dition, call me what you will.
When wages have increased from 10 to 100 per cent in nearly all industries; when in 1899 we paid 769,000,000 more of dollars to wage earners of this land than we did in 1896, with the assured certainty that they will still further increase, it we will only let our partisanship shrivel and our patriotism expand; are you justified in doubting if my attitude of yesterday hinders that increase, I will flop until my position of today shall be on that higher ground standing upon which, humanity, from the heights of the delectable mountains can see grand visions of a more glorious future?
When I see the miners of the Hocking Valley, who received but forty cents a ton for digging coal, now receiving eighty cents per ton for the same work, and with a proportionate advance in all the bituminous coal fields, with steady work for all, it is an easy matter for me to flop.
When I see the glass-blowers receiving from 20 to 30 per cent advance in their scale of wages, with steady employment, for a continuation of such happiness for them it will not be difficult for me to flop.
When I see the flag fired upon; when I see the brave boys in blue, your brothers, your sons and your sweethearts, shot down by men in ambush, my sympathies go out to you and to them rather than to a Tagal savage, and I have got to flop. And as I love my country, my fellow men and my God, no man will flop ahead of me.
When we see each month a surplus in our national budget instead of a deficit; when we see, instead of borrowing money of England, as we did under the last administration, we have loaned within the last two years to Sweden, Russia, Germany and England more than $200,000,000; when we see our exports doubling and our imports dividing; when we see happy faces of a well fed and well clad citizenship, and contrast it with the days of the Coxe army of the unemployed; when the pinched faces of hungry men and women and little children, clad in tatters, in the biting blast of the winter's storm, sought for cold charity and cold soup in the soup houses, let us pray that God in His grace grant that you and I shall never witness those scenes again, but if we do, my earnest prayer is that He may so guide us all in His infinite love and wisdom that no vote or act of ours, whether in public or private life, shall be responsible for the return of such conditions.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

An up-to-date junk dealer in James street hangs out this sign: "I Am a Buy Metallist."—Town Topics.
An Up-to-Date Breakdown.—"Yes, they eloped in an automobile." "That was nice." "Oh, I don't know. They came back in a hayrack, dragging the auto after them."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
Seeing and Hearing.—A boarder "down east," accustomed to the noise of a city square, writes back that "The stillness is so great at night you can hear it. The darkness also is visible."—Boston Transcript.
How It Worked.—Mrs. Hix—"I don't believe in these faith cures brought about by the laying on of hands." Mrs. Dix—"Well, I do. I cured my little boy of the cigarette habit in that way."—Pearson's Weekly.
Urgent.—A Winfield lawyer received a letter from a client, the other day urging him to hasten a certain collection. "I am hard up," concluded the writer, "and need the money bad. Hoping this will find you the same, I am yours," etc.—Kansas City Journal.
"Stop!" she cried, as he attempted to kiss her. "You must!" He, having had but little experience in this sort of thing, was inclined to take her at her word. She noticed it and hastened to repeat: "Stop! You mused—my hair." Then he resumed, but more carefully.—Catholic Standard.
Deficiency in the Attic.—"I am a self-made man," said the proud individual. "Well, you are all right, except as to your head," commented the other part of the conversation. "How is that?" "The part you talk with is out of proportion with the part you think with."—Baltimore American.
Druggists' Prices.—Druggist—"People think they are very funny when they talk about the exorbitant prices asked by apothecaries." Customer—"So there is nothing in it, eh?" Druggist—"No, indeed. I consider my prices quite reasonable. I never ask for an article anywhere near as much as I should like to."—Boston Transcript.

A Life And Death Fight.

Mr. W. A. Hines of Manchester, Ia., writing of his almost miraculous escape from death, says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in Consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even if it cost $5.00 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure Throat, Chest and Lung troubles." Regular size 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Blakeley Drug Store.

A DEMOCRAT WHO FLOPPED

Why Congressman Sibley Flopped—In the Light of Duty and Conscience, in the Interest of the Broadest Humanity and for the Sake of the Greatest Number Abandons Bryanism and Supports McKinley.

