BEST.

We caution the public against imitations.

To Whom It May Concern,

It having come to my knowledge that parties, presumably interested, are claiming that when I sold out my retail interest at 173 Second street, French's block, I contracted to not open any retail business in the city of The Dalles. I beg to say that I sold my right not to open any retail business between Federal and Washington streets, on Second street, and have and intend to conform to my contract. My place at the Bank Cafe is in no sense in violation of the contract.

THE CHRONICLE wonders if the cigarette-smoking youths of this town have not forgotten, if they ever knew, that it is unlawful in this state for "any minor under 18 years of age to smoke, or in any way to use any cigar or tobacco in any form whatever, in any public highway, street, place, square or resort."

L. S. The census enumerators in many cases failed to realize the importance of mortality statistics. In one of the Eastern states an enumerator had only two deaths in a population of more than 1300 for the entire year, which the supervisor thought was not sufficient, so he sent back the returns. The enumerator responded with the following explanation: "Dear Sir—There was four more people that died, but they was widows."

The regular north bound passenger train of the Columbia Southern railway was derailed yesterday about three miles south of Biggs, through the spreading of the rails. Five freight cars and the passenger car left the track, one freight car and the locomotive remaining, and with these latter the passengers were taken on to Biggs where they got there three hours too late to make connection for The Dalles. A special engine went up from here and landed them in The Dalles about twilight.

Miss Julia Austin, the Lake county, California, giantess and foot-racer, has just arrived from the snow-capped peaks of Alaska, where she has been training for more than twelve months, says the Willit, Calif. Press. Miss Julia was matched against the great Alaska Indian foot-racer in a dash of 200 yards for $40,000. She ran the distance in twenty seconds, racing her victim from start to finish and winning the glittering gold by a small majority. This beautiful young lady stands 7 feet three inches in her stocking feet, weighing 160 pounds; was born in Colorado and raised in Lake county. She speaks seven different languages, and can outrun any human on earth for money.

On Saturday afternoon from 2 till 6 Mrs. J. C. Meins gave a spinning party to her Sunday school class of eight boys, viz: Arthur Wand, Harry Walther, Guy Douthit, Charlie Johnston, Guy Jones, Ray Bunnell, Jamie Kinnersly and Tommie Hudson. Jamie Kinnersly scored the highest point in spinning and received first prize. Tommie Hudson took the consolation, a tin horn, and demonstrated the fact that he could blow "both loud and long," even if he could not make a success in spinning. The afternoon was passed with games, and at 5 p. m. refreshments were served. Miss Nellie Kaufman and Madge Smith assisted in entertaining the young lads, who enjoyed themselves as only a lot of healthy, happy boys can.

In these days when the mind of the theatrical man seems to run to farce and horse play, to theater-going folk that still cling to the idea that the stage has a mission in the world and who like some literary merit in a dramatic production such a play as "Human Hearts" is refreshing. This play which is now in its fourth successful season, is one which appeals to higher sentiments. Its moral tone is ennobling, yet its emotional side is not of the morbid sort. Instead, pathos and real comedy are interwoven with exceeding cleverness. It is a play requiring that the actors act and not perform. It is for these reasons that the play continues to retain its hold on the hearts of the people. "Human Hearts" comes to the Vogt opera house Monday, December 17th.

A. M. Abrams, a young man employed in Dr. Stardevant's dental office, was held up at about 8 o'clock Saturday night on Alford street, about half way between the residence of L. E. Crowe and I. C. Nickelsen. Mr. Abrams was on his way to the Fred Fisher residence and had just turned east on Alford when two men accosted him and ordered him to throw up his hands. He was soon relieved of $35, the amount of coin in his pants pockets, but, fortunately, the highway men missed a roll of greenbacks that Mr. Abrams carried in his breast pocket. One of his assailants was a tall man and the other a small one. The tall one wore a slouch hat and dark clothes and appeared to have a handkerchief over the lower part of his face; but it was too dark at the time of the assault for any accurate description of the men to be procured. The officers of the law have no clue as to who the men were. It is strongly suspected, however, that the robbers were no strangers, and that they knew their man and knew that he was accustomed to carry money on his person all the time.
