

The Shaniko Leader is still "chewing the rag" of disappointment because the people over that way don't want to be annexed to Sherman county.

"Quoting articles," says the Baker City Republican, "from democratic papers in support of a republican candidate for United States senator is very much like the devil recommending an individual for heaven."

After Moro has contributed more than any other town in Eastern Oregon to the spread of smallpox, the Observer modestly recommends an "effectually enforced" quarantine against The Dalles, that has a single convalescent patient.

The Portland Telegram asserts that "it is with excusable disgust that the Multnomah county commissioners contemplate the legal necessity of levying a one mill tax for the purpose of paying scalp bounties in Eastern Oregon."

"Several suspicious appearing checks for $1500 to $2500 are said to have been cashed at Salem with some very lame explanations of the consideration," says the Albany Democrat.
