it will greatly exceed anything of the kind The Dalles has ever had. It is practically settled that the fair will be held on the two blocks on Third street lying between Washington and Laughlin and including the block between Second and Third streets on Federal street. The thirteen exhibitors already obtained are A. M. Williams and Co., Pease & Mays, Jacobsen & Co., Clark & Faulk, C. J. Stubling, F. S. Gunning, Farley & Frank, D. P. & A. N. Co., Dalles Soda Works, Victor Marden, Great Northern Furniture Store, Maier & Benton and J. Bonn.

Ranchers on the Warpath.

The Condon Times says: "On August 28th the camp of Wilson & Burton, sheepmen, of Rock creek, was set on fire by some ranchers and completely destroyed, only the coat and vest of the herder escaping the flames. The incendiaries had set these garments out of reach of the flames, and they, along with the ashes, were all that remained to show the herder where his camp had stood."

"On August 30th Wilbur Curly's camp was set on fire and demolished, everything being lost."

"On September 6th Frank Curly, who is herding for Joshua Hardie, was awakened from his slumber by a fusillade of rifle shots in close proximity to camp, and on examination in the morning he found eighteen head of sheep killed. Mr. Hardie was sent for, and as he has the range he was herding on rented, he decided to stay. The desperadoes returned on the night of the 7th, but this time their volley was returned and they were put to flight. The defenders were able to recognize the forms of three men, two handling the guns and the other holding three horses at a safe distance, but could not identify them."

THE WASCO COUNTY EXHIBIT.

Cheapest and Most Effective Advertisement Wasco County Ever Had.

The Portland carnival is over and the net results to that city are acknowledged on all hands to have far exceeded the cost and trouble. It is reckoned that not less than 50,000 persons from outside the city visited the fair, and it is no very extravagant supposition that as many more of the city's 90,000 inhabitants were once or oftener in attendance.

These figures naturally suggest the value of Wasco county's exhibit as a means of advertising the resources and capacities of this district. To have been seen by a hundred thousand persons, few, if any, of whom passed it with indifference, and many of whom gazed on it in wonder and astonishment, is enough to prove that the exhibit has been a most effective piece of advertising. Nor did it lose any of its effectiveness in this regard by the fact that it was practically the only exhibit of the kind on the grounds.

Hood River, as usual, deserves the credit for the finest display of apples. It was magnificent, and we say this without a grudge. Not that we are willing to concede that Hood River can beat the country around The Dalles; but the Hood River people know how to show off their fruit to better advantage than we do. They had their apples all, or nearly all, handsomely packed in ordinary apple boxes, as if ready for market, and each particular apple was polished till it shone like a burnished mirror. The apples from this district, on the contrary, were only four or five of a kind and were placed on plates. There was variety enough, and the fruit was fairly up to the standard, but the display, as it seemed to us, was not nearly so effective as the shining, uniform rows in the Hood River boxes. In peaches and grapes The Dalles had it all to herself. Mr. Merrill assured the writer that he was often asked if the grapes and peaches were real or only wax imitations. And yet, fine as they were, they fell far short, in our opinion, of hundreds of boxes that have been sold in this market during the past two or three weeks. And a similar remark might be made as to the water melons, pumpkins, squashes and roots. A plate of nearly ripe figs and branches of the fig tree containing figs in various stages of growth excited great interest. These were from the garden of Mr. Emil Schanno, of this city. F. H. Drews supplied some stalks of corn from his garden on the bluff, one of which measured twelve feet and ten inches. They were of the Cuban variety, and the ears would have done credit to an Illinois corn patch.

Hood River had a fine plate of silver prunes, and a branch twenty-nine inches long from a silver prune tree that contained 119 well-developed prunes. This latter was from the orchard of W. P. Watson and was preserved in a glass jar in the Bureau of Immigration exhibit. In this exhibit, by the way, was one solitary apple from a Clackamas orchard that measured 15 1/2 inches in circumference and weighed 23 1/2 ounces. It was of the Wolf River variety. It was the largest apple at the fair.

In The Dalles exhibit there was a sample of little club wheat, grown by F. M. Warner, of Tygh Ridge, from a field that went 45 bushels to the acre; another by Alex. Strachan, of Dufur, from a field that went 43 bushels; another by G. D. Ried, of The Dalles, from a field that went 35 bushels; another by Mike Callaghan, of Dufur, from a field that went 46 bushels; another by Mrs. Julia Obarr-Smith, of The Dalles, from a field that went 35 bushels; and other samples by Hon. M. A. Moody, A. T. Hillgen and O. Jones from fields that went 50 bushels to the acre.

On the top of big bales of snow-white wool from The Dalles scouring mill, which formed an important part of the exhibit, was George A. Young's eight-legged lamb, with one head and three bodies attached to the shoulders. This freak of nature has been on exhibition in Blakeley's drug store in this city for some months. It was dropped, or rather taken from its mother, last lambing season and Mr. Young had it mounted. The two heads of a double-headed lamb, also belonging to Mr. Young, were suspended from a post in the background. A canopy of wool covered the exhibit. It was handsomely arranged in alternate stripes of secured wool and the wool as it comes from the sheep's back.

Wasco county owes a debt of gratitude to the local lodge of Elks for giving her the opportunity, free of charge, of making a display of her products, in such a way as we believe will prove the most effective advertisement the county has ever had.

To Delinquent Taxpayers.
The County Court having authorized the immediate collection of delinquent taxes, I am compelled to comply with its request, and will therefore proceed at once to advertise. If you are delinquent you will save cost and expenses by immediate payment. All personal property unpaid will be attached at the cost and expense of the owner without further notice.

Floral lotion will cure wind chapping and sunburn. Manufactured by Clarke & Falk.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N.Y.

The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.
