An old-line, John C. Calhoun, Jeff Davis, unreconstructed democrat called at this office today and offered to bet one to five on the general result of Bryan's election, to the amount of $1000.

It is said that there is just one democrat left in the North Dalles precinct of Klickitat county and arrangements have been made with the Chronicle that, it is hoped, will result in his conversion.

The editor of this paper is billed to speak in the interest of McKinley and Roosevelt at Mount Hood grove, Hood river valley, Saturday, November 3d, at 2 p. m., and at Pine grove, in the same valley.

Great Sachem A. B. Cherry, of the Independent Order of Red Men, visited the Ware's tribe last night. After the regular tribal pow-wow there followed a hiyu muckamuck with more pow-wow and what the pale face would call a regular good time.

Some seven or eight cars of a freight train were derailed and wrecked in the neighborhood of the John Day at 1 o'clock this morning, causing about six hours' delay to the passenger train that is due here at 4:30 p. m. Nobody was injured, so far as we could learn.

Hon. C. B. Moores, register of the land office at Oregon City, will address the people of Dufur in the interest of McKinley and Roosevelt on Thursday, November 1st, at 7:30 p. m., and the citizens of Antelope at the same hour on Saturday, November 3d.

It is said that to furnish the Sunday edition of one of New York's largest papers it requires the product of twenty-seven acres of wood to make the paper with which to print its enormous output. At this rate, how long will it be before our forests are denuded of their timber?

An exchange remarks: "The newspaper is a law-book for the indolent, a sermon for the thoughtless, a library for the poor, and an admonisher to the lawless. It may stimulate the most indigent, it may instruct the most profane, but it cannot be published without cost and mailed free to subscribers."

F. W. Wakefield obtained a deed today for a strip of land three feet wide off the north side of the Jole residence lot on Washington street. The strip will be used for an entrance way to Mr. Wakefield's new building near the southeast corner of the M. E. church. The price of the strip was $962 per front foot.

The ladies' of St. Paul's Guild have decided to add a social feature to their entertainment of Friday night. After the program they ask their friends to remain and refreshments will be served. Among the pleasing numbers on the program is a drill by fifteen young ladies in costume, carefully trained by Miss Jenkins. Seats may now be reserved at Blakeley's without extra charge for this entertainment at the Baldwin on Friday night. Adults 35 cents; children 25 cents.

Don Reavis, of Salt Lake City, representing the Fort Wayne Drug Co., of Fort Wayne, Indiana, was in town today. Mr. Reavis is introducing a famous old herb remedy, Lincoln Tea, and the medicine is said to be as good as the name would imply. Mr. M. Z. Donnell, the leading local druggist, has taken the agency for the remedy, and in a short time his shelves will contain a large quantity. Be sure and look for the Lincoln Tea window display, and don't fail to get a free sample. A feature of the advertisement of Lincoln Tea will be two beautiful busts of the greatest president yet, and these busts will be seen in Mr. Donnell's store.

A brand new farce comedy is announced for this city next week under the title of "A Wise Guy." Mr. Colan is said to have constructed a right merry comedy out of what might occur during a visit of an English lord to a country boarding-house filled with pretty girls. Summer outings have previously served as the basis of laughable plays, and nearly always with good effect, and Mr. Colan's skill in the building of farcical vehicles has been frequently demonstrated recently. "A Wise Guy" is said to fairly bristle with amusing situations, and the judicious injection of a liberal supply of up-to-date music is declared to have produced one of the best entertainments of the year.

They had lots of fun in Sherman county a few days ago over a young couple that got married at Wasco. The bridegroom was from Halsey, and after the marriage at 9 a. m., the young couple boarded the next train for their home in the Willamette valley. When they arrived at Wasco station they found their trunks labeled, "Handle with care. The contents are wedding presents. For further particulars inquire of the hotel clerk or train conductor." To add to the gaiety of the affair type-written cards in red ink were distributed broadcast among the passengers which said: "Present this card to the conductor and he will introduce you to the bride and bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams." It is said the most active distributors of the cards were "Dutch" McCoy and George Crossfield.

Says a Chicago correspondent of the New York Sun: "Chairman Saunders, of the Republican Railroad Men's League, states everything is coming into the Republican camp, and that a recent poll taken of railroad employes at the following places gives great encouragement: At Galeburg 1900 men are for McKinley, while but 300 are for Bryan. At Aurora, the home of Candidate Alschuler, McKinley has 578 supporters and Bryan 120. Rock Island, 78 McKinley voters to 12 for Bryan. At Peoria there are 121 McKinley men to 13 for Bryan. Danville shows 310 for McKinley and but 34 for Bryan. Mr. Saunders states that this is a gain over 1896 or sixty per cent, in the said railroad yards visited, and is of belief that Illinois will record 85 per cent of its railroad vote for the Republican candidate.

Do You Wish to Laugh?

If one seeks amusement, to enjoy good music and to be entertained without a dull moment, the genuine farce comedy, properly presented, is the most satisfying. In evidence "Kelly's Kid's." In this successful farce there is a combination of pretty girls beautifully costumed. Single numbers of the latest hits in the song world, laughable incidents in rapid succession. Specialties above the average, clean, wholesome and gratifying in its entirety. In a word, "Kelly's Kid's" is a legitimate vehicle of American humor, and will be seen at the Vogt opera house Tuesday night, October 30th.

Porto Rico Is Satisfied.

Dr. J. H. Hollender, treasurer of the island of Porto Rico, and formerly associate professor of economics of the Johns Hopkins University, delivered an address to graduate students of the university a few evenings since, on the condition of the island. After describing the manner of government and the conditions of local self-government, he said:

"The condition of affairs is hopeful, and everywhere the best element of the island is rallying to the support of Mr. McKinley's administration. The feeling is growing among the people that the administration is doing its best to benefit the island. What Porto Rico needs is an intelligent appreciation of the real conditions of Americans. I do not now think that an intelligent man could feel that the Porto Rico tariff was anything but a necessary fiscal device. We need $2,000,000 for the island if we are to accomplish anything. The alternatives of the tariff law were either a subsidy from the United States or else the pauperization of the island. At the present time if the alternatives were presented of deriving the necessary money from direct taxation or from the tariff, the decision would be overwhelmingly in favor of the tariff. The discontent that once existed was caused by the delay that occurred in taking any action at all."

How Wages Have Advanced.

The extent to which wages in the United States have advanced in the past few years is one of the marvels of the time. Hon. Carroll D. Wright, United States commissioner of labor, has just got out a bulletin which makes a comparison of the wages in 192 occupations for the past few years. The average rate of 1891 is taken as a basis, and is put at the figure 100. On this basis the wages in these employments was down to 99.32 in 1893, and to 97.88 in 1895. The average was up to 101.54 in 1899, and it is at the 103.43 mark in 1900.

The basis of comparison makes a rather rigid test for the present time, for 1891, with which comparison is made, was a year in which the republican party was in power, and the country was at a high level of prosperity. When the democratic panic came in 1893, however, as a consequence of the democratic victory in the presidential canvass of 1892, the wage level, of course, went down, and it was at its lowest point around 1895 and 1896, the latter being the year of Bryan's financial reign of terror. An advance came just as soon as the republicans won in the latter part of that year, and the tendency has been upward ever since.

The Bad Boy at Work.

An Oregon City dispatch of last Saturday says: "A boy named Boylan created a panic and caused serious damage this morning by tying an empty five-gallon coal oil can to the tail of a vagrant cayuse at the head of upper Seventh street. The frightened animal rushed frantically
