The only store in this city where the Genuine Imported Stransky-Steel Ware is sold.

A little higher in price, but outlasts a dozen pieces of so-called cheap enameled ware.

BEWARE!

Other wares look like it, but the genuine has the name Stransky-Steel Ware on each piece. Do not be deceived. First prize at 16 International Exhibitions. Highest award at World's Columbian Exhibition, Chicago. Preferred by the best cooking authorities, certified to by the most famous chemists for purity and durability. It is the cheapest because

BEST.

Remember this celebrated enameled ware is specially imported for and sold in this city exclusively by us.

It does not rust, nor absorb grease, does not discolor nor catch inside; is not affected by acids in fruits or vegetables, will boil, stew, roast and bake without imparting flavor of previously cooked food and will last for years.

We caution the public against imitations.

The silk quilt that has been on exhibition in the window of Judge Blakeley's drug store for some time will be raffled off next Monday night, Oct. 29th, at 8 o'clock.

We are requested to announce that owing to the condition of the church building at this time there will be no Sunday school service at St. Paul's church tomorrow.

A man in Boise offers to wager 2 to 1 and $200 on each of the following propositions: That Bryan will not carry his own precinct, city, county, state or United States, and can get no takers of the bet.

W. C. Hall and Della McCoy were united in marriage this forenoon, October 27th, at the residence of the bride's mother, this city, Rev. U. F. Hawk officiating. The young couple left this afternoon on a wedding trip to Portland.

Rev. Ray Palmer, of Portland, will speak in the interest of the prohibition party at the court house Friday evening, November 21, at 8 o'clock. A number of appropriate musical selections by the best local talent is part of the program of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Teague, late of this city, are now located on the Little Klickitat, a couple of miles below Goldendale, where Mr. Teague is making preparations to go extensively into chicken raising. Mr. Teague thinks he can make money in the business by shipping his chickens to The Dalles; that is to say, as long as they command anywhere near the price they have done for years in this market.

Two tramps, who give their names as William Donovan and William White, were arrested yesterday by Marshal Driver on the charge of having stolen a bundle of blankets belonging to John Dickinson, a stock buyer, from the rear end of a caboose in the yards at the East End. The blankets were found beside the men as they sat at a camp fire in the bottom north of the Wasco warehouse. The men claim the blankets were brought to the place where the marshal found them by another man. Up to press time Dickinson had not appeared to prosecute or claim the blankets, so the men will probably be turned loose.

The entertainment given by Miss Jenkins last night at the Baldwin under the auspices of the ladies of St. Paul's church, and assisted by local talent, was very greatly enjoyed by an unusually large and appreciative audience. The previous appearance of Miss Jenkins before a Dalles audience had caused expectation to run high, and it was more than gratified. All who were present agree that a more delightful evening has seldom been spent in The Dalles.

Hon. A. S. Roberts has sold his Lome band of 1200 head of Merino stock sheep to Bogart & Beckley, of Lane county, and the lot will be shipped by boat to Portland in the morning. Times have greatly changed since nearly all the sheep in the Inland Empire came from the Willamette valley, now that valley sheepmen come here to stock up. The price received by Mr. Roberts was $3.25 for ewes and yearling wethers and $2.10 for lambs.

A prominent physician of this city asks THE CHRONICLE to call attention to a fact admitted by every physician of any standing in the world, namely, that scarletina and scarlet fever are one and the same disease, the only difference being one of degree. The importance of this suggestion will be admitted when it is said that, according to common report, unrestricted egress is had, by children and others, to houses in this city that are quarantined for scarlet fever, under the pretense that the ailment is "only scarletina," and therefore not contagious.

At a special session of the county court held today the petitions of two parties, one a Mr. Petersen and the other a Mr. Wisner, for license to sell liquors in the Mosier precinct were denied on the technical ground that the published notice failed to specify the time when the application would be made. N. J. Sinnott appeared before the court in opposition to the petition. F. W. Wilson appeared for the petitioners but practically conceded the error was vital. So the publication will all have to be done over again, and one saloon will have to suffice for the liquid- refreshment necessities of Mosier for five weeks more.

