WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

There will be at least one "weary Willie" in the United States tomorrow.

For rent, furnished and housekeeping rooms, corner of 5th and Court streets.

A. Y. Marsh will give a turkey and trap-pigeon shoot on the beach, Nov. 27, 28 and 29th.

J. M. Huntington has been confined to his home for the past week, and his condition is worse today than previously reported.

If you want a first-class meal, served in the best style, don't fail to call at the New York Restaurant (formerly the Clarendon).

Rev. and Mrs. U. F. Hawk have moved into the new residence just erected by F. H. Wakefield on the lot just back of the Methodist church.

Election returns will be received direct from the Western Union office tonight at Fall & Co.'s saloon, and continue to be received until the result is determined.

Tomorrow the Construction Company's steamer, Billings, which was wrecked some months since on the upper river, will be disposed of at sheriff's sale.

The assault and battery case against Tom Brittain, which came up for hearing in Justice Brownhill's court yesterday, was continued until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

We learn today that James Lane, the expressman who recently purchased the business conducted by R. B. Hood, Jr., is very dangerously ill at his home just across Mill creek bridge.

An extreme pressure of dental work has made it necessary for Dr. H. A. Surlevant to secure assistance in his office, and yesterday at noon Dr. A. M. Abrams arrived from Portland and accepted a position with him.

A representative of Povey Bros., of Portland, was in the city yesterday, and we understand the ladies of the Episcopalian church placed an order with him for some very pretty windows for the new addition to their church.

The body of Al Nash, one of the men who were killed here Sunday morning on the railroad, was shipped that night to Salem, his former home, accompanied by his wife, who reached here at noon Sunday. The remains of McVey were shipped to his parents in Oakland, Cal., last night.

The children had their innings at the dog and pony show last night at the Vogt, and it goes without saying that the dumb brutes played to an appreciative audience, and a large one too. The "children of an older growth" also were greatly entertained by the wonderful antics of the clever little actors.

Hudson & Brownhill have a number of splendid bargains in real estate which they would gladly tell you about if business was not so rushing; but the amount of extra work caused by the registration headquarters being located at their office has precluded all opportunity for advertising. Call and find out for yourself.

The preliminary hearing of John Wilson, who was arrested in Portland Sunday charged with the robbery of Johnston's store a few weeks since, and brought to this city by Sheriff Kelly, was continued this morning and 2 o'clock tomorrow was set for the hour of trial. Attorney Sam Stark will appear for the defense, and District Attorney Menefee for the state.

The Women of Woodcraft will give a "street fair and carnival" at Fraternity Hall on Friday evening, Nov. 9th. The Old Curiosity Shop, with Little Nell and her grandfather in attendance; a German village, where a Dutch lunch will be served; an Indian village with its accommodations; a circus filled with wild animals and freaks will be among the attractions at the carnival. Admission, 10 cents.

Certainly the artist who designs the Youth's Companion calendars reached the zenith of his artistic ability when he designed the 1901 calendar, which we received yesterday. Each year has excelled the other in the beauty of design and 1901 has capped the climax and strewn our months with roses, the fairest one of which is the Puritan rose which adorns the upper part of the calendar. It is a fit ornament for any parlor in the land.

Judge Williams was last of the political speakers at The Dalles, but by no means least, for, as was expected, he gave one of the most convincing addresses last night at the Baldwin a Dalles audience has ever listened to. The judge does not soar into the heavens and draw his conclusions from the stars, but confines himself to the logical side of the question and keeps within the understanding of the most unlearned of voters and thereby does a great work for his party and the principles he stands for. His audience was large and most attentive, and no doubt the influence of his speech will be far reaching.

The breathless stillness of the day seems to be in keeping with the importance of the verdict which is to be recorded later on in the midnight watches. Even the heavens seem to be preparing to weep with the Dem.—the losing side, or else to give 'em thunder. There may have been a hot time in New York today, but it wasn't even warm here. Save for the presence of knots of men on the street corners and about the polling places, one would never have imagined it was election day. Voting has been going on steadily, however, and from the number recorded at noon it is evident no citizen intends to slight his privilege as an American citizen. At different places throughout the city returns will be received during the night, and many patriotic citizens expect to keep vigil until the result is ascertained.

Those of our people who enjoy the best of music and thoroughly appreciate the best work by the best artists will remember with pleasure the visit of Mr. Elmore Rice, the violinist, to our city about a year ago, when a recital was given in the K. of P. hall. Mr. Rice is again in The Dalles making arrangements to give a recital on the 2nd of January, when he will be accompanied by a talented pianist. The Methodist church has been secured for the occasion, and those who have placed their names on the list of patrons, as well as others who will be given an opportunity to do so, may look forward to a genuine treat in the musical line.

The festive sturgeon, which in other years was so numerous in The Dalles, seems to have had his day and stepped down and "in" for a few years. Although the season opened on the first of the month, few have been seen in the market compared with the surplus we were wont to have. The sturgeon in the Columbia were practically exterminated several years ago, and after they were all gone a law was passed for their protection. Under this protection a new generation is growing up, but they have not attained a very large growth yet. It will probably be quite a number of years before any very large ones will be caught, as it must take some time for a sturgeon to attain a length of 10 to 12 feet, which was not an uncommon size for them.

It seems to be the proper caper nowadays in The Dalles to be ready at all times to share with your neighbors and others who may demand it, all your goods, chattels, etc., and your objection to such a procedure is not considered. The latest theft reported is that of a trunk, which was stolen last night from the depot. Mrs. J. C. Meins had sent the trunk of little Miss Golden to the depot by an expressman between 7 and 7:30 o'clock, and when she arrived later to check it, the trunk was minus. A number of loafers about the depot had been noticed by the expressman as he deposited the trunk there, and it is suspected they had a hand in its disappearance. Search was at once instituted and later the missing trunk was found in the lumber yard back of Peters' sawmill. The contents had been rummaged, but evidently the thieves had no use for the personal effects of a child, and so far as could be ascertained nothing had been taken.

When you cannot sleep for coughing, it is hardly necessary that any one should tell you that you need a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to allay the irritation of the throat, and make sleep possible. It is good. Try it. For sale by Blakeley, the druggist.

A very stylish ladies' waist, made of French flannel and nicely trimmed, in the latest colors, only $2.23 at the New York Cash Store.

All May Join in the Chorus.

The following parody on a familiar air may be claimed by the silverites, but there's not a republican in the land who has any objection to joining in the refrain:

How dear to our hearts is the old silver dollar,
When some good friend presents it to view.
The liberty bell without necktie or collar
And other strange things that to us seem so new.

The wide-spreading eagle, the arrow below it,
The stars and the words with the strange things they tell,
The coin of my father! We're glad that we know it,
For some time or other it will come in right well.

The spread-eagle dollar, the star-spangled dollar,
The old silver dollar that we all love so well.

Advantage of the Fruit Dryer.

The Walla Walla Union has the following to say in favor of fruit dryers, which Dalles people would do well to consider:

"The output of the fruit dryer of the Walla Walla valley this season has been enormous. Almost two million pounds of dried fruits, consisting in the most part of prunes and apples, have been placed upon the market which otherwise would have been left to rot by the farmers and fruit growers.

"W. D. Smith, who operated one of the largest dryers in the city, closed
