

For President - WILLIAM MCKINLEY, Of Ohio.

For Vice-President - THEODORE ROOSEVELT, Of New York.

IF BRYAN WERE ELECTED.

What would happen on the morning of November 7th in case the news were published of Bryan's election? asks the New York Commercial Advertiser. The panic would start then and there. It would not wait for McKinley's term to expire. What creates a panic is the destruction of confidence, and confidence would vanish with the assurance that Bryan and his populists were to be in possession of the government for four years. Precisely what Mr. Shurtz says had begun to happen four years ago would happen then. Enterprise would be paralyzed, for no enterprise is undertaken or carried on without confidence in the future, and there would be no confidence in the future with Bryan as president.

Then, too, what would be the limit of the period of uncertainty? Bryan is pledged to call an extra session of congress immediately upon taking office. Would that diminish the uncertainty or put a speedy end to it? On the contrary, it would aggravate and prolong it. If the house of representatives were populist and the senate republican the uncertainty would still continue, for business men would not be able to feel any confidence in the future so long as congress was wrangling over the question of a monetary standard. Nobody would feel sure how long the senate would hold out, or how soon it might consent to a compromise of some sort. In fact, a silver majority in both houses of congress would end the uncertainty, and in that respect would be less permanently harmful to business interests than conflicting majorities in the two houses, with no certainty as to when they might reach agreement.

Nothing is so paralyzing to trade, industry, commerce and enterprise as doubt about the future, for all these are based on credit, and credit dies when confidence is destroyed. These are the veriest truisms of business life, and any man with even an elementary knowledge of the laws of the financial and business world knows that the immediate effect of Bryan's election would be the destruction of confidence and the advent of all the evils that must inevitably follow. Is it reasonable to suppose that the American people, in the midst of abounding prosperity, are going to commit such an act of folly as this, especially when they have only to re-elect President McKinley to have absolute assurance that the present prosperity will continue undisturbed and undiminished?

When Charles A. Towne spoke Tuesday night at the Metropolitan Theater, Portland, it is said, "there was much denunciation of the American policy in the Philippines and the speaker won liberal applause as he pointed out the good qualities of the Filipinos and denounced the American soldiers." For the honor of American citizenship we should be pleased to learn that this last clause is false. In Lincoln's time a speech that produced such applause the applause itself was termed copperheadism and the perpetrators copperheads. What shall we call them now? Things have surely come to a pretty pass, when even the rag tag and bob tail of what was once a great party expects to win its way to power by denouncing our American soldiery and gloating over their defeat.

Bryanites, true to their populist instincts, are banking largely on the big strike among the coal miners of Pennsylvania. It is worthy of note that there were few strikes at this time four years ago. The thousands that were then out of work and living on free soup could not strike, and the few that were employed were too glad to get work at any wages to strike for higher.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat thinks "the populist who finds himself chafing hands with Adlai Stevenson and Richard Olney must be bothered to tell whether the Indian or the wigwam is lost."

Red Hot From the Gun.

Was the ball that hit G. B. Steadman of Newark, Mich., in the Civil War. It caused horrible ulcers that no treatment helped for twenty years. Then Booklen's Arnica Salve cured him. It cures cuts, bruises, burns, boils, felioms, corns, skin eruptions. Best pile cure on earth. Twenty-five cents a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by Blakeley, the druggist.

Clark Barton Seriously Ill.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—A special to the Tribune from Galveston says: Clark Barton, president of the Red Cross Society, who came here to distribute relief supplies, has been stricken down at work and is seriously ill. Accompanied by three nurses she will leave for her home in Washington today. She retires from the field only upon the imperative orders of her physicians.

She was stricken yesterday at a conference in her rooms at the Tremont hotel with her staff of nine gathered about her. She had just finished an outline of her work, assigning each member of her staff to the particular part of the work that one was to do.

"My baby was terribly sick with the diarrhoea," says J. H. Doak, Williams, Mo., "We were unable to cure him with the doctor's assistance, and as a last resort we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I am happy to say it gave immediate relief and a complete cure." For sale at Blakeley's drug store.
