

Wherewithal SHALL WE be Clothed?

As the icy breath of old Boreas sweeps around the corner it carries that question right home to us. Humanity can no more stand such weather unprotected than can the lilies of the field. Remember right now that underwear is cheaper than funerals and overcoats cost less than undertakers. Therefore we say "come unto us all ye who shiver and are lightly muffled and we will warm you up!"

W. K. Cole died at Hood River Sunday, Nov. 18th, aged 77 years. The deceased came to Oregon in 1876 and resided at Salem and Astoria and for a number of years past at Hood River. He leaves five children, one of whom, W. B. Cole, is a resident of Hood River.

The thermometer fell to 19 above zero last night. In the clock tower on the court house it was cold enough to freeze the grease on the striking apparatus of the town clock, so that while the rest of the clock ran as usual, the striking apparatus ceased about midnight to tell the hour.

We have a nice little home in the pines for sale, consisting of very neat house, lately built, near to Dalles high school and academy. This would be a bargain at $200. We are instructed to take one hundred and twenty-five dollars ($125) spot cash. For further particulars call and see Hudson & Brownhill.

Henry Maier has just received a letter from young John McNeil, of this city, which puts to rest the apprehension that was felt regarding him on the rumor that he was dead. The letter is dated at Victoria, Tarras, Luzon, P. I., October 10, 1900. McNeil was then in good health and was a member of Co. K, 12th U. S. Infantry.

Captain Wainwright, U. S. A., is in Union county looking after the purchase of 5000 head of horses for the government service in the Philippines. Horses for cavalry service must be from five to seven years old, weight from 900 to 1050 pounds, height 14.3 to 15.2 hands. For such horses the government pays from $55 to $80.

In the circuit court the hearing of the action for contempt of court, entitled State of Oregon ex rel. Bernard Warren, vs. Frank Devenport, was put off till tomorrow. In this action the defendant is charged with having violated an order of the court forbidding him to take water out of a certain irrigating ditch in the Hood River country. Negotiations were on foot today looking to the settlement of the case outside the court.

Two car loads of fat hogs were shipped this morning from the company's stock yards to Troutdale. Nearly a hundred of them belonged to John and W. H. Farlow and John Ledford, of the Wamic country, and were driven to town. The rest belonged to J. R. Woodcock, Dave Campbell, Will Norval, Chas. Wing, R. B. Driver, of Wamic, and Lucie Deleo, of Wapinitia. They were purchased by Roe Grimes for the Union Meat Company. The price for most of them was $4.75. Four years ago such hogs were selling here for $2.75 a hundred.

Learn to laugh, advises Woman's Life. A good laugh is better than medicine. Learn how to tell a story. A well-told story is as welcome as a sunbeam in a sickroom. Learn to keep your own troubles to yourself. The world is too busy to care for your ills and sorrows. Learn to stop croaking. If you cannot learn to see any good in the world, keep the bad to yourself. Learn to hide your pains and aches under a pleasant smile. No one cares to hear whether you have the earache, headache or rheumatism. Don't cry. Tears do well enough in novels, but they are out of place in real life. Learn to meet your friends with a smile. The good humored man or woman is always welcome, but the dyspeptic or hypochondriac is not wanted anywhere, and he is a nuisance as well.

The Telegram says a Seattle syndicate has purchased the hull and cabins of what remains of the propeller steamer Inland Flyer, which was built in Portland in 1898 to run between that city and The Dalles. She will be towed around to the Sound and placed on a run there. It is understood negotiations are also pending for the purchase of the steamer Reliance. The Seattle men are anxious to secure two steamers for emergency work in their locality. The Inland Flyer was built at the Supply yards for The Dalles, Portland & Astoria Navigation Co. She was fitted with pipe boilers and triple expansion engines, and calculated to make 23 miles an hour. Her owners calculated she would make a daily round trip between Portland and the Columbia river points. They were anxious for the tourist travel, and not the freight business. On her trial trip she developed a speed of 13 miles, and this was under forced draught. She was placed on the route, but ran only intermediately for less than a year. She was returned to Portland and her machinery taken out and placed in what is now the Reliance, 250 square feet of heating surface being added to her boilers when changed to the new craft. Other machinery will be placed in the Flyer when she reaches the Sound.

PEOPLE COMING AND GOING.

Back From the Philippines.

Fred Grunow, a Dalles boy who has grown up here from early childhood, returned home from the Philippines last Friday after a service of three years in Co. A, 16th U. S. Infantry. Fred first saw active service in Cuba, where he fought at San Juan and Santiago. Afterwards his regiment was ordered to the Philippines and there he continued in active service for nearly a year and a half, until the three years for which he had enlisted had ended, when he and about ninety others were honorably discharged and sent home on the transport Logan.

Fred's description of the islands confirms all that has been said as to their richness. He considers them a very valuable acquisition. As to their healthiness his own case proves that with ordinary care in the use of food and drink a white person need have no inordinate dread of the climate. Except for a very short period his health was good all the time. He says the insurrection, in the proper sense of that term, is dead and has been dead for some time. There are no longer any large bands of insurgents. The ladrones or robber bands usually number from 100 down. They are simply thieves and cut-throats, who rob and murder far more of the natives than they do of Americans. The ladrones have little mercy for anyone, but they have absolutely no compassion for a native who is suspected of friendliness to the Americans. Apart from the ladrones the natives are disposed to be friendly to the Americans, and if the ladrones were once destroyed there would be little trouble in governing the others. As to capacity of the natives for self government, Mr. Grunow thinks the idea ridiculous.

An Indian Wedding.

There was a wedding in Indian society last Sunday night at the tepee in Deadman canyon, says the Lakeview Examiner. Mr. Poody, the beau brummel of red society, took to his bosom Mrs. Packer Jennie, a blushing young widow of five months. The affair was fittingly celebrated with firewater and dried fish, and wound up with a fight in which Mahala Maggie went out before the whirlwind rushes of Mary Cacatat, wife of Big George, and Indian John, husband of the defeated Maggie, bit the dust from a blow with the deadly right of Marshal Whorton, who was called to quell the riot. As a result of the latter scrape John nurses a sore head on the soft side of a plank inside the Tombs (our beautiful county jail) while the marshal carries a bandage around his right hand, upon which he is occasionally seen to pour copious drops of liquid resembling arnica. It was a hiyu big time.