The plea of a child for more animal stories has induced Rudyard Kipling to add to his series of funny "Just So" tales which have appeared in The Ladies' Home Journal. After the famous author had published the last of that series there was a flood of letters came to the Journal asking for more. One among these was addressed to Mr. Kipling personally, and was forwarded to him in England. It proved to be a letter from a child who pleaded with the author to "give us some more stories about animals; we enjoyed your others very much. There is not much written that we little folks can enjoy, so please, dear Mr. Kipling, write something about my pussy." The earnestness and sincerity of the child appealed very strongly to Mr. Kipling, who is exceedingly fond of little folks, and he writes to the Journal saying that he is going to grant that child's request, even if he has to disappoint all his other friends.

Singular title, yet in the plural. There were two boys, or there is two particular boys, whose sense of humor is so largely developed that they see fun in anything and everything. They of course love music, good singing, can appreciate the value of beauty; but the "irresistible" cussedness of their natures prompts them to commit practical jokes. Of course it is all very funny and you enjoy it. Still you would not care to be a victim. These two boys, no different probably from thousands of other boys, except possibly in their largely developed sense of humor. You have probably met this unrestrained humor in boys. There are cases where the grotesque sense of travesty has been acquired from certain phases of life, or inherited. Either way the result is extremely ludicrous and productive of laughter. Have you such boys? If not, don't fail to see "Kelly's Kids." If you have, then the greater reason to profit by comparison, and you will enjoy it. At the Vogt October 30th.

The company which will produce "A Wise Guy" at the Vogt opera house next Monday night is an exceedingly clever one, including as it does William Sellery, who plays the part of "Spike," Anna Mortland, who appears as the actress, Edward Sanford, a German comedian of ability, who will be seen as Buesse, William Barlow, Charles E. Graham, Frederick Saville, Edward Bice, Bertie Hayden, Carmen Stuart, Ethel Clayton, Sadie Burdell, Hattie Burdell, Ollie Joy and a number of others, including many pretty girls who sing catchy songs. The specialties which are included in the performance are all of the highest order. The Burdell Sisters do an exceedingly clever cake walk and sing prettily; Joy and Clayton present an acrobatic dance which is a marvel in its way; Sayille and Stuart give a clever specialty, and Bertie Hayden sings a number of the latest songs in the prettiest manner possible. Taken altogether, the company is as good as the play, and that is saying all there is to say.

The little town of Cascade Locks that used to be the liveliest spot in the Northwest, but which since the completion of the locks has become as staid and sober as a church yard, had a romance the other day that broke the dull monotony of the place. The star actors were a pretty but lone and defenseless girl from Bridal Veil and a couple of Portland drummers who assumed the role of knights-errant and carried off the girl while she was under the spell of her cruel master, an itinerant hypnotist, and possibly, as the hypnotist subsequently claimed, under the additional spell of Cascade beer. The lady's rescuers conveyed her to the railway station, but unfortunately for themselves, took her trunk along, and at this point the romance ended, for the hypnotist, under the claim that the trunk contained sundry articles of wearing apparel belonging to his wife, had the knights arrested and indicted for larceny before the local justice. The wind-up was a farce in which the justice ordered the whole measley aggregation from his presence. According to the hypnotist's own story he subsequently redeemed himself by taking the girl home to her parents.

Federal Grand Jury Roster.

The first grand jury list for the exclusive use of the United States circuit court has been selected, and on it are the names of 1000 taxpayers of the state of Oregon, who may be called upon some time to act as jurors. The list is expected to last several years and it may be some time before the jurors' names who appear will be drawn for the jury box. The jurors selected from Wasco county are: M. J. Anderson, blacksmith; A. Bellinger, capitalist; John Bonn, capitalist; Lem Burgess, dairyman; C. W. Dietzel, speculator; W. H. H. Dufur, farmer; Wm. Frizzell, farmer; J. E. Barnett, liveryman; S. F. Blythe, editor; A. A. Bonney, dairyman; Truman Butler, banker; Mike Doyle, farmer; J. C. Egbert, farmer; Harry Gilpin, farmer; E. A. Griffin, sheepman; R. H. Guthrie, capitalist; L. Henry, farmer; J. L. Kelly, capitalist; G. A. Liebe, capitalist; W. E. Campbell, surveyor; Charles Green, farmer; J. A. Gulliford, capitalist; C. W. Haight, capitalist; R. B. Hood, merchant; J. H. Johnston, merchant; Frank Gebel, sheepman.

It is worthy of remark that among the 1000 names there is only one editor, S. F. Blythe, of the Hood River Glacier. How he got there is a mystery, as editors know too much to make good jurors, as jurors go, and are rarely asked to serve. What is almost as remarkable is that there is only one Smith in the lot.

PEOPLE COMING AND GOING.
