

...Our ANNUAL REDUCTION SALE... COMMENCES FRIDAY, JANUARY 4th.

Friday, January 4th, will usher in at this store one of the Greatest Reduction Sales ever known in its history, and one that should receive the support of every economical man and woman in The Dalles and vicinity. Every article in the house has been gone over carefully, and has been reduced without regard to cost. Remember, we are not offering Shop-worn Goods. We are ever building for the future, and would rather underestimate the goodness offered here than have you disappointed at the showing in the store. Come tomorrow, and let the goods tell their own bargain tale.

The local G. A. R. Post today moved their charter and lodge paraphernalia to the K. of P. hall, where they will hold their meetings in the future.
The editor of the Hood River Glacier has just enumerated the people within the corporate limits of that town, and finds the population to be 751.
The football season for the Dalles team will close with the game with second Multnomah on January 18th. It is the plan of the members to give a benefit ball in the evening after the game for the purpose of discharging indebtedness of the association. The members feel that in this they will have the loyal support of the Dalles people. The last game, from a financial standpoint, was quite disastrous, owing to the bad weather.

The postoffice at Grants was robbed Monday night. Fifty dollars worth of postage stamps were taken; also cigars, chewing tobacco, clothing, and other articles amounting to $150. Mrs. Wilkerson, the postmistress, doesn't live in the building. The robbery is supposed to have been committed by two hobos, who were seen the day of the robbery in that vicinity.—Goldendale Sentinel.
Here's an example of what A. M. Williams & Co. are offering in their cloak department at present: A lady's fine Kersey cloth short jacket, lined throughout with a good heavy satin to match; made double-breasted, with wide scalloped revers; seams and edges finished with several rows of stitching; fancy pearl buttons. Color, a mode. Worth $12.50, for $6.25. All other jackets above $10 at same reduction.
A big stout German who works for Seufert Brothers, while walking the railroad track near the powder house Wednesday night, was accosted by four tramps who demanded that he should hold up his hands while they would relieve him of his valuables. Instead of complying the German grabbed for a big horse shoe that he happened to have in his pocket and striking out solar plexus like greased lightning had three of the four would-be highwaymen biting the railroad ballast in less time than it takes to tell it. Then kicking the prostrate tramps till the German thought they probably had enough he let them go their way after making them solemnly swear that they would never attempt to hold anybody up again, as long as they lived. The fourth man escaped punishment by taking leg bail.
Miss Lily Kelly last night entertained about twenty of her school companions at the residence of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gonrly. If the noise and laughter that forced their way through floor and carpet and ceiling to the reportorial ear in the rooms below were any index by which to estimate the fun and enjoyment of the youngsters upstairs, we conclude there was no lack of enjoyment. In a guessing contest for the authorship of a list of quotations, taken largely, but not exclusively, from the high school text books, there was a tie between Miss Bessie Eddon, Miss Hattie Glenn and Miss Blanche Emerson and, on leaving the decision to the arbitrament of three straws, Miss Glenn drew the longer one and captured the first prize. Miss Della Young and Master Frank Sylvester tied for the consolation prize and the longer straw awarded it to Miss Young. The company did not break up till midnight.

At the residence of Leon Curtis, on the north side of the river, at high noon on Wednesday, January 2nd, Rev. D. V. Poling, of the Congregational church, united in marriage George Ulysses Waud and Miss Pauline Knechtle, in the presence of immediate relatives of the contracting parties. The bride, who is a young lady of splendid character and well liked by all who know her, was becomingly attired in white, and wore a wreath of real orange blossoms. The groom has been in Mr. Curtis' employ for the past eight years, and is a man of sterling worth. At the close of the festivities, which included a splendid wedding dinner, the young couple repaired to their neat little home, which has recently been built near Mr. Curtis' residence, carrying with them many useful and beautiful presents. While thanking them kindly for a generous remembrance of cake, THE CHRONICLE wishes for Mr. and Mrs. Waud a long and happy married life.

A Chance to Be Humbled.
P. T. Barnum said the American people liked to be humbugged.
Our city is now being canvassed by agents who are very liberal. They want to make you an enlarged picture free. You get something for nothing. How reasonable that is from a business standpoint. It's the same old game; you don't get the picture unless you buy the frame.
The year before I came to this city the proprietor of a Portland portrait company told me that he took $700 out of The Dalles on the same kind of a scheme. He called my attention to a frame that he got $7 for. (Of course he would give you the picture.) You can get the frame for less than half that amount.
When the agent comes back with your picture, just tell him you can get a handsome Florentine frame, finished in gold with burnished corners for $2.25, and see what you can do at home first, instead of sending the money out of town. That's business and the way to build up your city.
Remember I will enlarge your picture, give you better work, and frame it for less money.
Yours to please,
BENJ. A. GIFFORD.
