

ONE DISCORDANT NOTE.

While the whole civilized world is doing honor to the memory of England's gracious queen, it remains for the United Irish-American Societies of the United States to sound the one discordant note in all this symphony of merited eulogy.

"Everything which could be done to impoverish and depopulate the country—to root out the people from their native soil and drive them to seek other homes in alien lands; to break their spirit and make of them slaves and outcasts—has been done under Victoria's reign and with her full connivance and consent.

"We denounce the reign of Victoria as one long act of bloodshed, murder, cruelty and cant, and insist that when its history is truly written and the influence of snobbery, funkyness and toadyism is removed, it will be looked back upon as one in which English wealth and power properly passed their zenith and entered upon a rapid and permanent decline—as one in which, despite the material progress made by England in the early and middle part thereof, greater injustice, more cruelty, grosser wrong, were inflicted upon humanity in general, and upon the Irish in particular, than in the reign of any other English monarch."

Words more foul and false never fell from human lips. They are a disgrace to the barbarians who uttered them, and gave them sanction, and a reflection, not alone upon Irishmen, but upon humanity itself. Millions of Irishmen, scattered over the broad earth, will resent and denounce them as the venomous utterance of a set of unreasoning implacables whom no kindness can conciliate; as an outrageous violation of the most sacred of all maxims, "de mortuis nil nisi bonum," say nothing but good of the dead. Irish Americans who rush into print to asperse the character of the venerable woman who lies dead in the British capital will find that they have taken a most effectual means of earning the just contempt of their American fellow-citizens, as well as of the world.

THE CORBETT PUSH.

Let it not be forgotten that the most energetic advocates of H. W. Corbett's election to the United States senate are the same ones who advocated the re-election of Senator Dolph, says the Salem Sentinel. Here they are:

Benjamin Franklin Alley, ex-member of the legislature, now editing a populist paper at Baker City. E Hofer, ex-member of the legislature, now editing a populist paper at Salem.

W. E. Burke, ex-member of the legislature, all around silver athlete. W. P. Keady, ex-member of the legislature, a silver mine owner.

Jonathan Bourne, ex-member of the legislature, silverite and organizer of the hold-up.

Harrison R. Kincaid, ex secretary of the state, now populist judge of Lane county, also one of the factors in the hold-up.

All of these eminent free-silverites are now confident that H. W. Corbett is the only man who can fitly represent Oregon in the senate of the United States. It reminds us of the anarchist who supported a certain nominee for judicial honors on the ground that his election would disgust the people and compel them to resort to violent measures to get rid of him.

Bryan's paper is out. Those who expected a sheet as big as the Sunday Oregonian will be disappointed. In size and make-up the "Commoner" reminds THE CHRONICLE of the Antelope Republican, which one can get for a dollar a year without sending all the way to Nebraska. The Commoner may be a little better edited than the Republican, but we doubt it.

Representative Mattoon, of Douglas county, is a kaleidoscopic politician, says the Roseburg Review. He was nominated by a Hermann convention, campaigned on Mitchell-McBride money, and voted for Corbett.
