

For President- WILLIAM M'KINLEY, of Ohio.

For Vice-President- THEODORE ROOSEVELT, of New York.

A MARVELOUS RECORD.

In the campaign of 1896 Bryan did not point a road for the nation to travel that would not have led to disaster...

In the campaign of 1896 Bryan made the following prophecy: "If McKinley and the republican party are successful and put in power for the next four years, wages will be decreased, hard times will come upon us, mortgages on our homes will be foreclosed by the money lenders, shops and factories will close. We will export no goods and we will import from foreign lands all the goods we use. Thus will ruin, want and misery be with us."

Now for the facts of history. Have the factories closed? Let the record answer. In 1892, under the McKinley tariff, our exports for the first time passed the billion dollar mark. In 1893, the first year of Cleveland's administration, under the depressing effect of threatened free trade, our exports were $180,000,000 less than in 1892. In 1895, when the Wilson tariff was in full operation, our exports were $222,000,000 less than in 1892. In 1897, the first year of the McKinley administration, under the encouraging influence of the promise of protection and the assurance of financial honesty, our exports again touched the billion dollar mark, making a gain of over $200,000,000.

During the last two years of Cleveland's last term, and under the Wilson tariff, our exports exceeded our imports only $180,000,000. During the last two years of McKinley's administration, and under the Dingley tariff, our exports exceed our imports more than $1000,000,000.

In other words, we sold to foreigners $894,000,000 more of products during McKinley's last two years, and under a republican tariff, than we did during Cleveland's last two years under a democratic tariff.

At the end of the Harrison administration the balance of trade in our favor was $212,000,000. At the end of the Cleveland administration the balance had decreased to $102,000,000. At the end of the McKinley administration the balance will exceed $544,000,000.

These figures include all our exports of whatever kind. If we look for a moment at our export of manufactures alone we have, if possible, still more convincing proof that Bryan was a false prophet when he predicted that under the gold standard we could not sell our products abroad at remunerative prices.

In 1896, under Cleveland, we paid to foreigners for manufactures $333,000,000 and sold manufactures to the amount of $280,000,000, leaving a balance against us of $105,000,000. In 1897, under McKinley, we paid out for manufactures $27,000,000 less and received $49,000,000 more than in 1896, leaving a balance against us of only $27,000,000.

In 1898 we received $60,000,000 more for manufactures than we paid out, and in 1899 this balance was increased to $80,000,000. In 1900 we are exporting every day more than one million dollars of the products of our factories and we are not losing money on the goods.

To sum up: During McKinley's administration our excess of exports over imports has been five times as much as it was during the one hundred and sixty years prior thereto, namely $383,028,497 against $2,028,301,884. and our manufactures exceed those of England, France and Germany combined. The history of the world furnishes no parallel to this record; and yet only four short years ago Bryan insisted that protection had slain its thousands and the gold standard its ten thousands, while only a few months ago the Bryanite party reaffirmed the Chicago platform which charged that monopolism had "jocked fast the prosperity of an industrial people in the paralysis of hard times." If this is paralysis, may a merciful heaven keep us paralyzed for the next thousand years!

The Bryanite Seattle Times says Bryan is not unlike Ex-President Harrison in some respects. What? Deifying another republican president so soon. And before he is dead! Four years from now these blankety pops will be deifying Mark Hanna.
