Denied That His Brother Murdered Him.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—His skull crushed, his tongue paralyzed and his life ebbing away as the result of a blow on the head, Frank Marshall insisted to the last that he had fallen on the sidewalk and that his brother John was not responsible for his death. He died at St. Elizabeth Hospital, conscious to the last.

For hours, Detective Schulz labored to get an account of the fight. He placed paper and pencil in the dying man's hands and asked him to describe the cause of his wounds. But the injured man pushed them away and would only say that he had fallen. He did not know that his brother made a confession.

John Marshall, now accused of murder, is a station-keeper. His brother Frank came into the saloon and complained that the bartender was wiping the counter with an unclean towel. John, the proprietor, interfered and told Frank to mind his own business. Then the brothers fought. George Joyce and two others separated them. Joyce and his friends then left, but returning soon afterward they found Frank Marshall lying upon the floor with a bad wound in his head. They took him to the hospital. The police have a statement from the bartender, which charges John Marshall with having struck Frank over the head with a mopstick. The coroner's jury said that it was from this wound he died.

Later John Marshall made a full confession, but claimed that Frank had struck the first blow.

TALKED TO THE RAILROAD MEN

Senator Hanna Had a Big Audience in Chicago—Every Branch of Manufacturing in the Country Would Be Paralyzed by Bryan's Election.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—The Auditorium was filled tonight with an immense audience brought together to hear Senator Hanna and Senator Burrows, of Michigan, under the auspices of the republican railroad employes of Chicago. The audience was to a large extent composed of railroad men, and the chairman of the meeting was Lot Brown, agent of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad. Unbounded enthusiasm was manifested throughout the speeches, and a large crowd unable to find room in the Auditorium was entertained by local orators on the lake front. An elaborate display of fireworks followed the close of the meetings.

After making a brief speech in the open air, Senator Hanna entered the Auditorium near the close of Mr. Burrows' address. He was given a generous round of applause, and when he rose to speak the audience cheered for several moments.

"This is the greatest object-lesson in coercion," said Senator Hanna, "that I have ever seen. I am in sympathy with the men gathered here, even if they are here under orders, as has been charged by the opposition. But I think the only coercion they have had is the coercion of their own consciences. I saw the president and told him about this meeting tonight, and he sends greetings to the loyal railroad men of Illinois."

"Now imperialism and other collateral issues in this campaign are only designed to bewilder and mislead the voters. It is an insult to the intelligence of the people to think that they do not know and understand the questions which affect them so directly as those which are paramount issues in this campaign. In sheer desperation Bryan has abandoned the real issues and has descended to the low plane of a demagogue, and is making his appeal on the issue of class against class. This is an admission of defeat."

"If the business men thought there was a possibility of Mr. Bryan being elected, you would see such a paralysis of business as was never known."

"As to the question of trusts, Bryan does not know what a trust is, and has advanced no arguments as to the proper way to suppress them. Bryan claims that every manufacturing institution in the United States that controls large interests is a trust. He says his remedy will be to put upon the free list every product of every industry in a trust, if he has the power to do this, except in the case of the ice trust and the cotton-bale trust. If this was done, every branch of manufacturing in the United States would be paralyzed. The result would be no revenue to the government, and therefore direct taxation would be the only method of raising the expenses of the government."

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Thirty Years of Suffering.

"Suffered for thirty years with diarrhoea and thought I was past being cured," says John S. Halloway, of French Camp, Miss. "I had spent so much time and money and suffered so much that I had given up all hopes of recovery. I was so feeble from the effects of the diarrhoea that I could do no kind of labor, could not even travel, but by accident I was permitted to find a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after taking several bottles I am entirely cured of that trouble. I am so pleased with the result that I am anxious that it be in reach of all those who suffer as I have." For sale by Blakely druggist.

On Road to Recovery.

ALBANY, Oct. 26.—Miss Lulu Jones, who was assaulted at Jefferson by Clyde Vaughn, is improving, and the doctors think she will recover. This afternoon she was fully conscious, and wanted to sit up, but was not permitted to do so. Both of her eyes are swollen shut, and the danger is from the inflammation, Dr. Hawk, who is constantly by her bedside, thinks that she will recover.

Struck a Teacher.

SALEM, Oct. 26.—A young Indian named Samuel Jackson, a pupil of the Salem Indian Training School, at Chemawa, was arrested and brought before Justice O'Donald yesterday on a charge of striking Miss E. M. Reason, head teacher at the school. He was at first inclined to plead not guilty, but later changed his mind, pleaded guilty and was fined $20 and costs. In default of the money to liquidate, he will serve his time in the county jail.

The facts are that Miss Reason corrected the young man for some offense in the school, which made him so angry that a little later he followed her into another room, struck her in the back of the head with his fist, and knocked her down.

Glorious News.

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes:

"Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of eczema, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help; but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved,—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion and builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by Blakely Druggist. Guaranteed.

Sawmills Short of Laborers.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 26.—The mill and factory inspector of this city says that wages in the sawmills of the state are from 10 to 12 per cent higher than they were at the time of his last report, and that in other industries wages are also higher. The scarcity of laborers is well indicated by the failure of the hop-growers to secure enough men to harvest their crop. They were compelled to use an unusually large number of women and children, and Japs were taken into yards for the first time. The sawmills have appealed, through an Eastern railroad, for more men, guaranteeing work for the entire year.
