WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

The Co-operative Brotherhood juvenile band will give a performance in The Dalles Nov. 1st.

Final citizen papers were issued yesterday afternoon to Enoch E. Anderson, a native of Sweden.

Come out to the meeting for the organization of a football team at 8:30 at the armory this evening. All athletes and others interested invited.

At the popular millinery parlors of Campbell & Wilson can be found all the latest things in street hats, trimmed hats, children's school hats, and also tam-o'-shanters.

Mr. J. E. Remus was united in marriage last Sunday to Miss Annie Hutson at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Thomas Hutson, near Summit Ridge. The marriage ceremony was performed by Elder P. P. Underwood, of Boyd.

When Mark Hanna visited Winslow, Kansas, last Saturday he found the town placarded with the following notice: "Populist farmers beware! Claim your children to yourselves, or keep them under the bed! Mark Hanna is in town!"

We have a beautiful little cottage, with two lots well improved, for sale cheap. Good location and convenient to schools. If sold within the next thirty days will sell for $800, on easy terms. This is a snap. We have numerous other bargains for sale or rent. Apply to Hudson & Brownhill.

The distillery will commence operations tomorrow. The company received on last night's boat twenty-two additional mash tubs. Mr. Stringer, the senior member of the firm, went to Portland this afternoon on a short business trip. On his return he expects to buy up all the apples he can advantageously handle.

A. H. Curtiss, of the Diamond flouring mill, paid a visit to the mill this forenoon. Mr. Curtiss, we are pleased to learn, is slowly recovering from his late accident and has again full use of his limbs, but the fall on his head has resulted in, temporarily at least, depriving him of the sight of one of his eyes.

Black Crook, Jr., would stand several more performances at the Grand, but the management was able to place only one night here. It is a bright medley of vaudeville specialties presented by performers who in the main are artists. The Black Crook Jr. played to a good house last night, and the various numbers were accorded hearty applause. The company made the most of every opportunity, and a really meritorious performance was given.—Iowa Capital, Sept. 18th. At the Vogt Saturday, Oct. 28th.

It appears certain that the men arrested at Antelope Saturday, by Deputy Sheriff E. B. Wood, were not the men that robbed Mr. Campbell, keeper of the Summit House on the Barlow road, a short time ago; nor is it probable that they are engaged in the business of passing counterfeit coins. One of them had $1000 in good money on his person, while the others had lesser sums but all genuine. What the antelope authorities did with them we have not learned. The men were probably ordinary toughs that went to Antelope to practice some skin game during the fair.

For the first time in the history of Wasco county a full-blooded Indian, the other day, paid his quota of county tax, all the same as his pale-faced brother. And all the same as some white men, Pete let his taxes become delinquent and had to suffer the consequences. Indian Pete has run a band of horses on the Deschutes below Sherar's Bridge for many years, but never till this year was he honored with a place on the assessment roll. His share of the public burthens was $21.78 and some $5 of this amount was for mileage of Deputy Sheriff Wood in collecting it.

This afternoon at the auction sale of dry goods at Mr. S. L. Brooks' store, in the East End, the bidding was for a time tame and slow, and in order to give a little variety to the entertainment Mr. Crossen held up a $20 gold piece and asked for bids. Mr. Crossen assured the crowd the coin was genuine and somebody offered 25 cents, then 30, then 35, and thus slowly and cautiously the bidding went on till $15 was reached, when somebody asked what kind of money was wanted in payment for the $20, and the auctioneer answered "Silver dollars." But nobody wanted to bid any higher, and the sale was called off after Mr. Crossen had assured his audience that if Bryan is elected on the 6th of November they won't see a $20 gold piece for the next four years.

The stage novelty promised for the near future in this city is a musical farce entitled "A Wise Guy." Geo. M. Cohan, a well-known creator of sketches, is held responsible for the new piece, and it is said to be his best attempt at the fashionable pastime of blending music and mirth. "A Wise Guy" tells a pretty little story, and derives its comely element from a source previously utilized with much effect by others, viz: The happenings at a summer boarding house, filled with a party of young residents of New York. Of course the boarding house is bad, and of course the guests are disgusted, but endeavor to make themselves comfortable by devising means of amusement of their own. The result is naturally a series of misunderstandings, complicated flirtations, and other material valuable to the construction of a farce. A company of more than ordinary note is engaged in the interpretation, chief among whom are William Sellery, Chas. Graham, Edward Sanford, Anna Mortland, Bertie Haydn, Saville and Stewart and Joy and Clayton.

