PEOPLE COMING AND GOING.

Chas. Chandler, of Hood River, spent last night in the city and returned home today on the afternoon train.
McLaughlin O'Brien, one of Klickitat county's solid men from Centerville, was in town today for a few hours.
G. H. McGreer, son of Hon. T. H. McGreer, arrived here yesterday from California, whither he went overland a short time ago with 100 head of horses that had been bought in the neighborhood of the John Day. He left on the noon train for home.

The boat, Klickitat, that was sold the other day in Portland for $6,500 to satisfy a number of claims for labor against the Paul Mohr portage road, has been purchased by the O. R. & N. Co.

County Superintendent C. L. Gilbert returned today from visiting the schools at Five Mile, Eight Mile, Enderby, Fairfield, Dufur, Kingsley, Tygh, Wapinitia, Victor, Wamie and Smoak. Next week he will visit those in the eastern and northeastern part of the county.

Sheriff Kelly this afternoon turned over to County Treasurer Hampshire the sum of $20,011.97, the amount of taxes collected during sixteen days of the present month. Of this sum $3,300.38 belongs to the public schools of the county, $2,605.10 to The Dalles public schools and $1,678.98 to Dalles City.

One thousand boxes of apples and a shipment of prunes will leave on the next steamer for the orient, says the Telegram. This, together with the partial apple crop failure in the East, will serve to stiffen the local market for apples, which is already quite firm. Apples now bring from 75 cents to $1.25 per box in the Portland market.

The Dalles street fair and carnival was a complete success in every way and does great credit to the enterprising citizens having the matter in charge. The splendid fruit exhibit alone was well worth the time and money it took to make the trip to see it. It was a splendid advertisement of the rich resource of the country immediately tributary to the Gateway city and is greatly appreciated by the good citizens of that territory.—Wasco News.

The fair and carnival held last week at The Dalles was the greatest advertising medium that place has ever had, as everyone we heard speaking of it seemed to be more than pleased. One thing we noticed—and this cannot be said of some other places—the hotels and restaurants did not raise their usual prices, nor could we detect any difference in the stores. Some places take advantage at these times and think because there are a great many people in town they can charge what they want to.—Skamania County Pioneer.

Ex-Sheriff George C. Sears, of Portland, filed suit against Sheriff William Frazier to recover $18,000, being the amount of salary of the sheriff from July 2, 1896, to July 2, 1900. The basis of the action is that Mr. Frazier was not a citizen when he was elected sheriff in June, 1895, and had no legal capacity to receive the votes cast for him, and that he, Sears, was wrongfully ousted from the office, and is entitled to all of the compensation since. Mr. Frazier came to the United States with his parents when he was 7 years old, and to Oregon when he was 14 years of age.

Prof. L. S. Davis, of The Dalles, a professor collector of fossils, and V. C. Osmont, Berkeley, a graduate of the University of California, were in the city Sunday and paid the Grant County News office a pleasant call, says that paper. These gentlemen left California five months ago with Prof. Merriam's party and have been studying the geology of this county and collecting fossils, most of their work being done in the vicinity of Monument. Messrs. Davis and Osmont did not return with the party, but are still engaged in gathering fossils for the University of Munich and the University of California. They have now gone down the river in the vicinity of Dayville, where they will be engaged for about a month, and then return home by the way of The Dalles.

The editor of the Condon Globe says: "The Dalles carnival and street fair, held last week, was quite successful. The writer had the pleasure of visiting the fair on Friday and is constrained to say that the display of fruits, etc., was the finest he ever saw in any country. Hood river and Mill creek valleys did themselves proud, and Wasco county and The Dalles have nothing to be ashamed of so far as the fair is concerned. A 120-pound pumpkin was one of Hood River's attractions, and all Misourians and other eastern pie-lovers lifted their hats reverently when they stopped to admire it. The Midway was the same old Midway, but it seemed to catch the dimes just the same as of yore. The Dalles people are royal entertainers, and visitors to the carnival were given the best of the city afforded."

The case of J. Harvey Smith, of Grass Valley, affords another striking instance of the value of the waters of the hot springs near Collins' Landing as a cure for rheumatism. Mr. Smith called at this office two weeks ago. He was on crutches, with limbs stiffened and inflexible from rheumatism that he contracted years ago when camping out in all kinds of weather with his sheep. From here he went to St. Martin's Springs, where he took daily baths in its waters till last night when he came here on the Regulator. He left his crutches at the springs, and when asked how he felt he answered by kicking his right foot nearly as high as his head. After a short trip to Portland Mr. Smith will spend another week at the springs, when he expects to be as free from rheumatism as he was when a child.

A bright little farce comedy, "A Wise Guy," opened a week's engagement last evening at the Third Avenue. A packed house greeted the company. Every seat was filled before the curtain rose, and the full allowance of standing room was also taken. "A Wise Guy," while not remarkable for depth of plot, has a thread of a story sufficient to sustain a large number of excellent specialties and to serve as the vehicles for a large number of jokes, which have more than the usual flavor of youth. The part of Spike Hennessy, the wise guy, was ably played by William Sellery, who interpreted the part in a way that was a delight to persons who have had an opportunity of seeing in real life the character he represented. In the far West the type of Spike Hennessy is unknown, but in eastern cities he is a familiar figure, and the presentation last evening was true to the smallest detail. Hennessy has the merit of being a new character, and he made an instantaneous hit. The specialties are, without exception, good, and taken throughout the play is very good of its class.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer. At the Vogt Monday, Oct. 29th.

Attention, Redmen!

All members of Wasco tribe No. 16, I. O. R. M., are urgently requested to trail toward the wigwam next Tuesday, setting of the sun, at the 7th run, 30th breath. Business of the greatest importance will be brought before the tribe. As Kische Maniton has directed our trails straight, and through agreeable regions, the chiefs, warriors and hunters will be regaled with corn and venison.

EDUCATIONAL SESSION.

Convention Donates $80 to The Dalles Baptist Church—The Roster.

Last night was the educational session of the Baptist convention. The speakers, as arranged on the program, all delivered interesting addresses. That of Dr. Leslie was especially instructive, and was ordered printed. His subject was "The Obligation Upon Baptists to Patronize their Own Schools."

A collection amounting to $80 was taken for the purpose of aiding the Calvary Baptist church building.

The report of the committee on enrollment showed the following delegates present:

The state mission board was in session until 4 o'clock this morning. It is reported that several of the members returning at that late hour, lost their way in the darkness and were run in by the night watchman. Up till 10 o'clock this morning two or three preachers had not put in an appearance, and various surmises are expressed as to the cause.

The next session of the convention will meet with the second church of Portland in October, 1901, Rev. C. C. Smoot, of Eugene to preach the introductory sermon.
C. A. Woody, D. D., will give a stereopticon lecture on "Missions" tonight at 2 o'clock. Everybody invited.
