Mrs. Olivia Morgan is now in Prineville, where she is giving lessons in art work.

H. C. Rooper, of Antelope, has been appointed administrator of the estate of the late George S. Chandler.

The regular monthly meeting of the union council will be held tonight at the recorder's office at 7:30 o'clock.

Take a look at those boys' knee-pant suits, ages 3 to 15 years, at half price. Broken lines that's all. Pease & Mays.

Murdock Finlayson, who was shot at Antelope last week, is improving rapidly and his recovery is now confidently anticipated.

Anthony Sarsfield brought over from Centerville today 25 head of fat hogs, which he sold to Frank Taylor at $4.75 per hundred pounds, gross.

C. R. Smead, the fruit drier man, shipped East last week from Mosier fifty tons of dried prunes, on which he got an advance of 3 1/2 cents a pound.

Professor Meakin, head lecturer of the Woodmen of the World, is billed to speak in Fraternity hall December 10th, under the auspices of the local camp.

Over in the Centerville country last week T. N. Crofton sold his farm of 320 acres to Henry Garner for $8000, and then bought the D. B. Gaunt ranch for $11,000.

Rev. Dr. Alexander Blackburn, of the First Baptist church, Portland, will lecture in the Calvary Baptist church of The Dalles on the evening of the 10th of December, instant. Subject, "Gump-ton."

Extraordinary values—Boys' suits at half price. Nothing whatever the matter with these goods, a few sizes missing that's all. You cannot afford to miss the opportunity if you are in need of boys' clothing. Pease & Mays.

The Smead Evaporating Company, of Mosier, dried upwards of 150 tons of prunes the past season. George Baatty, of Vancouver, a fruit-drier of ten years' experience was in charge and produced an excellent product. The dryer is of the Allen style of ten ton capacity. The same company operated a similar dryer of eight ton capacity this season at Blacklock.

It is especially requested that all those who are to take part in the "Temple of Fame," which will be given on the 14th, meet in the basement of the M. E. church tonight at 8:30 that the nature of the entertainment may be explained to them.

The Gentlemen's Driving Association Saturday night awarded the contract for grading the drive-way to S. W. Aldrich, of Portland, for the sum of $1,045. The contractor has been instructed to commence work forthwith and rush it to completion.

The Walla Walla Union says it hopes there is truth in the rumor that Senator G. H. Baker, of Goldendale, is booked for the United States marshalship for Washington. The Union handsomely says it would be pleased to have the opportunity of endorsing Mr. Baker.

A salmon hatchery will be built in the near future on the Big Klickitat river, four and a half miles from its confluence with the Columbia at Lytle. A building 30x52 feet will be erected and equipped for handling two million eggs of the Chinook variety, and more of other species.

A few of the young ladies and young married women of the city met with Mrs. Tolmie last Friday afternoon and organized a club for mutual improvement, which they will call "The Fort-nightly." The first meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Geisendorfer Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

Klickitat county has a real live Swedish count of great wealth, who talks of building a 100,000-dollar chateau somewhere near the summit of the Simcoe mountains, north of Goldendale. The count, who is in poor health, has been greatly benefited by a few weeks' sojourn in Klickitat county.

The following Sherman county people came over here yesterday to attend Joseph Morrissey's funeral and returned home on the noon train: S. S. Hayes, Milt Dayman, Thomas Callaghan, J. H. Smith, C. D. O'Leary, J. V. O'Leary and wife, G. E. Thompson, Taylor Burgen, G. B. Borhill and wife, J. A. Hand and wife, R. P. Orr and Jack Daley.

Rev. Paul Kruger was sent this afternoon to the Good Samaritan Hospital, Portland. Since his injury he has been subject to spasms and has required the constant care of an attendant. As the expense was considerable, it was thought better to send him to the hospital where he would have the attendance of trained nurses and where other physicians might pass upon his case.

About ten days ago a real smooth individual, accompanied by a coon banjo player and a side kicker, dropped into Walla Walla, says the Statesman of that place. He was looking for suckers. Somehow or other the town didn't look a bit good to him, and at the same time he was quietly reminded by Chief Kauffman that the city treasury was getting low and a few additional dollars from a man about his size and complexion would help out a good deal. Naturally with this hunch he did not remain. He journeyed on, passed the home of the bunco man, Wallula, and finally struck The Dalles, Oregon.

Mrs. Mary B. Huntington has perfected arrangements whereby the fire insurance business of the late firm of J. M. Huntington & Co. will be continued by her. She will be pleased to renew all expiring policies issued by J. M. Huntington & Co. and to write such further insurance as may be entrusted to her. Office at Huntington & Wilson's law office. n30 1w

Sheriff Kelly today turned over to the county treasurer the sum of $11,468.40, the same being the balance collected on the delinquent tax roll. The roll was therefore turned over to the county clerk, of whom all inquiries must be made in the future regarding delinquent taxes. The sheriff will be out of the tax-collecting business completely till next March. Of the sum handed over to the treasurer today $646.33 belongs to Dalles City and $1,062.20 to The Dalles school district No. 12.