The people of The Dalles believe that they have the material for a first-class football team and are willing to subscribe the money for the same if the young men of our town, who should be interested in this, will organize for good, hard effort. The football game between Heppner and our home team was played without any practice worth mentioning, and though our boys were not defeated by a very large score, yet such a showing is not creditable. A meeting is called for the armory in the opera house at 8:30 this evening, for the purpose of completing an organization. All athletes, and everybody else interested, should come out. Remember that The Dalles people want to be represented in this matter, and propose to give aid financially to an organization that means business.

Look Out for Spurious Silver Coins.

There is little room for doubt that certain "shovers of the queer" have been doing a land office business in the neighborhood of Wapinitia, Tygh, Shaniko and Antelope. It is said, with possibly some exaggeration, that these places have been flooded with spurious dollars and half dollars, and that a single business man of Antelope has had $500 worth of them palmed off on him. Deputy Sheriff E. B. Wood, who has been out in these districts collecting delinquent personal property taxes, brought in a sample dollar and half dollar and these are now in the hands of Sheriff Kelly. They are remarkably well executed and are scarcely distinguishable from genuine coins except by their ring on the counter. The dollar is dated 1890 and the half dollar 1900. Frank Gabel, of Wapinitia, who inspected them, says they are much better executed than those that were distributed in his neighborhood, which were somewhat clumsy imitations of the genuine coins.

If Mr. Gabel is correct, it is probable that more than one party is engaged in distributing these coins. It is certain that one of the parties consists of the three men who passed some of them on Charley Frear of the Clear Creek saw-mill west of Wapinitia. The men had three horses and a pack horse and were heavily armed. They are supposed to be the same men who robbed Mr. Campbell of $17.50, at the Summit House on the Barlow road.

The men were seen last Friday at Wapinitia and crossed the Deschutes at Maupin's Ferry. A. M. Kelsay saw them next day in Shaniko, but they staid there only a short time. They were next seen in Antelope although the testimony as to their presence there is conflicting. It is believed that when they left Antelope they went north or northeast rather than south, but there is no certainty as to their movements after they left Antelope. The men are described as young fellows of about 21 years. They wore blue overalls and one of them had a particularly high standing collar.

GIRL TOOK CARBOLIC ACID.

Miss Jennie Stewart Committed Suicide at Portland Last Friday.

Miss Jennie Ethel Stewart, of 432, East Seventh street, took carbolic acid with suicidal intent last Friday, and died shortly afterwards. An attempt has been made to keep the matter secret, and those who took part in holding the coroner's inquest were pledged not to reveal what they knew. The verdict was "suicide resulting from despondency."

The fact that Miss Stewart was widely known, especially in fraternal circles, caused wonderment that she should be dead and buried before scarcely any one knew of it. As stated, she died Friday and was buried Saturday. She was very popular and well known among the lodges, and many of her friends cannot realize that she is dead.

Miss Stewart's mother and herself lived together. They were in comfortable circumstances. The girl was 23 years old. According to witnesses and intimate friends, Miss Stewart went out calling Friday with a friend from Salem. After reaching home she said she would run up stairs a moment. First, however, she was called up by a girl friend, who asked her how she was feeling. "Oh, I am feeling first rate," she is said to have replied. She also intimated that she was going on a journey.

"Where are you going?" asked the friend. "You'll soon know," she replied, and rang off.

Then she went up the stairs and a moment later the Salem friend heard a sound as of something dropping on the floor, and also a scream. The noise on the floor was made by the falling of a cup out of which she had drunk carbolic acid.

Those who knew the young lady most intimately say that she had been in poor health a long time, and was subject to fits of despondency. At such times she seemed to take a very dark view of life and imagined troubles when there was none. She was an upright, honest, young woman, of a loving disposition, and she made friends everywhere. Because of these attributes her violent death aroused more than ordinary interest.—Portland Telegram.
