Within the body lies its cure. Remove the cause by mechanical manipulations and health must prevail. This is the basic principle of Osteopathy. Dr. R. E. Smith, Osteopath, room 17, Vogt block.

Astorian are circulating a petition among shippers and business men of that place, in an endeavor to secure a boycott against the O. R. & N. Co., the petition being nothing more than a binding agreement not to patronize the corporation until it shall extend to Astoria the same freight rates as are allowed points on the sound.

At a rabbit drive last Sunday on Butter creek, ten miles southwest of Echo, Umatilla county, in which nearly 150 persons participated, 1300 rabbits and one coyote bit the dust. The Heppner people will have another killing next Sunday and will probably run an excursion train to it.

Pat Crowe, who has created such a furor in the "under world" and caused so much trouble to the police in the Middle West, was at one time a Walla Wallan, according to a paper published in that city. He is quite well remembered by several who were acquainted with him at that time, and it has been thought he might head that way in his effort to seek a place of safety.

Died, in this city, Monday, Jan. 7th, at 7 p. m., Minnie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Groehler, aged 15 years, 3 months and 28 days. Her death was quite sudden and unexpected, although she had been ill for some time with pneumonia. The grief-stricken parents have the profound sympathy of this community in their great loss. The funeral will take place from the Lutheran church tomorrow, Wednesday, at 2 o'clock.

A tramp, who gave his name as James Kelly, was arrested last night on First street, near the Wilkinson warehouse, as he was opening a telescope valve that he had just stolen from the Cosmopolitan lodging house. The valve is the property of a Japanese. The examination of Kelly was set for 2 o'clock this afternoon, but as all the witnesses, with the exception of Officer Alisky, were Japanese and could not understand English, or make themselves understood, the hearing was postponed till an interpreter can be found.

W. S. U'Ren, of Clackamas county, the whilom prophet of referendum and initiation populism, fusion and hold-up, has returned from a trip to South Africa and announces himself a strong British sympathizer, though he says he went there prejudiced the other way. Among other statements he makes is one that he was told by an American that there were between 2000 and 3000 Americans fighting in the British army. Possibly, but we doubt it. If there was even that much of a sprinkling of Americans in that army in Africa it would do better work than has characterized it lately.—Salem Statesman.

The following is a typographical error, from the Pionville Bugle: "Only at the urgent request of Mr. Timmons, the poet, do we announce that the line in his contribution of last week that read 'She had a cheek like Moses' should have been 'She had cheeks like roses.' As we said before, it is only because the bard raised such a riot that we make the correction, since the Pionville Ladies' Literary, Dramatic, Theosophical and Ethical Study Club had designed to take up the line for study at its next meeting, to consider the esoteric meaning hidden therein, and we do hate to interfere with any outcropping of the desire for mental growth now surging in the bosoms of womankind."—Indianapolis Press.

State Senator F. P. Mays will introduce a bill in the coming legislature to give the electors, at all future state elections preceding the election of an United States senator, an opportunity of expressing their choice for this office. The bill will provide that the names of the regularly nominated candidates for senator, of all political parties, shall be placed on the official ballot and voted for, and the votes counted as in the case of other candidates. Duplicate abstracts of the vote for the senatorial candidates shall be certified up to both houses of the legislature, where the vote shall be counted and the name of the candidate for senator having the highest number of votes announced to each house. Following this announcement the houses are to proceed to vote in the manner required by act of congress.

The cloth and trimmings alone are worth more than A. M. Williams & Co. ask for the finished jacket.

As Others See Us.

The following is clipped from last week's issue of the Wasco News:

"A trip up Mill Creek, Dry Hollow and Three Mile, will convince any man that there are enough good apples now lying on the ground to supply all Sherman county with winter apples. Many trees are well supplied with big apples frozen during the November storm, while those on the ground did not freeze. If the orchardists around The Dalles took the same care of their trees that the people of Hood River do of theirs, they would equal, if not excel, the Hood River people in the production of fine fruits. With the exception of Judge Bennett's orchard, those of Mill Creek are an eye sore to the horticulturist and a drawback to the development of the wonderful resources of this locality. Three Mile orchards are still worse, while Dry Hollow is little superior.

"The late census report of the population of The Dalles is hard to believe. If correct when taken, Uncle Sam's time of enumeration is the wrong season of the year for the reason that a large percentage of a small city's population is scattered and in many cases no one is left who can give an accurate account of those gone. More people are building houses in The Dalles this year than for many years past. Nearly, if not all, the good houses are occupied and scores of shanties are filled with tenants, therefore the doubt concerning the census report.

"This year many nice residences are going up in the Pines! The hospital will be an ornament to the city. A stone basement and other additions are being built to the Episcopal church. The members of the Calvary Baptist church have just put up a splendid edifice costing nearly $3,000. On the opposite side of Union street facing the Calvary Baptist church, stands that handsome house of worship belonging to the Lutheran people.

"The public school system of that city is next to perfect as is attested by the number of high grade teachers turned out from it each year."
