THE CHRONICLE is pleased to learn that Mrs. James Duncan, of this city, who was dangerously ill at St. Vincent's hospital a few days ago, at last accounts is very much better.

Vincent William Swain, the 28-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Swain, of this city, died yesterday after a very short illness of pneumonia and was buried this afternoon.

At the stockmen's convention held last week at Salt Lake, Utah, the Baldwin Sheep & Land Co., of Hay Creek, Crook county, carried off the silver cup in a prize contest for the best sheep in America.

Henry Rex Pigg has applied to the county court of Gilliam county for permission to change his name to Henry Rex Graves. Henry hasn't improved it much. Better a live pig than anything so suggestive of a dead stiff.

Young America was telling a story at the table the other day about a very sick young lady who craved for beans, but the doctor wouldn't let her eat them.

"But," says Young America, "just a couple of days before she died, they gave her all the beans she wanted, and she got well."

James H. Canfield, of this city, was taken so violently ill with pneumonia last week that, being a single man, it was thought best by his brethren of one of the fraternal orders to have him taken to St. Vincent's Hospital, and he was taken there accordingly yesterday.

The Granite Gem says: "Remonstrances are being circulated in Grant county and signed by all of the leading republicans, requesting our representative, Geo. Barrett, to use his influence and all honorable means for the defeat of H. W. Corbett for United States senator at the coming session of the legislature."

Who says it doesn't pay to advertise? Last Saturday Dr. Logan lost two county warrants worth $428. After searching in every conceivable place for them without success a notice of the loss was inserted in the CHRONICLE and the paper was hardly off the press when the missing warrants were found in the office waste basket of the Blakeley drug store.

M. Gumbert, of Portland, has rented the store in the Ben Wilson building, next door to Gunning's blacksmith shop, and will open about the first of February with a complete line of imported and domestic cigars and tobaccos and smokers' articles, also periodicals of all descriptions. Watch THE CHRONICLE for the announcement of the grand opening.

From a special to THE CHRONICLE received at 4 this afternoon we learn that Speaker Reed has appointed Representative McGreer as chairman of the committee on Counties and Engrossing, and Representative Roberts chairman of the committee on Game. Both houses convened at 2, but no business of importance was transacted. Our correspondence says the senatorial situation is darker than ever.

By an inadvertence THE CHRONICLE omitted to mention Saturday that the benefit ball of Friday night of the D. C. & A. C. football team was a decided success from every standpoint but that of finance. In this respect, and this only, it was a failure, as only about forty tickets were sold. This, however, in no wise interfered with the success of the ball as a social entertainment as well for the Dalles attendants as our Portland guests. The success of the evening is largely due and is accorded to the floor committee, Messrs. Frank A. French, John Cooper, L. A. Porter, John H. Hampshire, Albert Gude, Harry Bigbam and H. D. Parkins.

Let Us Remonstrate.

The agitation of a few interested parties for the cutting off of that portion of Wasco county lying south of Sherman county and east of the Deschutes, and attaching it to Sherman, has reached a crisis when it is altogether proper for the people over this way to have something to say about it. So long as no one in the southeastern part of the county was heard to protest against the movement, so long no one here expressed any open opposition to it. But now it is different. Three different dispatches came over the phone from the Antelope country this forenoon, each protesting against being cut off from Wasco and asking the citizens of The Dalles to get up a remonstrance against the movement. One of the dispatches announced that a remonstrance was being circulated in the Antelope and Bakeoven precincts that had already obtained ninety-six signatures. That is all that need be said. If ninety-six residents and taxpayers of the Antelope and Bakeoven precincts are in favor of maintaining their present relationship with us, there are ten thousand of us over this way that will stand by them to the last ditch. If they don't want to be cut off, nobody shall cut them off if we can help it. This part of the county has no selfish interests to serve in maintaining the present relationship with the southeastern part, but the people there are our friends and we ought to stand by them.

Let someone get up a remonstrance here and there will be no trouble in getting signatures to it.

NEW SCALP BOUNTY LAW.

Old Law to Be Repealed, But All Warrants Issued Under It to Be Paid in Full.

Senator J. N. Williamson informs THE CHRONICLE that at an early date he will introduce a new scalp bounty bill which is copied largely after a law that prevails in Minnesota. The present law will be repealed, as there is grave doubt that it would stand the test of an appeal to the supreme court. Another bill will be introduced to provide for the payment, from the general state fund, of all warrants issued against the scalp bounty fund. This bill will provide that all monies that have been paid into the state treasury under the provisions of the present scalp bounty law, shall be paid back in full to the counties from which they came. Counties, therefore, that have paid their share of the tax, or any part of it, will be at no disadvantage over counties like Multnomah that refused to pay the tax or make any levy for its payment.

It will be remembered that the existing law calls for a tax of one cent per head on each sheep in the state and a quarter of a mill on every dollar's worth of real and personal property. The new law calls for no special levy. The bounty will remain the same as it is now and will be paid out of the general state fund. But in order to equalize the tax and make it fall lightest on those who are least benefited by it, and vice versa, it is provided that one-third of the amount of bounty earned in any one county for the wild animals killed within its boundary shall be paid by such county, and the remaining two-thirds from the general tax levy of the state. Thus if the bounty earned in Wasco county next year should amount to $900, one-third of the sum, namely $300, would be paid directly by the county and the remaining two-thirds from the general state levy. The slayer of any wild animal entitled to a bounty therefore must himself appear before the county clerk and take oath that he has killed the animal, and killed it within the limits of the county. The clerk thereupon issues a warrant for the amount called for. But the clerk has authority to refuse to issue a warrant, and refer the matter to the county court in any case where he has reason to suspect that the law has not been complied with.

This provision is intended to prevent the fraudulent transfer of scalps from other states, a practice that is said to have swelled the bounty into large proportions in one or more of our southeastern counties.

The bill further provides that it shall be the duty of the clerk of each county to transmit monthly to the secretary of state a report of all warrants issued during the month under the provision of the law, whereupon the secretary of state shall return to the clerk a state warrant for two-thirds of the amount.

These are the salient features of the proposed law. All warrants issued under its provisions will be paid directly by the counties that issue them. The intervention of notaries public, middlemen and speculators in scalps is avoided and the man entitled to a bounty, and he only, gets all of it, and gets it without cost or delay, in the form of a county warrant.

Mr. Williamson is very confident that the bill will pass and that full provision will be made for the payment of the warrants issued under the present law.

They Will Thrush.

John Brookhouse, of Dufur, a successful farmer, was in Portland a few days ago, and in connection with M. Geo. C. Pendleton, an experienced thresherman, of Marion county, purchased from Russell & Co. one of the most complete threshing outfits which has been sold by them in this part of the country. It consists of one of the Russell twenty-horse compound traction engines of latest pattern and a large thrasher, with self-feeder and wind stacker.

It is the intention of the purchasers to run one of the latest and most complete up-to-date outfits ever brought to Wasco county. The long number of years of experience of John Brookhouse, combined with the success which has attended Mr. Pendleton in the operation of threshing machinery, bespeak for this new company an excellent year's business on the Tygh Ridge.