Hon. Joseph C. Sibley was elected as a democrat to the 56th congress from the 27th Pennsylvania district. He is now a candidate from the same district as a republican. In a speech delivered to his constituents a short time ago at Bradford he gives the reasons which prompted him to denounce Bryanism and all its works. He said in part:

You charge me with changed opinions. This is true. Each day of life differs from any day preceding. The man who stands still or harks back to the dead past will be left in the rear.

"New conditions make new duties. Time makes ancient good uncount. They must onward still and upward. Who would keep abreast of truth?"

You charge me with being a flopper. Yes, I guess that is so. It a flopper may properly be defined as one who did not know it all yesterday, is wiser today and aims for progress tomorrow, then I am a flopper.

If a flopper is one who finds a position of yesterday untenable today, and positively wrong tomorrow, who seeks to leave the untenable position the occupation of which would stultify his intelligence, dwarf his conscience and work an injury to his fellows, then you may define me as a flopper.

Looking at the present and trusting for a grander future, rather than facing backward to fan the smoldering embers of the past, constitutes one a flopper, please enumerate me as such.

Whenever I see men who have been working for one dollar a day, able to earn two dollars; when the man who earned two dollars can have the opportunity to earn three, I will flop as often as it may be necessary to help that condition for that man to continue.

When from 1893 to 1896 47 per cent of the wage earners of this country were unemployed or working on short hours, and today only three-eighths of one per cent of the wage earners are unemployed, I will flop to help keep these men employed whenever and wherever it is demanded.

When under Free-Trade Tariff bill we saw our nation largely importing its manufactured necessities, and when under this administration, we are manufacturing not only for ourselves, but are supplying the other nations of the world with the products fabricated by American hands in American workshops, you can make a fair guess that I will flop to help that cause along.

Last year we sent from our American workshops to foreign nations $339,000,000 worth of manufactured products; this year $432,000,000, and with the assured certainty that with the present policy maintained these exports will within six years reach more than $1,000,000,000 annually, thereby requiring double the workshops of the present and affording double the present opportunity for honest labor and honest capital to meet with substantial recompense, I will flop, and flop until I can be right side up in line with that policy.

When a pound of wool brings the farmer from 12 to 15 up to 50 cents today, and when his sheep, that were only salable at a dollar per head in 1896, are worth today three to four dollars per head, I will flop whenever it is required for me to do so to help maintain that condition for the wool grower.

When I find that in 1896 we imported 230,000,000 pounds of foreign wool; in 1897, 351,000,000 pounds of wool; while in the year 1899 we imported but 70,000,000 pounds of wool, to give the best market of the world to the American producer rather than the foreign producer of wool, makes it easy for me to flop for the benefit of that wool-grower.

When cotton, that sold for 4 cents per pound under the last administration, brings from 9 to 10 cents per pound under the McKinley administration, I will flop to help the cotton grower.

When I see an advance in the price of all farm products ranging from 25 to 125 per cent, and my flopping from my attitude to another will help that farmer, I will try to be the first man to flop.

When I see furnaces blazing, forges glowing, looms weaving, when I hear shuttles clicking and spindles humming, when brawn and brain each find fair recompense whether in factory or in field, I will, as a man who aims to be loyal to his fellows, his country and his Creator, try my level best to maintain that con-

Glorious News.

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help; but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows that thousands have proved, that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion and builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by Blakeley Druggist. Guaranteed.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Arrangements have nearly been perfected by the Marquette Club for its harvest home prosperity feast, which is to be held next Wednesday evening at the Coliseum. The vast hall is to be tastefully decorated with grain and farm products of all kinds. Ears of corn and sheaves of wheat and oats will hang from the gallery and will also be arranged about the sides of the interior of the structure. Members of the Marquette Club call it the dollar dinner meeting. Covers will be laid for 3000 persons.

Mark Hanna, J. C. Burrows and J. K. Cullison, United States senators from Ohio, Michigan and Kansas respectively, will be among those who will address the meeting.
