Elocutionary entertainment at the Baldwin opera house tonight. Glove sale at A. M. Williams & Co.'s tomorrow.

Tomorrow's the day. Kid gloves at half price and less at A. M. Williams & Co.

Professor Sandvig's regular weekly dance will be given at the Baldwin tomorrow night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gordon and son, of Portland, are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Sharp, of this city.

Mrs. H. E. Warren, of Heppner, arrived in the city today where she will visit her mother, Mrs. Clay Myers.

Another chance to save money. You can buy two pairs for the price of one at Williams & Co.'s glove sale tomorrow.

New street hats just arrived at Miss Haven's; also some very nobby turban shapes that are to be so popular this season.

Oscar Nelson, a Goldendale newspaper man, at present connected with the Sentinel of that town, is in the city visiting friends.

Mrs. Henry Steers, who has been confined to her bed for the past twelve weeks, is so far recovered as to be able to be around the house.

After an absence of about two years visiting friends in the East, Mrs. Mary French returned on this morning's train to her home in The Dalles.

The curtain will rise promptly at 8:30 tonight at the Baldwin on a very entertaining program. It is hoped that the audience will kindly be in their seats at this hour.

The Chronicle yesterday inadvertently omitted the name of Ex Mayor Kuck from the committee appointed to secure grounds for the race track and fair grounds.

There was a rumor on the street yesterday and today that the Oregon King mine, in the northern part of Crook county, was recently sold to eastern parties for half a million dollars.

Special attention is called to the opening number on the program to be given tonight at the Baldwin opera house. The Mahonia quartet will make their first appearance and promise to delight their hearers.

A flock of about forty California quails passed leisurely through Hood River one day last week. They are supposed to be the increase from the quails turned out by the Rod and Gun club two or three years ago.—Hood River Glacier.

We are pleased to learn that Wilton Freeman, who has been very ill with typhoid fever at the residence of his mother, Mrs. Pitman, on Ninth street, has passed the crisis of the disease and is convalescing as fast as could be expected.

It may be of interest to learn that the east-bound passenger (No. 4) that is due here at 9:20 p. m., no longer carries mail, but all east-bound night mail is carried by the train that is due here at 12:45 a. m. The mail car has been taken off No. 5, the west-bound passenger due here at 3:30 a. m., and the mail hitherto carried on this train is now carried by No. 3, that is due here at 4:30 a. m.

Mr. George Ernest Stewart, who is well and favorably known here as for a long time stenographer for A. S. Bennett, was united in marriage Wednesday, Oct. 24th instant, at Spokane, Wash., to Miss Hattie M. Lane, also a former resident of this city and sister of L. Lane. Mr. Stewart fills a responsible position at Spokane as stenographer for a high official of the Northern Pacific Railway.

The race track is a certainty and the committee of the Gentlemen's Driving Association advertise in another place for bids for building of a half mile track on the site selected near the Mission gardens. In this connection it may be proper to state that the track is for the private use of the members of the Gentlemen's Driving Association and ought not to be associated with racing contests and betting on trials of speed.

Ex Banker John G. Maddock, of Goldendale, has sent the traffic department of the O. R. & N. a display of some of the products of his ranch and orchard at Columbus, Klickitat county, which furnishes a remarkable example of the productiveness of the sandy soil of the Columbia river bottom. The display includes two kinds of grapes, four varieties of corn, peanuts, almonds, sweet potatoes, artichokes, quinces and four varieties of apples, all grown on the same farm.

Tastes differ as complexions and faces differ, but generally speaking the world loves a lover, and the American people love song and story. "Kelly's Kids" embraces every feature that has popularized farce comedy. Pretty girls with cultivated voices, really funny comedians, a boy quartet, and the irrepressible, mischievous, laugh-provoking Kelly's Kids. The play in its entirety is bright, clean, musical, productive of genuine mirth throughout its presentation. At the Vogt Tuesday, Oct. 30th.

The condition of Lulu Jones, the 13-year-old school girl, who was almost murdered by Louis Vaughn, a young lad, in the basement of the public school building at Jefferson Tuesday, was somewhat improved yesterday, and hopes are now entertained for her recovery. The sufferer is conscious the greater part of the time, but her physical condition will not permit of conversation regarding the terrible assault to which she was subjected. In a few days more physicians expect that the critical point will be passed.

Oregon apples are likely to bring as good prices as Oregon hops, prunes and other products are already doing, states the Jacksonville Times. Late reports from the East show that there is a partial crop failure in the principal apple belts, which will prove a surprise to Oregonians, who have been led to believe by previous reports that the crop all over the United States was greatly in excess of the average. However, at the last moment, the apple crop of the East is cut down fifty per cent, by unlooked-for climatic changes.

The survey recently made for the canal around the dalles obstructions is being plotted in Capt. Hart's office in Portland. The report of the survey will be forwarded to Washington early in November, and will be placed in the hands of a committee and after going through the usual routine will come before congress. It is probably intended to be compared with the plans for the boat railway at The Dalles, long in contemplation, so as to see which will be the more desirable, the cheaper and better means of overcoming the obstructions between The Dalles and Celilo, a canal or a boat railway.

No qualified voter under the laws of Oregon need lose his vote at the presidential election. If he be not registered, all he need do to get his vote in is to have the affidavit of six freeholders that he is a qualified voter. A male citizen of the United States 21 years of age, who has resided six months in the state, is a qualified voter. Affidavits for unregistered voters will be taken at the office of Hudson & Brownhill. The voter who was unregistered and got his vote in by freeholders' affidavits in June will have to do the same for the presidential election, and should be prepared for it.

"A young girl I know," said an ardent woman republican, "was expatiating in my presence the other day upon what she called 'imperialism.' 'Just to think,' she cried, 'of McKinley being an imperialist! Just to think of the republican party being pledged to imperialism! Why it makes my blood boil to think of such a thing.' 'My dear young woman,' said I, 'as she stopped for breath, 'might I inquire just what you mean by imperialism? Tell me, please, what this imperialism is?' The girl hesitated. 'Well,' she said finally, 'to tell the truth, I don't know exactly what it is, but I know it's something awful.'"—New York Sub.

A. N. Heigh and Mary Masters were united in marriage in the county clerk's office this afternoon by his honor, Judge Gates. The couple were strangers here, and when the license was issued they desired to be spliced with the least possible delay. Judge Gates was telephoned for in haste, and, not knowing what he was wanted for, rushed to the court house with his hair on end and his tout ensemble considerably out of whack. The judge has a superstition that a marriage ceremony performed by him without his hair slicked and a white choker around his neck wouldn't stick. So he excused himself for a moment to fix himself up, but came back with his necktie upside down, and never knew the difference till all was over. To keep the matter from leaking out, the judge treated the boys in the office to ice cream and cake, cigars for those that smoked and a package of chewing gum for Sam Bolton.

The offering at Cordray's this week, "A Wise Guy," will hold the crowds; of that there can be no doubt, says the Portland Telegram. Its initial performance last evening was a center shot. So large was the attendance that Manager Cordray had to move the orchestra into a less area in order to accommodate people inside the rail with the musicians. "A Wise Guy" is a bunch of specialties and funny business from start to finish. It is clean and lively, and rough horseplay, such as is a prominent feature of most farce comedies, is lacking in this. Into three acts are huddled as many laughs as there possibly could be. The show has but one object—to make the people laugh—and it has been an unqualified success. "A Wise Guy" was a mere sketch last season, but struck such a popular chord that it was expanded into a three-act farce comedy. The original sketch is now the third act. The play "made good" in New York, which is a sufficient guarantee of merit.
