

A Minister's Good Work.
 "I had a severe attack of bilious colic, got a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, took two doses and was entirely cured," says Rev. A. A. Power, of Emporia, Kan. "My neighbor across the street was sick for over a week, had two or three bottles of medicine from the doctor. He used them three or four days without relief, then called in another doctor who treated him for some days and gave him no relief, so discharged him. I went over to see him the next morning. He said his bowels were in a terrible fix, that they had been running off so long that it was almost bloody flux. I asked him if he had tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and he said, 'No.' I went home and brought him my bottle and gave him one dose; told him to take another dose in fifteen or twenty minutes if he did not find relief, but he took no more and was entirely cured." In Need of a Larger Army.
 New York, Sept. 26.—A special to the World from Washington says: Orders have been issued at the war department to the chiefs of the different bureaus to prepare statements showing the cost of recruiting and maintaining a volunteer force as against the cost of maintenance of the same number of regulars, and based in the item of extra expense attached to the recruiting and maintaining of the volunteer forces. The department will make a strong fight to have their project for an increase in the regular army put through congress.

The time is fast approaching when the present volunteer force in the Philippines must be withdrawn. General MacArthur has frankly stated that he cannot spare any troops, and is in need of reinforcements to maintain the necessary force in the Philippines, and that the volunteer army must be authorized unless there is an increase in the regular army, and it is the intention of the war department to point out that the latter plan is the only feasible one.

The plan now in contemplation is for the authorization of congress for enough additional men to raise the strength of the regular army to 100,000, with permanent recruiting stations throughout the country, that the regiments may be kept up to full strength by constant recruiting. This plan it will be claimed will reduce the expenses of the army, as well as raise its efficiency.

Through the months of June and July our baby was teething and took a running off of the bowels and sickness of the stomach," says O. P. M. Holliday, of Deming, Ind. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house and gave him four drops in a teaspoonful of water and he got better at once. Sold at Blakeley's drugstore.

BETTER THAN FLY PAPER.
A Mouse in Philadelphia Which Catches the Pests and Eats Them.

A tiny mouse that seems to have its own way in all it does to do has taken up quarters in a bulk window on Chestnut street, Philadelphia. The window contains a fine display of traveling bags and dressing cases, and under ordinary circumstances the presence of the little intruder would not be tolerated a minute. But this is not an ordinary mouse. Instead of creating havoc and damage by gnawing holes in the valuable bags and trips this particular mouse does a valuable service to the firm by spending its time in catching the flies that are unwise enough to come within reach. Every evening after the store has been closed and the clerks have gone home a crowd gathers on the pavement outside and watches the little fellow capture the unwary flies. It is a wonderful performance, and so quick of movement and keen of eye is the mouse that a fly rarely escapes that it springs for the mouse's hole in a single second. The mouse's mode is simple and effective. From a crouching attitude it waits until a fly comes close enough, then it straightens upon its hind legs, the two front paws, like tiny hands, are thrust upward, and the unwary fly is clutched and brought down. After that the mouse eats the fly and then gets ready to catch another.

GREEKS WERE AUTHORS.
They Are Said to Have Been the First to Employ Punctuation Marks in Writing.

The art of punctuation was developed gradually from very ancient times. Greek scribes before the Christian era used a wedge-shaped sign (V) to mark a new paragraph. Later a space in the sense was indicated by a black space, a point, and sometimes by a slight oblique stroke or an apostrophe. In Latin manuscripts the full points appear first, and are variously placed on a level with the top, middle or bottom of the letters. The invention of the modern system of punctuation has been attributed to Aristophanes, a grammarian of Alexandria. Jerome used signs (commata and cola) in his translation of the Scriptures, while in early English and Irish manuscripts the comma is used, and the final stops marked by one and sometimes two or more full points. With the advent of printing, punctuation was greatly improved and systematically adopted about the close of the fifteenth century, mainly owing to the Venetian printer, Mantius. It is said that all the stops we now use appear in the "Arcadia," 1557, of Sir Sidney Smith.

Imitation Leather from Wood.
 L. Schwarzhuber, of Purkersdorf, Austria, has discovered a process for the manufacture of a leatherlike substance from wood veneers, applicable for boot soles and other purposes. Starch powder or crushed potatoes are boiled under pressure in an alkali. A gelatinous brown, glue-like liquid is obtained, into which the veneers are introduced and steam pressure applied, the process rendering the veneers soft and flexible.

Pole Defended by Ice.
 There are 400 miles of icebergs floating in the plains of ice and all other sources of arctic obstructions to traverse between the nearest discovery to the pole and the pole itself. Perhaps some means of overcoming these difficulties may present themselves within the next century as science goes on in its progressive way.

Pencemaker for the Railways.
 Some years ago one of the biggest railroad corporations of this country employed a confidential pencemaker, with the idea of preventing sales, as far as possible, for personal gain. It has proved a profitable innovation and is being taken up by other railroads.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuff and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size, Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.
