The dalles and Celilo improvements have now reached a crisis that we may as well face at this time as at any other. Judging the future by the past there is no certainty that any man who has now reached middle life will ever live to see a canal and locks completed by the government. Even if within the pext eight or ten years we should succeed in obtaining an appropriation that would commit the government to permanent improvements, there is no certainty that a score of years would see them completed. What then? Shall the people of Eastern Oregon fold their arms and await the action of congress, and die while they are waiting or, remembering that God belps those who help themselves, take the matter in their own hands and determine that relief shall be obtained if the people of Oregon Don't forget this. have to do the work at their own For sale-One set second-hand car-
