A special meeting of the common council will be held tonight to consider what is best to be done with the city sewers, in view of the fact that so many of them are at this time falling in and causing considerable expense for repairs.

Mr. Jud Fish informs us that he has received a telegram from Father Bronzest today from Portland announcing that the directors of the Catholic Mission had accepted the terms of the Dalles Gentlemen's Driving Association for the lease of 21 acres of their grounds west of town and that the lease for the same would be drawn up forthwith.

James Lamb, who was shot by a tramp at 4 o'clock last Monday morning, as he and a companion were beating their way on a west-bound freight train and had reached a point about two miles east of town, died yesterday evening of his injury at the Good Samaritan hospital, Portland. Lamb, while here, gave his age as 24, although he looked older, and claimed Barnville, Minnesota, as his home. The local physicians who examined the wound feared fatal results although Lamb is said to have smoked cigarettes and chatted pleasantly on his way to the hospital, as if little were the matter with him. No particulars have reached here but the ball had evidently perforated some vital part of the abdominal cavity.

Dr. Geisendorfer made an ineffectual effort this morning to remove the ball from the shoulder of M. J. Finlayson, who was shot at Antelope Monday by Bert Rogers. The X ray located the ball last night, but it had evidently moved meanwhile and is supposed to be lodged behind a rib. Pieces of the victim's shirt were removed from the wound, and the only apprehension of fatal results arises from the danger of blood-poisoning.

The water commissioners have decided to suspend further operations on the artesian well south of the big reservoir. The hole is down to a depth of 504 feet and has cost in the neighborhood of $2600. The bring was chiefly through very hard basalt rock. Water was struck at several depths but none strong enough to overflow. The hole is cased and plugged and will be preserved for future private experiments, if anyone should at any future time desire to experiment further.

Mead Hughes, who is serving twenty-five days in the county jail for assault, and William Kelly, who is serving thirty days for larceny, had a misunderstanding this morning that resulted in a rough and tumble fight that was brought to a halt by Hughes catching Kelly's left thumb in his mouth and holding on to it, inflicting a painful wound. The Chronicle does not know which of the criminals was to blame for initiating the fight, but it does know that Hughes is making a very successful reputation for himself as a scrapper.

Officer Like, about 1 o'clock this morning, rounded up twelve hobos that he found in various attitudes of repose near the freight depot, and marched them to the city jail, where they were kept until after 10 o'clock this morning, and, as they had committed no crime, turned loose. They were a mixed lot, both as to race, color and previous condition of servitude, but the majority were strapping big fellows that the inexperienced would never think of classifying among the genus hobo, and yet hobos the whole bill of them undoubtedly were.

"Tennessee's Partner," which will be seen at the Vogt December 4th, is an unusually good play and the company which will present it is exceptionally strong. There is an absence of sensationalism, yet there is a distinct western flavor in every line. The situations are dramatic and the play is carried along more by the story than by the tricks of the stage. "Tennessee's Partner" was suggested by one of Bret Harte's popular romances. Manager Arthur C. Alston has re-engaged nearly all of his original company, and a perfect production may be depended upon. The Golden Nugget quartet will be a feature with this sterling attraction.

The Eastern Washington College Boys Arrive This Morning—Game Called for 3 O'clock in the Afternoon.

The football team from the Washington Agricultural College, of Pullman, arrived on this morning's Spokane train and are today taking in our city, which is much larger than they expected to see. They are a husky, big-hearted lot of fellows, and though you will see a warm game, nevertheless you will see no slugging on their part, and this paper can confidently say as much for our team.

The following is the line-up for Pullman: Stone, c; Goff, lg; Schnabley, rg; MacKay, lt; Proff, rt; Jones, re; Evans, le and manager; Gill, qb; Clizer, fb and captain; Thomas, lb; Lawrence, rh; Kruegel, sub.

The Dalles team has not decided upon their line-up for tomorrow, but will probably be as follows: Brown, c; Zirka, lg; Frizzell, rg; Hagan, lt; Gus Bartell, rt; Groehler, re; Ward, le; McKenzie, qb; Cooper, fb; Max Bartell, lb and captain; Williams, rh. Substitutes, Scott, Starr and Northup; Patterson, manager.

Colors—Pullman, crimson and grey; The Dalles, pale blue and white.

Don't defer buying tickets till tomorrow; get them today and take your friends out for a pleasant afternoon. Remember that our football association has assumed a responsibility that, it is hoped, the citizens will assist in discharging.

All ladies and children are admitted free, and gentlemen will not see the game without contributing 50 cents each.

Let Acts Speak Our Thankfulness.

Tomorrow we shall all be eating good dinners of turkey, chicken, pumpkin and mince pie or other good things, it is to be hoped with thankful hearts. Many will attend church and express in suitable words the thankfulness which they will doubtless feel. This is excellent. But we are led to ask whether in this, as in other matters, actions do not speak louder than words. If we are truly thankful that our lives have been cast in pleasant places, should we not best express our feelings by aiding to make happy the lives of such as have not been so fortunate? Nor would we recommend careless or thoughtless giving. The gift should invariably be accompanied by that attribute of the giver that is found in earnest consideration and in the ascertaining of the amount of good likely to result from the gift.

Our public schools are taking up donations for a society that rescues homeless abandoned and ill-treated children from a future of ignorance and crime. The members of this society and its board of trustees furnish a guarantee that its funds will be economically and judiciously expended. What better mode of expressing our thankfulness can be found than that of helping in this noble work?

We are assured that any contributions handed to Judge Blakeley or Miss Anna Lang, the local agents of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society of Oregon, will be thankfully received and duly forwarded to the treasurer of this society.

But whether it be to this society or to some other cause, let our hearts find expression in actions rather than in words.