John Hendricks, a young fellow of 22 years or so, was arrested at Mosier this morning by Deputy Sheriff E. B. Wood and brought to town on the 12:45 p. m. train, on complaint made to Sheriff Kelly by certain Mosier people that the man is insane. Hendricks was in The Dalles a short time since when he succeeded in convincing several who met him that he was certainly crazy. He seems to be harmless. He claims to have recently come from Spokane and says his home is in Chicago.

E. H. Weston, a stranger here, who was visiting friends up in the Pines, last Saturday evening had occasion to pick up a 45-caliber pistol that was lying in its leather case on a bed, with the intention of hanging it on a nail, when the pistol dropped out of the case and falling to the floor struck the hammer so as to explode. The ball entered Weston's left leg above the ankle, and ranging upwards, came out near the knee and lodged in the ceiling overhead. Dr. Geisendorfer was sent for hurriedly, but found no bones broken and no serious injury inflicted, although it was a very close call.

The remains of the late Joseph A. Morrissey, of Grass Valley, were laid to rest yesterday (Sunday) afternoon in the Dalles Catholic cemetery. They were brought here Saturday and taken to the residence of Mr. Morrissey's father-in-law, Andrew McDonald, of Alvord street. The funeral took place from the Catholic church in the presence of a large number of friends and acquaintances of the deceased. Mr. Morrissey was about 37 years of age. He had been ailing for some time, but the immediate cause of death was pneumonia. He was a good man in all the relations of life, and his death is deeply deplored. He leaves a wife and two children.

The Astoria News says: "The D. P. & A. N. Co. has purchased the steamer George W. Shaver and will assume control of her in about three months. The Shaver people have bought the boiler of the steamer Regulator, which they will place in the steamer No Wonder. The Regulator is to be pulled on the ways and generally overhauled, and will be equipped with a new boiler. It is apparent the D. P. & A. N. Co. are preparing to substitute the Reliance, the purchase of the Shaver being taken by some as confirming the sale of the Reliance, for which it is known negotiations are under way.

In these days when everyone is bemoaning the degeneracy of the drama, it is intensely refreshing to sit for three hours and thoroughly enjoy a clean, wholesome play like "Tennessee's Partner," which is announced for a special engagement at the Vogt opera house tomorrow night, Dec. 4th. For the past three seasons this play scored the most pronounced success and was unanimously endorsed as one of the most powerful character comedy-dramas on tour. A prominent feature is the introduction of a quartet of male characters in costume, under the title of the Golden Nugget Quartet, whose vocal selections are incomparable in their accuracy and harmonious blending.

At 5 o'clock Sunday evening, John Wilson, a blacksmith who has been working for some time with a construction crew near Mosier, while drunk lay down to sleep on the railroad track about two miles east of Mosier and was run over by a freight train that cut him in two, horribly mangled the remains. At the same time the engine and four cars were thrown from the track, obstructing the traffic till this morning. Wilson worked at his trade in this town for nearly a year, in the shops of J. L. Thompson and Lane Brothers. His home was in Denver, where he leaves a wife and two children, one of them a married daughter. Coroner Butts will hold an inquest on the remains tomorrow.

Maurice Cushing, youngest living son of M. M. Cushing, a pioneer settler of this neighborhood, was the victim of a shocking explosion at Sumpter Saturday. He had laid some sticks of giant powder on the stove to thaw, when the explosive went off. His eyes were completely blinded, both hands were nearly blown off, and both legs broken. When picked up and carried to the hospital he was in a semi-conscious condition, but died soon after. Mr. Cushing was unmarried and aged about 23 years. He was a member of the Modern Woodmen of the World and carried $2000 insurance in the order. He was a member of the Order of Red Men. The remains are expected to arrive here on the 4:50 train tomorrow morning. Arrangements for the funeral had not been completed at the hour of going to press.

Last Saturday Officer Alisky received a telegram from Walla Walla asking him to look for Miss Stanford, who was expected to pass through here on the afternoon train and who was supposed to have in her possession an astrachan jacket, which she had stolen from a store in Walla Walla. Alisky had no trouble in picking out the girl from among the passengers, and, addressing her by name, told her of his business. The girl stoutly denied any knowledge of the jacket, when he demanded that she should come with him. As she rose to her feet the officer's eye rested on the stolen jacket, neatly folded up and lying on the seat, where it had been concealed by the girl's dress. As the officer was only instructed to find the jacket, the girl was allowed to go her way, and the jacket was duly returned to the owner.
