

Bled Quarts at a Time

"I am a knife maker and worked for a number of years in the New York Knife Co.'s factory at Walden, N. Y. First thing I knew I commenced to bleed from the mouth. Sometimes as much as a quart of blood would come up from my lungs at a time. Every time I coughed the blood spurted out. It was in the fall I got so bad and the church people told me I had better make my peace with the Lord and prepare to die, for I would not live till spring. My home doctor couldn't do me any good, but advised me to get to New York City for examination. They finally took me to a medical college, and a whole lot of physicians made what they called a diagnosis. There were several students looking on. One professor had a little ivory hammer, and with this he pounded my chest and held his ear close to listen. After a while the professor looked at me solemnly and declared: 'One of your lungs is about gone and the other is affected. There may be a slim chance for life if you quit working in that knife factory.' I went back home, but didn't improve. One day I saw an advertisement of free samples of Acker's English Remedy for Consumption, being given away by our home druggists, Walker & Eaton. I got one of these bottles, and it relieved me. Then I bought more of the regular size, and my improvement was continuous, although slow. My doctors were astonished and so was I. After dark I hated to spit, because I was afraid it might be blood, and I wanted to know for sure. I have no fear now, for at last I am a solid man again. Although one lung is gone, the other is as sound as a dollar, and answers as well as two lungs, so far as I can see. I want everyone to know the facts and that is why I tell them here." (Signed) A. H. SIMPSON.

Acker's English Remedy is sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee that your money will be refunded in case of failure. 50c, 1.00, and $1 a bottle in United States and Canada. In England, 1s. 6d., 2s. 6d., and 4s. 6d. We authorize the above guarantee. W. H. HOOKER & CO., Proprietors, New York.

Egg Thieves.

While eggs are quoted at sixty cents per dozen, not many would care to see the thief boldly remove from his premises and possession many of those laid by hens that come home to roost and acknowledged the ownership of the one who digs up wheat and burns bones for their benefit. But one night recently Mike Pankratz, who is obliged to leave his couch at 3 o'clock in the morning to attend to some of his duties in the Burns Brewery, became so entranced with the ingenuity of two egg thieves that was rapidly disappearing until all the eggs were gone.

Two woodrats had found where a hen had made her nest in the brewery building and were trying to abstract twenty cents' worth of eggs that the hen had cackled over during four preceding days. The rat could not pick up the eggs and neither could they roll them. Mike says this is so, for they tried both methods. Finally, however, one rat winked at the other with both eyes, and then folding its forward legs about an egg rolled onto its back with the egg firmly clasped to its breast and its tail extended in the direction of "home."

The other rat was quick to catch on, both to the idea and the tail, and the way the prostrate rodent was dragged away made Mike "glower on like an bewitched" until the operation had been four times completed and the last egg dropped through a hole in the floor. And all he said was: "Dot vas von treck; but here is annuder von," and 200 pounds of prostrated anatomy smoothed the wrinkles out of two woodrats forever.—Harney County News.

Theatrical Notes.

The management of the Vogt opera house is pleased to announce the coming of Mr. Lorin J. Howard's rollicking little star, Merry Kate Emmett, presenting "The New Waifs of New York," with entire new scenery and mechanical and electrical effects. The New York Sun says:

"Nearly 500 people were turned away from the Grand Monday afternoon at the opening performance of 'The New Waifs of New York,' and in the evening the house was again crowded. Petite Katie Emmett takes the principal part, a typical New York newsboy, and fills it in the manner that has so endeared her to Grand theater patrons. The play has been seen here a number of times, but never fails to draw large audiences. It deals with the adventures of three children who become lost to their parents and two of them become waifs of the streets. Of course all ends happily in the last act and the family are reunited, the heavy and the polished villain perishing miserably in a burning building. During the progress of the play several clever specialties are introduced.

The above attraction will be at the Vogt next Wednesday evening, Jan. 16th. Seats can be secured at Clarke & Falk's one week in advance. Prices 75 cents and 50 cents.
