The contractor who has been running a tunnel in the Double Eagle mine in Baker county, which is owned by Dalles capitalists, reported to President Jud Fish yesterday that he had finished his contract and had run into eight feet of white quartz without cutting through the ledge. J. H. Cradlebaugh, who is largely interested in the mine, went up today to examine the ledge and report the result to the company. Mr. Cradlebaugh expects to come back here within a week.

The Oregonian is authorized by the O. R. & N. Company to announce that if Portland will establish and operate a sugar refinery to take care of raw sugar imports from the Hawaiian Islands, the O. R. & N. Company will put on and operate a line of steamships direct between Portland and Honolulu. It is well known that Portland can do a lucrative business with the Hawaiian Islands, provided profitable return-cargoes can be provided for the vessels that go thither with our farm products and jobbers' merchandise. What answer will Portland make to this offer? The city of Seattle has just raised $103,000 to enable Moran Bros. to get a warship contract. Can't Portland raise $150,000 for a sugar refinery?

Judge Bellinger made an order Tuesday for the sale of the steamer Frederick K. Billings at the court house door in Portland on February 1st, and fixed the upset price at $1800. The Billings, which was owned by Paul Mohr, has been ashore on the rocks above the dalles, and has been libeled by the crew to recover their wages. She is an old boat, but has a fine new boiler in her, which some say will cost as much to get out as it is worth, owing to the position the boat is in.

The Pendleton East Oregonian of last Tuesday says: "A little flutter of excitement in commercial, financial, farming and several other circles has been caused by the appearance in Pendleton of N. Wheelton, of The Dalles, and his leasing of lands on McKay and Birch creeks. He announced that he wanted to lease a section of country six miles square. Nearly or quite enough leases have already been secured. The leases are taken in the name of Parr, supposed to be, and so rumored, a capitalist from New York City. This leased land will be prospected for coal, iron, petroleum and natural gas. Wells will be bored and shafts sunk. One of the stipulations of the lease is that the lessee shall proceed within a reasonable time to sink shafts at least 500 feet deep. Another stipulation is that in case of coal being found and mined, the lessee shall pay to the lessor the sum of ten cents for each ton of coal mined, in addition to the sum paid for the original lease of the land."

Winter in the Kittitas Valley.

Otto Kohler, a former well-known resident of this county, writes as follows from Ellensburg, Washington: "We have been having the finest winter for stock I ever saw. Four inches of snow have fallen since yesterday, January 8th. Kittitas valley has been on a boom for the past two years. Land, under the ditch, that sold for from $20 to $25 an acre four or five years ago, is now worth from $45 to $65 an acre, and there is little of it for sale. Timothy, alfalfa and clover are our best paying crops. Timothy hay on board the cars is worth at this time $16 a ton, clover and alfalfa

$8.50 to $9.50. Many meadows average four tons of timothy and from five to seven tons of alfalfa to the acre. There are several former Wasco county men over in this valley. The last one that came here last fall is Otto Yaisii, a retired sheepman, who was for many years a resident of Cross Keys. He is stopping temporarily with his brother-in-law, E. Sandmeyer, who closed a deal for a fine farm near Ellensburg a few weeks ago. Eggs sell at 35 cents a dozen, butter from 50 to 65 cents a roll. The wool clip of last year is nearly all unsold yet, but sheep are still high no matter if the outlook for wool is not as bright as could be desired. The winter feeding of mutton sheep is an important business in this and Yakima valleys.

The Dalles' Last Game.

As before mentioned in these columns, The Dalles Football Team will meet the Multnomah aggregation on the afternoon of Friday, January 18th, on our home grounds. It will be the last game of a most successful season, considering that it is the first year of football in The Dalles. This game will be played regardless of weather, and those interested hope for substantial encouragement.

The last game, the one played on New Year's, was not a financial success, owing to a severe snow storm, which was raging at the time. Besides, there have been some accidents which could not have been foreseen, and incidental expenses that were necessarily incurred, beyond the resources of the team. It has been decided, therefore, to give a splendid benefit ball on the evening of January 18th, in order to wipe out indebtedness. It is assumed that this last game will be self-supporting, and that the ball will do the rest.

Considering everything, the Dalles people have been loyal to their home team, and have assisted them in every way. For this the organization is daily appreciative. Some individuals, styling themselves men, but who possess neither decency nor honesty, have imposed upon the boys by refusing to buy tickets when going upon the grounds. This has been met passively and the imposition allowed; but this last game will be protected in a way that will be a surprise to these loafers.
